

It is late evening in Calimero's hometown. In the flat of the Green Team to the right of Wario-Ware-Man and his siblings Valeriano is looking in his telescope out towards the starry sky.

"I hope the telescope's properly adjusted, because I really want to see something very exciting among the stars..." said Valeriano and keeps looking at the stars with the telescope. Just then he sees a pink star soaring through the stars.

"Whoa, a pink star!! That is very unusual to see!" said Valeriano in excitement. However, the star stops and begins to fly down towards the earth.

"Now THAT's definitely unusual... this doesn't seem like a star to me anymore, but more like... a visit from outer space?? I'll tell my friends about this!" said Valeriano and begins to assemble his friends along with Wario-Ware-Man and siblings, and Maya the Bee.

"A visit from outer space?" Wario-Ware-Man wondered.

"Exactly." said Valeriano. "I looked up at the stars with my telescope, and suddenly I saw what I thought was a pink star, but turned out to be something else. I'd bet that it's a spaceship!"

"But was it really a spaceship?" Calimero questioned.

"I'm sure of it. I think we better go and investigate!" Valeriano said.

"Er... I-I'm not so sure if I want to. I'd rather stay here and do my own stuff." Piero said.

"Piero. If Valeriano says we should go out and investigate, then he means ALL of us." Priscilla said.

"Yeah. You better not try and back out of it now!" Roshita said. After hearing everybody's opinion on his response Piero reluctantly decides to tag along with his friends.

"Alright, I'll go with you guys..." Piero said.

While they're all talking about the new adventure awaiting them Warrio has grabbed himself a book about aliens and monsters, just reading to himself. However, he reads it out so loud that he inadvertently causes a scare among his friends.

"Monsters?!! Everybody get behind the couch quick!!" Priscilla shouted and along with the others jumps behind one of the couches.

"Hunh? what are you guys doing?? I'm just reading a book..." Warrio asked them, seemingly unaware of the scare he just caused.

"Phew... It was just Warrio reading some book." Calimero sighed in relief, with the others doing the same. Piero hasn't fully recovered yet from the scare though.

"Warrio, you better not try and scare us like that, especially our friends!" Wario-Ware-Man told him off.

"Sorry Wario-Ware-Man. I didn't really mean to..." Warrio apologized.

"Well, maybe not read it out so loud next time, ok?" Wario-Ware-Man said.

"Alright. Suppose I better heed your advice. I won't do it again." Warrio said.

"So, what do you all say? Shall we go out and track down this spaceship?" Valeriano asked.

"I'm with you." Calimero said.

"Me too!" said Priscilla.

"Same here." Piero said.

"I'm definitely in the mood for a new adventure by now!" Wario-Ware-Man said.

"I can hardly wait." Maya said.

"I guess I'm in need of an adventure too." Warrio said.

"We're all on the same page? Ok, then we'll go investigate tomorrow morning!" Valeriano said.

The next morning Calimero and friends are now in search for the aliens' spaceship. Piero keeps complaining to himself about having to carry all the equipment.

"Why is it that I have to carry all the tools every time we go out on these expeditions!" Piero complained.

"Piero, you know that it isn't just YOU who has to carry all the tools! Better stop complaining and keep walking." Susie told him off.

"Ok, ok. I'll stop then." Piero said and starts to instead mutter his complaints.

"Stop it I said!" Susie told him again.

"Grr... alright, I'll stop. For real this time..." Piero said and keeps his beak shut from here on.

"I wonder who those aliens really could be, and WHAT is their intention for coming here..." VARIO said.

"Not sure. Wonder if they've got some garlic onboard their little spaceship..." Warrio thought to himself. Wario-Ware-Man just shakes his head after hearing Warrio's comment.

Meanwhile, Maya is chatting with Roshita about various things, particularly a concerning topic.

"So Roshita. How's your relation with Valeriano?" Maya asked.

"Oh, it's going fine. Though I wish that it could be a lot better than it is now. I also wish that one day he'd spend more time with me than his filming work." said Roshita and lets out a sigh of disappointment. Maya realizes that Roshita's feeling rather let down and left out by her boyfriend.

"I can tell you're not having a easy time with Valeriano. I just came to think of something though; why not take him out on something that's interesting to the both of you?" Maya suggested to her.

"Hm... maybe I'll take him to some sort of movie. Perhaps that'll boost our relationship!" Roshita said and hugs Maya.

"Thank you for the advice Maya." Roshita said.

"You're welcome." said Maya.

Later on Valeriano suddenly gets a reading on his radar. The very high signal suggests to him that the aliens could be nearby.

"Guys, I have the feeling the aliens might be nearby!" Valeriano said.

"But, how's that even possible? I mean, their spaceship doesn't seem to be around here." Warrio questioned him.

"Sigh... I know that, but in one way or another we're gonna find it, no matter how long it takes." Valeriano said.

At the same moment VARIO has just spotted a trail of garlic cloves that leads into a forest.

"Um guys, why don't we just follow this trail here?" VARIO suggested. He hears no response from them.

