

It is another day in town, and Calimero and friends are taking a day off in the park. Priscilla and Roshita are at the skateboard ramp watching Calimero and Valeriano doing stunts while Wario-Ware-Man and his brothers are driving around on their Wario-Bikes. Piero meanwhile are taking photos with his camera of the events that are going on in front of him. He then takes note of what the narrator(which is basically me, Wario-Ware-Man) is saying.

"Yeah, I know. Not usual to see me taking photos of things, eh? Well, sometimes you do need a little change of pace, so I thought I bring my camera and take pictures of stuff. Now, if you excuse me, I've got some photo work to do!" Piero said and starts taking photos again.

Well, now to continue where I left off before I got interrupted... over to Wario-Ware-Man and siblings, they are doing stunts on their Wario-Bikes as said earlier. Wario-Ware-Man is doing rapid spins while he's driving, with his brothers watching on as he does so.

"Wow, that sure felt dizzy, but great at the same time!" said Wario-Ware-Man after stopping his bike.

"Alright, my turn now!" said Warrio and tries to do the same thing, only to end up spinning around on his spot. His bike then starts lifting itself upwards like a helicopter while Warrio keeps spinning and spinning.

"HOW in the garlic is he even able to do THAT!?" VARIO asked himself, with Wario-Ware-Man just shrugging as they both keep looking up at Warrio, who now has stopped spinning and starts falling down.

"Waah!!" screamed Warrio as he falls down.

Back on the ground, Wario-Ware-Man and VARIO sees Warrio's bike falling down, with no Warrio on it. It strangely survives the fall despite having been so high in the air.

"Shouldn't his bike be in pieces by now??" wondered VARIO.

"Same thing can I ask you. I'm wondering where Warrio went though..." said Wario-Ware-Man. They look up again and sees that Warrio's landed on top of one of the trees in the park.

"Bwaa-ha-ha-haa!! That act of his sure has just hit the top spot!" said VARIO as he keeps laughing.

"Oh, shut it. It's not funny!" said Warrio and climbs down from the tree.

"At least nobody's got hurt, and that's what matters, right!" said Wario-Ware-Man.

"Yeah, you got a point there..." said Warrio while he plucks out a few branches from his rear. After the little mishap they then resume driving around performing tricks on their bikes.

The shot cuts over to Piero again, who has been taking pictures of Warrio's stunt, even when the latter was on top of the tree.

"Hah, now that was some real good stuff he did there, like that helicopter trick thingie. Never did I think a motor bike could do things like that!" said Piero and turns around to take pictures of something else.

"You know, all this stuff taking pictures nonstop has been wearing me down, so it's good to take pics of something else for a change..." said Piero and keeps photographing with his camera. The new thing he is taking photos of turns out to be Susie who's now doing various poses for him.

Back at the skateboarding ramp, Calimero and Valeriano have just taken a small break from skateboarding to recharge.

"Wow, that was some real fun!" said Valeriano.

"Yeah. By the way, it looks like the girls down there liked my stunts." Calimero said as he looks down below where Priscilla and Roshita both applaud Calimero.

"Wha?? Oh yeah, how about I do it better then?" said Valeriano, now growing slightly jealous.

"Aw come on, I'm sure you're better than me!" Calimero said, not being much interested in showing himself as the better skateboarder on the ramp.

"Well, we'll see about it!" said Valeriano and gets back on his skateboard again to try and do a much more risky stunt.

"I'm gonna perform some spinning in the air like a helicopter blade! I'm certain nobody's done this before." said Valeriano and skates down the ramp with all his speed, and after getting in the air he starts spinning with the skateboard like a rotating blade.

"Hah, try and beat that!!" said Valeriano with pride, but while he's spinning he gets distracted by a young girl passing by with a balloon in her hand.

"My, what a sight... have a feeling I've seen her before, but where? ..." Valeriano said while he has his eyes fixated on the girl. Down below where Piero is taking pics of Susie, the latter sees Valeriano who is about to fall.

"Aah, look out Piero!!" Susie screamed and points up.

"Don't worry, I've got it in the camera!" said Piero and fixes his camera on Valeriano. His attention then turns to VARIO who has been trying to do the Wario-Bike spinning stunt his other brothers did earlier, and is about to crash his bike into the park fountain.

"Now that's even more interesting! I'll be snapping this photo right away!" Piero said and fixes his camera on VARIO instead. Valeriano just flies past Piero and a loud thud is heard off-screen. In the viewpoint of the camera, Piero takes the photo as VARIO is just about to crash into the fountain.

The scene immediately transitions to the same photo of VARIO crashing into the fountain, with the camera panning down showing Valeriano lying on a hospital bed with a bandaged leg. The full room is then shown, with VARIO in his own bed to the left side having fared much worse compared to Valeriano. While not entirely bandaged, VARIO is still in a state that suggests he should rather stay in bed.

"Sigh. I can't believe that my stunt went so wrong!" said Valeriano to himself in disappointment.