"Hello? Is anyone listening?? Alright. If nobody's gonna listen to me, I'll follow the trail myself." said VARIO and starts following the trail of garlic cloves.

The other guys carry on their search for the spaceship. No matter where they go though, they still can't find the spaceship despite the very strong signals from Valeriano's radar.

"This is getting confusing... the radar's going haywire everywhere we go, and YET we can't find this spaceship." Valeriano said with a confused look on his face.

"I knew it. We won't be able to find them. Let's just go..." Piero was about to finish his sentence, but stops immediately.

"Go where?" Calimero asked.

"Oh, nothing. Just me blurting things out again when I shouldn't..." Piero said, knowing full well that his latest comment could have seen a number of frowns from the other members.

After being on the move for quite a while they all sit down to rest a bit. Calimero is sitting besides Priscilla. Priscilla seems to be having something on her mind.

"Hm. He's sitting just besides me... should I, or should I not..." Priscilla thought to herself for a moment. She then decides to carry out her little act.

"Calimero?" Priscilla said.

"Yes?" said Calimero.

"Could you open the bag and get my diamond necklace? I'd really like to have a look at it again." said Priscilla. Calimero does as told and opens the bag to look for the necklace Priscilla made for herself a long while ago. After getting her requested item Calimero turns back to Priscilla only to find her wearing a shell on her head similar to his.

"Um, Priscilla. Where did you get that from?" said Calimero. Priscilla giggles and points to his head.

"Aw Priscilla. Can I have that back?" Calimero asked her kindly.

"Not before I give you... this." said Priscilla and outright gives him a kiss on the beak.

"Gosh... I mean, I like... wasn't expecting THAT!" said Calimero in surprise.

"Te hee, I know." said Priscilla and gives him back his shell helmet.

"Thanks Priscilla, and for that kiss as well." said Calimero after being given back his egg shell, his last sentence making Priscilla blush.

"You're welcome, sweetheart. By the way, I forgot..." said Priscilla and gives him another kiss again, this time lasting even longer.

"Aw, look at those chicks over there..." Maya said in awe.

"Yeah. They sure are a pair of true lovebirds..." said Roshita, still not too happy about being neglected by her boyfriend all the time.

"Aw, come here." Maya said and gives Roshita a hug.

"Thanks Maya. I suppose I needed that." Roshita said.

"Remember that I'm always here for you in case you need someone to talk to, or even get a hug from." Maya said.

"Alright. Um, could you give me another hug maybe? It felt so warm and cozy." Roshita said.

"Ok!" Maya said and gives Roshita another hug.

"Roshita's having it very tough I see." said Wario-Ware-Man.

"Yeah. I think it is due to me not giving her enough attention, let alone any at all." said Valeriano rather gloomily.

"But, if she's feeling so let down by your constant ignoring of her, why not give her what she wants?" Wario-Ware-Man said.

"I know, I know! It's just that... I'm just so occupied with my filming work almost all day, and secondly... I just don't know how to approach her..." said Valeriano.

"Well, I'm no expert on relationships. But I think you should at least speak to her every once in a while. It could be anything really. Just talking to her could perhaps make her feel more recognized." Wario-Ware-Man said.

"Sigh... if it weren't for me occasionally having my eyes on other girls, I would've been speaking to Roshita more often... I just don't know what to do." said Valeriano.

"Well, it's all up to you. I'm only suggesting stuff." said Wario-Ware-Man.

"Alright. Thanks though. I'll think about it." said Valeriano.

While they're all chatting away Warrio's curious to not hear VARIO babbling about. He turns his back to see that VARIO's missing.

"Um, guys. Sorry if I'm interrupting things, but... VARIO's gone missing!!" said Warrio.

"WHAT??" the others exclaimed.

"Yeah, really! I do wonder, and worry, what might have happened to him..." Warrio said.

"Maybe he's gone off somewhere to find himself something to eat, that's all I can think of." Piero said, not being at all concerned. Upon seeing the rather annoyed looks from the others including Wario-Ware-Man, Piero retracts his comment.

"Um, never mind that... suppose we better go and look for him, right?" Piero said.

"Perhaps he's been kidnapped by the aliens! Come on guys, let's get moving and try to find VARIO." Valeriano said.

"I somewhat doubt that he's been kidnapped. But knowing VARIO, he always seem to get himself into trouble from time to time, for reasons unknown to me." Wario-Ware-Man said.

The team resume their search for the aliens' spaceship, and finding VARIO as well. After some searching they come across a trail of garlic cloves.

"Hm, a trail of garlic cloves?" said Calimero.

"Suppose VARIO must've dropped those. Let's follow the trail and see where it leads us!" Wario-Ware-Man said. The others follow his suggestion.

They keep following the trail, which eventually leads them into a deep jungle. At some point the trail of cloves stops in the middle of the jungle.

"Ok, now the trail stops on this very spot, in the middle of this jungle." Wario-Ware-Man said.

"Maybe we should go back. I'm also getting kind of scared in here!" Piero said a he starts to shiver in fear.

"Come on Piero, there's nothing to be afraid of in here! We've been into a jungle at one point, and things ended quite well for us, didn't it?" Warrio said.

"I'm with Warrio on this." said Calimero. "Things did go a bit wrong at one point, but we managed to get out in one piece."

"Aha, like that one time when Warrio here goofed up and got him, me, Susie, and VARIO all locked up in a cage?" said Piero and points to Warrio.

"Um, aren't we supposed to forget about such things after a certain number of stories have passed, or am I missing something here?? Besides, that's unfair of you to say. It wasn't my intent to make stuffs happen the way they did." Warrio defended himself.

"Can we forget about this now and just focus on finding VARIO and the spaceship?" Priscilla said.

"Same here. All of that is done and over by now. Let's not waste any more time arguing about such an old event!" Calimero said.

"Right, sorry. I guess I felt the need to vent a bit..." Piero said.

After a little argument between Piero and Warrio, the group decide to keep on going in their search for VARIO and the spaceship. Just then they hear a voice echoing in the distance which vaguely reminds them of VARIO.

"Wasn't that VARIO we just heard?" Calimero said.

"Yep, that was definitely him!" said Wario-Ware-Man.

"Quick guys, we better hurry. Maybe we can save him before it's too late!" Calimero said.

They rush to see where VARIO's scream came from. When they finally arrive they don't find a spaceship standing before them, but an old temple.

"Aw... it wasn't a spaceship. Just a temple..." Valeriano said with disappointment.

"What would the aliens be doing in a place like this, and WHY would they want to kidnap VARIO?" Warrio said. None in the group can give a definite answer to his question.

"I don't know." Calimero shrugged.

"Me neither." Priscilla said.

"I'm just as clueless as you are." Susie said.

"One thing I can be certain of though, is the aliens are probably using this temple as a hideout of sorts. We gotta find a way into the temple somehow." said Valeriano.

They have a look around the temple to see if a way in can be found. When Warrio puts his foot on one of the pavement stones he inadvertently opens a hatch in the spot Calimero and his friends are standing on, making them fall down the hole.

"Oops..." said Warrio.

"Hm, Warrio seems to have found a secret entrance, even if it's not the most convenient. We better hop in there and see where it leads us." Wario-Ware-Man suggested.

"Oh no, NOT me!" Warrio said.

"We have no choice. Besides, we better get in there before it closes." said Maya.

"Exactly, so hop in there now. We'll be coming right after you." said Wario-Ware-Man.

"No way!" Warrio began to protest.

"Warrio. Do you want to save your brother or not? Get in there now!" Wario-Ware-Man said and makes Warrio drop down the hole, after which Wario-Ware-Man and Maya also jumps in. After they're all gone the hatch closes itself.

It's a rather long way down, and it seems like it's going to take a while until any ground is being landed on.

"Wonder where in the temple we'll end up..." Wario-Ware-Man wondered to himself.

"We might hit the bottom at some point. Have to admit I'm also a bit unsure where we'll fall into..." Maya said.

"Well, as for myself, only thing I wonder is WHERE VARIO might be..." Warrio said to himself.

After a fair bit of falling Wario-Ware-Man, Warrio, and Maya finally land on solid ground in what appears to be a alternative entrance into the temple, and in there they find the rest of the group who fell down the same hole earlier.

"Ah, so this is where you guys ended up! I kinda wondered there for a bit..." Warrio said.

"Are you doing alright despite that rather long fall?" Wario-Ware-Man asked them.

"We're ok. But I wonder how we can find a way out of this temple." said Calimero.

"Who cares about finding a way out? There's LOADS of stuff in here to catch on video, and I can't just pass on this opportunity!" said Valeriano while frantically filming everywhere with his video camera.

"Sigh... so, any idea where Piero and Susie are? They don't seem to be with you." asked Warrio.

"They gone off to have a look around, but they haven't returned." said Calimero.

"Hm. This is getting more concerning. Now we have not only one, but THREE members of the group to find. Better hope nothing's happened to them." said Wario-Ware-Man.

"Exactly. Come on guys, we better find them before something happens to them!" said Calimero. The group heads into the depths of the temple to find Susie, Piero, and VARIO.

While making their way around the rather narrow corridors, thoughts are being had over various things.

"I admit that although I'm sceptical, I still wonder if we ever stumble upon those aliens..." Wario-Ware-Man wondered.

"Trust me Wario-Ware-Man, we WILL. Even if it so takes all day, it'll be worth it." said Valeriano.

"I still wonder where those guys have wandered off to. And I'm also starting to get a bit hungry..." said Warrio to himself.

"I've got a honey cookie in my pocket here, if you'd like to have it." said Maya and pulls up a cookie from her pocket.

"Why, thanks!" said Warrio and takes the cookie. "Is this the only one you've got?"

"Naw, I have many more in my backpack here. I put one of them in my pocket in case I wanted to start eating on it, but forgot. I can give you some more if you want." said Maya after pulling out her bag of cookies from her backpack.

"Oh, er... alright, why not?" said Warrio and takes some more of the cookies from Maya's bag. Maya chuckles a little as she watches Warrio chomping away at the cookies in his hands.