"I really regret trying out that spinning stunt earlier. Even so, things could've gone much worse for me..." VARIO said to himself. VARIO then starts to feel bored lying in bed all day.

"Naaw, I'm so bored... Valeriano, do you mind if I borrow your video camera for a moment?" said VARIO.

"Sigh... ok, you may use it. But do be careful with it, it's the only one I have." said Valeriano and gives VARIO permission to use the camera.

VARIO gets out of his bed, and limps his way while saying "OW!" now and then, takes the camera sitting by Valeriano's bedside and starts looking out of the window with it.

"Do make sure not to use it for too long. I haven't charged it yet." Valeriano reminded him.

"Alright." said VARIO and starts to film with the video camera.

VARIO is looking towards the trees with the camera, filming the birds flying around there.

"What are you filming, by the way?" asked Valeriano.

"Oh, I'm just looking at the birds right now." replied VARIO. Valeriano just sighs and goes back to look at the photo of VARIO that was taken earlier.

"How come you got a photo snapped but I didn't, and even then the moment captured wasn't the very best..." said Valeriano.

"Don't ask me. I didn't take it, so I can't really give an answer." VARIO said and goes back to filming with the camera. He then sees something that really catches his attention; in the viewpoint of the camera, the young girl Valeriano saw at the park is stopping by at a nice and friendly-looking lady with glasses and a ponytail behind her head, who appears to be selling balloons.

"Hi there, nice lady. I would like a balloon please!" said the girl.

"Alright. Which color would you like?" the lady asked.

"Let me see... hm..." the little girl takes a moment to think.

She is distracted by VARIO who has the camera pointed at her direction. Her suddenly turning to look at him startles VARIO because he's looking into the eye of the camera.

"GAAH!" VARIO felt shocked by the sight and stops filming to calm down.

"What happened VARIO?" Valeriano asked him.

"I-I just saw a girl outside while I was filming..." said VARIO.

"A girl? Did you see what girl it was?" said Valeriano.

"I'm not quite sure..." said VARIO. The scene then pans down to the girl and the lady again.

"Little lady, what color would you want your balloon to be?" the lady asked her. Having been distracted for a moment, the girl snaps out of it after hearing the lady's question.

"Oh, sorry... Um, I would like a cherry-red balloon please." the girl finally answered.

From the hospital window, VARIO starts looking into the camera again, hoping to get a better look at the girl he just saw.

"Alright, this time I shall remember how she looks like..." VARIO said. Down ground, the lady at the balloon stall gives the little girl her balloon.

"Here's your balloon." the lady said.

"Thank you." said the girl and starts running off.

"Such a sweet little child. A little too sweet..." the lady said to herself.

The girl keeps running, but stops to look up towards VARIO who is still filming her.

"I wonder what that guy is doing..." said the girl to herself in curiosity.

"What does the girl look like VARIO? I have to stay in bed since my leg is too hurt for me to go and check it myself." Valeriano wondered.

"Well..." VARIO was about to answer until he hears a voice belonging to Roshita.

"Valeriano, are you asking for someone else to start filming little girls now!!" Roshita shouted at Valeriano in anger and disbelief.

"WAAH?!!" VARIO got scared upon hearing her voice and drops the camera.

"My garlic, the camera!!" said VARIO and leans out of the window and catches the camera just in time, only to start fall down himself.

"Oh, sorry I didn't mean to!!" said Roshita and rushes over to try and pull up VARIO, with Calimero and the other guys helping out. They try to pull him back up again, but they keep edging closer towards the window's edge, and in just seconds they are all hanging out from the window, with Wario-Ware-Man still standing, trying to pull them all back up.

"Come on Wario-Ware-Man, pull harder!!" said Calimero.

"I'm trying!! If only VARIO would let go of that darn camera it would be easy as garlic!" said Wario-Ware-Man.

"You mean easy as pie, right?" asked Priscilla in confusion.

"Um, it's just a little expression of ours. We always tend to swap out common words with "garlic". Nothing personal, beliefs or anything, it's just the way we say things." said VARIO who is hanging all the way down.

They keep on pulling, but things are staying where it is; they're unable to pull VARIO up. The only ones to not be helping the others are Warrio and Susie.

"Sorry if we ask, but what were you and VARIO doing before we came in?" said Warrio.

"Yeah, like what were you doing?" Susie asked the same question in a different way.

"Oh, VARIO just wanted to have a look around with my video camera. While he was filming he saw a little girl getting herself a little balloon..." Valeriano said.

"I have a feeling I've heard of this before..." said Susie as she tries to think back.

"I haven't. Who is this girl you're speaking of?" Warrio asked Valeriano.

"I'm not sure. VARIO didn't get a chance to tell me when Roshita came in and interrupted things. I also don't remember her name..." said Valeriano and goes back to try and read a book.

Just then the nurse attending Valeriano comes in, and she is less than happy to see what is going on.