Meanwhile Calimero and Priscilla are walking together, both of them minding their own things.

"Hm. Priscilla seem to be in her deepest thoughts by now... I wonder..." Calimero said while he keeps thinking. When she's at her most unaware Calimero gives Priscilla a kiss on the cheek.

"Huh? What was that??" said Priscilla and turns her head to face Calimero.

"Calimero, did you just kiss me?" asked Priscilla. Calimero just looks up at the ceiling with content, but starts to feel a bit ashamed and embarrassed for his act. Priscilla has already found out that Calimero did kiss her. She's not mad though.

"It's alright, Calimero-hun. I actually find it quite cute when you suddenly kiss me. I tend to do the same thing when you're not aware." Priscilla said and gives Calimero a proper kiss.

"Tee hee. Those two really seem to like each other..." Maya said to herself.

"Indeed. Anyway, I do hope we'll find the other three fellows soon. Wherever they might be..." said Wario-Ware-Man with a bit of a concerned look on his face.

Elsewhere in the temple, Piero and Susie are seen walking along the corridors. Piero wants to find treasure while Susie just wants to reunite with the other guys.

"This temple I think is going to be no match for us. Maybe we'll find some treasure along the way too!" said Piero.

"Treasure and treasure... all I want is to find and reunite with the group again. It's also a bit scary in here!" Susie said as they walk along the corridor, taking note of the various inscriptions on the walls of Wario-noses of rather frightening nature.

"Naw. I don't find this place scary. At least for now... the treasure has got be hiding somewhere in here. But where?" said Piero.

"Well, I don't know. But that's not what worries me..." Susie said while sinking into her thoughts.

While they're walking about Piero and Susie then bumps into someone and fall down on the floor.

"Hey, watch where you're going!" Piero told the stranger off after getting up on his feet again.

"The same can I say about you!" the stranger said back.

"That voice... isn't that?" said Piero after recognizing the voice of the stranger, who after the light shines on him, is revealed to be VARIO.

"Yes, it is me." said VARIO while he dusts himself off.

"How did you get into the temple?" Susie asked him.

"Well, earlier today, while we we're trying to locate the aliens' spaceship I came across a trail of garlic cloves, and I followed it to see where it would lead me. The next thing I remember happening is me falling into a hole." VARIO explained.

"Was it by any chance the hatch I and Piero fell through?" Susie asked.

"I don't think so. I fell down a regular hole that for some reason was covered with leaves." said VARIO.

"I see. Anyway, we're trying to find the rest of the group. We became separated after me and Piero here gone off to have a look around." said Susie.

"I'm just trying to find a way out of this temple, because first of all I'm getting hungry, and secondly things are starting to get a bit scary in here." VARIO said as he starts to bite his nails in horror over what might lurk in the darkness.

"I'm also a bit scared right now. Piero doesn't seem to be scared though because his mind is apparently fixated on finding treasure. Knowing you and your siblings by now, do you feel any desire for treasure at this moment?" said Susie.

"Er, I don't think I do. I just wanna get outta here, and fast!" said VARIO.

"Then follow us. If we stick together none of us will get separated again." said Susie and starts walking off with Piero. Having no other choice, VARIO tags along with them so he won't get himself lost again.

Later, in the corridor where Wario-Ware-Man and the others are in they have now come a fair bit into the temple. Valeriano is filming with his camera while the others are concerned with finding their lost pals.

"Aah, nothing else in life can beat the feeling and excitement of a perfect scoop!" said Valeriano as he walks around filming the surroundings.

"I really do hope we can find Piero and Susie again. As for VARIO, who knows where he might be now..." said Roshita.

"We will find them soon enough. I guess Wario-Ware-Man is feeling more worried about them than any of us here, am I right?" said Priscilla.

"Well... mostly VARIO, but I am concerned about the other two as well. Without them the group is not complete!" said Wario-Ware-Man, with the others nodding in agreement.

Noticing Valeriano's not paying attention to where he's walking and about to fall into a hole, the group tries to warn him ahead of time.

"Valeriano, look out!!" the others shouted. But it's too late; before he realizes it Valeriano falls down into the hole, which looks to be quite deep

"Aaah!!!" Valeriano said as he falls down the hole.

Fearing the worst, the group rush towards the edge of the hole to see if Valeriano's survived.

"Are you okay down there? Can you hear us??" said Calimero.

"Please tell me Valeriano's fine!!" Roshita said while holding her hands in prayer.

"Guys, I'm doing fine!! The hole wasn't that deep!" Valeriano shouted back.

"Phew, thank goodness!" said Calimero as he and the others breathe a sigh of relief.

"However, I made a strange discovery down here; a pair of Dumb-Crows has somehow gotten into this temple as well!!" said Valeriano.

"Huh!?" the group gasped.

They help Valeriano and the Dumb-Crows back up. They ask the Dumb-Crows what they're doing in the temple.

"What exactly made you decide to go into the temple?" Calimero asked them.

"We came to the temple in search for something extremely unique and rare. We've been searching inside the temple for years, but have so far found nothing." said one of the Dumb-Crows.

"Something rare and unique... has it got to do with the aliens??" Valeriano asked out of curiosity.

"Aliens? Hah hah, oh no. It has nothing to do with aliens of any kind." said the first Dumb-Crow.

"Aw... here I was hoping we could find a lead..." said Valeriano while feeling distraught, and is about to give up the search for the aliens. Being the determined chick though, he snaps back to his senses.

"Oh no, no time to give up now! In one way or another we shall find the aliens!" said Valeriano.

"Sigh, "aliens, aliens"... you know, I've pretty much lost interest in it all. Can't we just go home now??" Warrio began to complain, feeling rather tired.

"No, we can't go home now! We have to find a way out first, and also find our missing friends. Until then we're not gonna be anywhere near home." Wario-Ware-Man reminded him.

"So, what exactly is it you're searching for that's so special?" Calimero asked the Dumb-Crows again.

"We're basically out after a certain kind of treasure that we heard were buried in this temple." the second Dumb-Crow said.

"Did... did you mention treasure?!" said Warrio in surprise.

"Ok, so the mere mention of treasure suddenly made you feel motivated again?" asked Wario-Ware-Man.

"That's right. Nobody, including me, are gonna go home until we find this treasure! Let's go everyone!!" said Warrio in a determined manner.

"Well, if Warrio's up for it, then I think we better help these guys find the treasure!" said Calimero. The others nod and agrees to help the Dumb-Crows.

During the journey to the treasure's resting place Wario-Ware-Man is in deep thought.

"My garlic. I really wonder where Piero, Susie, and VARIO could be. What if something's happened to them!" said Wario-Ware-Man.

"I feel the same as you. things just ain't the same without them. But I'm sure we'll find them sooner or later, in one way or another." Maya said.

Calimero and the group are now even deeper down in the temple, almost to the point where the corridors are starting to fade away and replaced with a underground cave. At some point they hear voices coming from somewhere.

"Hey, listen! Did you hear that?" said Calimero.

"Yep. Those voices sounded rather familiar. Let's check it out, no time to lose!!" said Wario-Ware-Man.

They head for the source the voices came from, and eventually they reach the entrance to a secret chamber. Inside is a room full of treasure where VARIO, Piero, and Susie are bathing in it.

"Wahoo! Now this is what I call rich!! We're rich, I tell ya! Rich, rich!!" said VARIO.

"I knew there had to be some sort of treasure in here, and it's all mine! MINE!!" Piero shouted in delight.

"Meh, I'm more interested in all this jewelry here. They suit me just perfect!" Susie said while adoring all the jewels and such she's put on herself.

"Wow, that's it! The treasure we've been seeking to obtain all these years!" said the Dumb-Crows, being more than excited to see the treasure. They both jump into the sea of treasure, taking only the diamonds and rubies, which makes Warrio's jaw almost drop to the ground.

"Waaah??? Hello, ain't they gonna leave anything to me?? Alright, I better get in there before it's all gone!" said Warrio and hops into the treasure to steal everything he can. Piero comes to a stop after seeing the Dumb-Crows.

"Um, excuse me, but where did these guys come from??" asked Piero.

"Well, it's a bit of a story. You see, they've been in search of a specific treasure, and it seems they have found it by now, heh heh..." said Wario-Ware-Man. After having watched the Dumb-Crows' rather careless behavior for a moment, Susie starts to feel a bit bad for wearing it all on her arms and such.

"Ok, all this jewelry suddenly feels not so great on me anymore... I better get rid of it." Susie said and removes all the jewelry from her head, neck and arms, and makes her way out of the treasure.

"Come on guys, let's go..." Susie said as she walks out of the chamber. The other members just stand in confusion over Susie's sudden change.

"Was it something I said?" Piero wondered while scratching his cap.

After the Dumb-Crows have pilfered the chamber of diamonds, and Warrio having grabbed all the treasure he can carry in his backpack, they all continue on, and are now crossing a narrow platform. VARIO doesn't dare to start walking to the other side, fearing he might fall down the shaft should he walk normally.

"Keep walking VARIO! As long as you don't look down you will be fine!" Calimero encouraged him.

"Gulp... Ok, I'll try and make my way over there..." VARIO said and starts to nervously, and slowly tread over the platform carefully. While VARIO is making his way to the other side the Dumb-Crows suddenly get the idea of sneaking up behind VARIO and grab him.

"Almost got him now..." the second Dumb-Crow said.

"Huh, what's that thing on the ground?" said VARIO and bends down to pick up the object he just found. The Dumb-Crow misses him and falls down the shaft.

"Ouch, that sure is going to hurt..." said VARIO to himself as he looks down at the Dumb-Crow who keeps falling. Sure enough, a loud thump is heard. After a bit of pulling the group gets the Dumb-Crow back up again. The first Dumb-Crow is not amused.

"What do you think you were even doing? We could've lost you!" the first Dumb-Crow scolded him.

"I... I don't know. I think I saw something flying over that guy's nose." said the second Dumb-Crow.

"Like a mosquito?" asked Warrio.

"I think that was it." said the second Dumb-Crow.

"Well, better be careful next time, ok. We don't wanna have any of this happening again." the first Dumb-Crow scolded him yet again for his blunt carelessness.

In the next phase Calimero and pals are now walking deeper and deeper into the temple. The temple has been abandoned for so many centuries that stalagmites and stalactites have started forming.

"Despite all these centuries having come and gone, the paintings on the walls are still intact! I wonder how that could be..." said Calimero while looking at the paintings on the walls.

"Sigh. These stalactites are so beautiful. I can almost see my own reflection in them." Priscilla said.

"Meh, I'm so bored. Might as well have a bit of fun..." said Warrio and starts to amuse himself by blowing a raspberry and making silly faces at his own reflection in the stalagmites.

"Heh heh heh. That's Warrio in a garlic clove when he gets bored." Wario-Ware-Man said to himself after taking notice of Warrio amusing himself.

Meanwhile, Susie is just minding her own until a drip of water from one of the stalactites falls down on her neck.

"Aiiee!!" Susie started to shriek upon feeling the cold from the drip, after which a stalactite falls in front of her due to her high voice. "My, things are getting more and more dangerous in this temple the deeper we go!!"

"Don't shriek so loud Susie, or you'll cause even more of those things to fall down, and things could end pretty badly for us!" Valeriano whispered.

"O-ok. I-I'll keep quiet..." said Susie and grabs her own beak, promising to be quiet.

"Sniff... I-I'm feeling a bit c-c-cold..." VARIO said and is about to sneeze. One of the Dumb-Crows that are tagging along proceed to grab him again, but VARIO's sneeze makes a stalactite fall in front of the Dumb-Crow, making him fall on his back.

"VARIO, could you please be more quiet? If you sneeze any more now we'll be all done for." Valeriano told him.

"Look, it's not easy being quiet when you're feeling extremely cold and having a running nose..." said VARIO. Just after saying this though he starts to sneeze again. "ACHOO, ACHOO!!"

VARIO's sneezes causes the Dumb-Crow who attempted to grab him earlier to be surrounded by stalactites all around him.

"Duuh... I think I've had enough for now." the Dumb-Crow said and faints.

"Things aren't going exactly to plan. If we don't capture this fatso soon, then we're in serious trouble..." said the first Dumb-Crow to himself.

"Hm, those Dumb-Crows sure are having something in mind, and why are they attempting to grab VARIO?? Whatever, I'm too hungry to even think about it." said Warrio and eats on a spare cookie he saved in his pocket for later.

Later, in the third act Calimero and friends are now crossing a river that has formed after years and years of stalactites falling and melting. They cross it with ease. Wario-Ware-Man has a bit of difficulty hopping from stone to stone, but eventually gets to the other side. Warrio starts jumping across, but refuses to do it any more after reaching the middle of the river.

"Warrio, get to the other side. The other guys need to get across as well!" said Wario-Ware-Man.

"I'm not doing any more of this hopping around. Forget it!" Warrio protested.

"Hrm... well, what do you say about having this tasty garlic I saved?" Wario-Ware-Man teased him.

"Garlic? Yes please!!" said Warrio.

"Then get over here instead of just standing there. I promise it will be yours after you make it here!" said Wario-Ware-Man.

"Well, suppose I better get hopping then." Warrio said and starts to jump again.

After Warrio's gotten to the other side it is now VARIO and the Dumb-Crows' turn. VARIO stops for a moment to take a few pictures with his camera.

"Ok, let's get the fatso while he's distracted." said the first Dumb-Crow who proceed to try capture him again, but VARIO turns to the other side to take more pics, making the Dumb-Crow fall into the water. VARIO turns around to see what all the noise is about.

"Hm. What are those guys really up to?" said VARIO while scratching his mustache, after which he resumes hopping to the other side of the river.

Later on, after these three acts, the two Dumb-Crows are now see by just their silhouettes being cast on a wall, trying to dry themselves up.

"This was the worst performance of ours so far, and it's ALL your fault!" said the first Dumb-Crow.

"Come on, at least we've got our lot, so we're not going empty-handed!" said the second Dumb-Crow.

"I suppose you're right. Maybe it's time for us to try and find a way out of here, but how..." said the first Dumb-Crow.

Meanwhile, Valeriano is off to do some more filming of the depths of the temple. Just then he hears something that vaguely reminds him of the Dumb-Crows they helped.

"Hm, that sounds like them. And what are these shadows about?" said Valeriano and heads over to the source where the noise and shadows come from. Before even getting there he sees some silhouettes on the wall. He keeps filming them until the silhouettes starts taking on shapes resembling aliens.

"Whaah?! Could that be... Aliens!?? I better go back and tell my friends about this!" Valeriano said and excitedly rushes off to find the group.

Meanwhile, Calimero and the rest of the group are waiting for the Dumb-Crows to return.

"Yaawn. When will we be able to go home??" said Warrio.

"Not yet. Right now we're waiting for Valeriano and those Dumb-Crows to return." said Wario-Ware-Man.

"I see Valeriano returning now guys!" Roshita said and points to Valeriano, who runs towards them in complete excitement.

"Hey guys. You won't believe what I just saw while filming!!!" said Valeriano.

"Alright. So what exactly did you see?" asked Calimero.

"You see, like I said earlier I was just out filming with my video camera until I heard some voices. It reminded me of those guys we've been helping. I headed towards the source, and before my very eyes I saw some silhouettes on the wall!!!" said Valeriano.

"And what did the silhouettes look like?" asked Priscilla.

"I tell you what they looked like; they looked like aliens!!!" Valeriano claimed. Noone in the group appear to be the slightest interested in the whole aliens thing anymore. Wario-Ware-Man is feeling neutral about it though, not dismissing his theory at all. VARIO on the other hand is intrigued by Valeriano's story.

"Hm, interesting." said VARIO.

"Seriously, we're quite tired about your little theory about aliens. I just want to go home now!" Susie told him off.

"Same here. My feet are aching, and I just wanna sit down in a warm, cozy sofa with a glass of juice in my hand." Piero said.

"But at least this adventure of ours have been more than interesting, hasn't it?" said Priscilla.

"I agree." Calimero said.

"What, aren't you even believing me??" gasped Valeriano in confusion.

"That's right. Right now I suggest we'll wait for those guys to come back, and we'll try and find a way out of here." said Roshita.

"I believe him!" said VARIO as he raises his hand.

"Aw no, what does HE know about aliens?" Piero sighed while doing a facepalm.

"I'm not quite sure myself..." Calimero shrugged.

"Are you nuts? We've looked everywhere for them, I'm now fairly confident that aliens don't exist, and yet YOU believe in it??" Susie gasped out of bewilderment.

"I suppose we all have our reasons..." said Wario-Ware-Man.

"I'm gonna investigate this. If nobody believes the green chick, then you surely will believe ME!" said VARIO as he starts to run off.

"No VARIO, don't!! They could be dangerous!" Valeriano warned him.

"Aw come on, I promise to be careful. And I will be bringing back some evidence with me." VARIO said and heads off. Fearing the worst, Valeriano decide to go after him, with the rest of the group following suit. VARIO meanwhile has already made it to the place where Valeriano saw the "aliens".

"Hm, I must say that this part of the temple sure is quite damp and cold. Better take some photos to put in my personal album later..." VARIO said and starts taking photos with his camera. He then sees some strange silhouettes on the wall and takes some photos of them.

While he does this he hears some footsteps from the room the aliens supposedly are in, but when he enters the place he can't see them anywhere.

"Strange. I thought I heard something in here... Ah well, I'll have a look around. Perhaps something interesting might turn up." VARIO said and keeps looking around in every corner. While VARIO has his back turned he hears something from behind. He turns around to see the pair of Dumb-Crows that's been following the group since they first encounterd them standing right before him, face to face.

"Well, look what we have here. If it isn't Mr. Fat Guy who thinks he can outsmart us." said the first Dumb-Crow.

"I'd say he seems like a perfect specimen to conduct our experiments on. Get him!!" the second Dumb-Crow said.

"Hey, easy now! W-what happened to the nice guys I knew earlier??" said VARIO.

VARIO back away as they approach him, feeling a bit confused, but also scared over their sudden change in behavior. Still backing away, VARIO then trips on a loose stone which comes off. They all stop to hear where the rumbling sound is coming from, and sees a jet of water shooting out of the hole, with the entire room starting to be flooded.

"Uh-oh. A good time to run perhaps..." said VARIO and after taking a few quick pictures runs off with all the speed his legs can carry him while the Dumb-Crows are being drowned in the water.

Elsewhere, Calimero and friends are still looking for VARIO, only to see him running towards them.

"Guys, guys. Let's get out of here, quick!!" VARIO shouted as he comes to a stop.

"What have you been up to now VARIO??" Wario-Ware-Man wondered. Before VARIO can answer the flood of water that chased him earlier comes at a blinding speed, sweeping them all with it.

"Aaah!!" screamed Priscilla as she's being almost drowned.

"Priscilla!!" said Calimero.

The group is being swept and twirled by the water all the across the rooms of the temple back to where they came from. In a matter of minutes the water's almost all the way up to the ceiling, almost drowning everyone.

Up on the surface on a grassy plain, the ground opens with a huge jet of water shooting out, sending Calimero and everyone else out of the hole. After a fair bit of water behind their back they then land on the ground again all spread out around the hole, and the jet of water disappears.

"Oow, my head..." said Susie.

"At least we're back in the real world again..." said Calimero and breathes a sigh of relief, with everybody else doing the same.

"And I've finally got evidence of the aliens, and I'm the FIRST to have seen them!!" exclaimed Valeriano.

"When are you going to give up Valeriano?" said Susie.

"Yeah, it's not funny anymore!" said Piero.

"You still don't believe me? I'll prove y'all by showing the tape when we get back home!" said Valeriano and holds up his video camera to show that he has the evidence. He opens the tape holder on the camera, only to find a lot of water gushing out of it.

"Aw no, don't tell that the tape's been drowned!!" Valeriano said. The others members except VARIO, starts laughing at him.

"Hey cut that off, it's not even funny." said VARIO with a look of disapproval on his face.

"Come on now, where's your humor gone off to?" asked Piero.

"Realize it Valeriano. The aliens don't exist, and whatever VARIO's trying to say here doesn't change our view on it." said priscilla.

"Grr... Why ain't ANYONE believing me?!! I mean, I saw it with my own EYES; the silhouettes, the shape of the shadows, I mean..." Valeriano told them all off.

"Well, unless you caught it all on tape, we won't believe any of it." shrugged Calimero.

"But, I... ah well, it's hopeless to even try and convince them now that the evidence's been destroyed..." said Valeriano and starts to sulk.

After this little argument of theirs Calimero and friends then bide farewell to the Dumb-Crows they helped rescuing, who are now loading off their backpacks into the car they've parked at the edge of the grassy field.

"Bye guys. Maybe we'll meet again someday!" Calimero said as he waves at the Dumb-Crows.

"Bye bye." said one of the Dumb.Crows. "We'll wish you luck in finding those aliens!"

"Alright, thank you! Bye! We hope you'll find more of the special treasure you've been seeking from the temple!" said Calimero once again.

"Byee!!" said the rest of the group. After getting in the truck the Dumb-Crows drive off into the distance, and are soon out of sight. Still unable to believe he lost his footage to some water, Valeriano wants to go back to the temple.

"I'm so going back there. Not even a bit of water is going to beat me from getting my footage of the aliens!" said Valeriano.

"Give up Valeriano! Let's just go home, ok. We don't wanna go back there again." said Susie.

"But I've got the evidence here in my hand!" said VARIO and pulls out his little photo camera. Nobody in the group listen to him though, and shrugs it off as just some uninteresting sights.

Meanwhile, inside the car where the two Dumb-Crows are sitting, the other Dumb-Crow are seen loading off the treasure they found into a hatch. They then start to talk a bit more alien-like. The Dumb-Crow driving the truck takes his head off, which is revealed to to have been a costume, and after throwing the costume on the floor the Dumb-Crow is shown to actually be a small Wario-Nose with big Wario-like eyes with antennas on top.

"Ah, finally. We've been sweating like mad in these costumes for years." said the Wario-Nose in the driver seat. The other Dumb-Crow then removes his costume too, revealing him to also be a Wario-Nose like the other one.

"We sure are very pleased to have found the fuel for our spaceship, right?" said the Wario-Nose alien who's driving.

"Yes. With all the fuel we managed to gather in the temple, we can finally get off this planet we've been stuck on since we crash-landed years ago. I can barely wait to get back to our home planet Wario-Nosica!" said the other Wario-Nose alien. The Wario-Nose on the driver seat then pushes a button.

Outside, the truck suddenly transforms into a big garlic with antennas on top, which then starts flying up towards the skies until it's out of sight.

Back over to Calimero and his friends again, they all are now discussing the events that's been happening during the day.

"You know, I'm more than happy with what we've been going through today." Calimero said.

"Yeah, the sights in the temple really were a delight to me." said Priscilla.

"I agree. The temple was far more interesting than chasing after non-existent aliens." said Susie.

"Nonsense! The aliens were FAR more interesting!!" said Valeriano, feeling rather annoyed that they still won't believe him.

"Just stop with that chatter about aliens all the time! I think I'm not the only one around here feeling tired of hearing this over and over again." Piero told him off.

"But... Ah, maybe they're right. Suppose the aliens don't exist after all..." said a now defeated Valeriano. He's about to give it all up until VARIO shows him his photo camera.

"Why not have a look in my camera here?" VARIO said.

"Oh, don't start it. Didn't you hear what the others just said? The aliens DON'T exist. Although I wish they did..." Valeriano said and keeps sulking. VARIO perseveres though, and after a few attempts gets Valeriano to take a look at his camera.

"Ok then, I'll have a look. I'm sure there'll be nothing of interest though..." said Valeriano.

"That's where you're wrong..." VARIO thought to himself while Valeriano checks his camera. Most of what he can find among the pictures though are just sights of the temple itself, and the treasure chamber they stumbled upon earlier.

"Yep, exactly what I thought." Valeriano said and is about to give the camera back to VARIO until he spots some peculiar photos at the end. These photos turn out to be the silhouettes of the aliens Valeriano saw earlier.

"Wait a moment... those are the aliens I saw!! Yaay! I was right!!" Valeriano bursted out in excitement.

"I may add, that I could vaguely make out their shape and form as well, and to me they resembled Wario-Noses somewhat." VARIO added.

"Then I wonder, if the Dumb-Crows we traveled with in the temple, really were the aliens. Do you think the same?" asked Valeriano.

"I can't be absolutely certain if they were or not, but it's possible!" said VARIO. Valeriano once again bursts out in excitement and starts running around, overjoyed about his discovery having been photographed and preserved for the future. The other members just shrug their shoulders over what made Valeriano suddenly feel so happy.

The End...