"Ok, what is happening in here!!" said the nurse and goes over to the window. With just a swift grab of Wario-Ware-Man's feet she hurls the other guys back up, who all land in a pile on the floor behind her.

"And what do we have here..." the nurse said after seeing VARIO still holding Valeriano's camera. The nurse picks VARIO up and harshly drops him on his bed.

"Aow!!" said VARIO in pain.

"Valeriano, what have I told about having others around you do your filming with that camera! It isn't nice filming people that haven't agreed to it, you know!" the nurse told Valeriano off.

"But I haven't done anything. It was his idea to start filming!" said Valeriano and points to VARIO.

"Yeah yeah, but I was only filming some birds, and that was the only thing on my mind until I happened to see someone down the road, and that someone happened to be a little girl..." VARIO said.

"It was indeed a girl they filmed! A girl! Hrmpf, and I thought my boyfriend would've been all over with thing of his by now..." Roshita explained. Knowing it was VARIO who did it all, the nurse nears his bed.

"Well, well. I thought Valeriano was the worst with this kind of thing, but YOU are on a whole other level, you ugly-looking little freak!!" the nurse scolded him, using arguably harsher wording towards him compared to Valeriano.

"But... I wasn't intending to film that girl for something inappropriate! My mind was fixated on filming other things!" said VARIO. The nurse doesn't believe him though.

"Alright you stinking, grotesque-looking rat! You keep your mouth shut, and don't say a thing again! Who knows what kind of horrors lie within that gaping hole of yours for a mouth!" the nurse told him. Her behavior towards VARIO makes Warrio feel rather infuriated.

"Hey, you don't say such things to my brother!! Be nicer towards him! Isn't it what nurses are for, to care for those who are ill or hurt??" Warrio told her off.

"Don't try to involve yourself in this discussion, and back off you clown-nosed weirdo!" the nurse said and pushes Warrio away with her hand. The others are shocked by what they're just seeing.

"Hey, that's no fair treatment to our new friends!" Calimero told her off.

"Agreed. This is beyond unacceptable, even for someone like me!" said Wario-Ware-Man.

"Aha, and what are YOU going to do about it, you big fatso!" the nurse mocked Wario-Ware-Man.

"That kind of insult won't work on me. I'm far too used being called a fatso by this point in my life!" Wario-Ware-Man said.

"You are??" Priscilla asked him.

"Yeah. I keep hearing it all the time, so to me it is no longer a surprise that others refer to me as a "fatso". I sometimes even treat it as a form of nickname." Wario-Ware-Man said.

"Um... wow?" was all Piero could say, unable to believe that Wario-Ware-Man can stand being called such things.

"So, what other insults should I use then!" the nurse demanded.

"Well, "Fatso" is already ruled out, so... why don't you try any insults that comes to your mind?" said Wario-Ware-Man.

"Alright then... I think you are the most disgraceful person on earth!!" said the nurse.

"Well thanks, but I already know I look the way I do." Wario-Ware-Man responded.

"Ok... how about... those eyes of yours, you look like you haven't been sleeping for years! What are you going on, some kind of obscure drug!?" said the nurse. Wario-Ware-Man is not amused.

"Is that all you've got? Come on, try harder!! I wanna feel myself being insulted real hard!" Wario-Ware-Man demanded.

"Sorry, but I don't know you very well... Alright, what about... ok you foul-smelling, strange looking monster! You look terrible. Your breath is bad and reeking of garlic, and you also look like someone who has been put face down on a photocopier!!" said the nurse. The other guys are understandably shocked at the nurses words, but Wario-Ware-Man doesn't seem to even start crying anytime soon.

"Yaawn. I know I've been called worse things in my life, but that was waay beyond lame!" said Wario-Ware-Man.

"Well, sorry for not being able to come up with any more powerful insults without resorting to swears!" the nurse defended herself.

"So, have you got anything else to tell me, or are we all done?" asked Wario-Ware-Man in a rather mocking manner.

"Ooh... alright, you beat me to it. You sure seem able to withstand the most cruel of insults..." the nurse admitted defeat.

"And Wario-Ware-Man is the winner!!" Susie shouted and starts to clap her hands.

"Anyway, I don't have time for any games. By the way..." the nurse said and grabs Wario-Ware-Man's mustache.

"AOW!!!" said Wario-Ware-Man as he feels himself being dragged up in the air.

"No matter what you try to do, you stinking little piece of windbag, I will always do what I want to with my patients, especially when it comes to your kind!!" the nurse told him, after which she let's go of him.

"Now THAT'S more like it... besides, she isn't ready for any more games, so I won't bother her anymore about it." Wario-Ware-Man said to himself.

"And what do we have here?" the nurse asked while pointing at Maya.

"Well, my name's Maya, and I'm... well, a bee?" said Maya.

"Yes, I can see that. By the way, aren't you supposed to be a normal bee instead of standing on two legs while wearing that awful skirt of yours!" the nurse began to insult her.

"That isn't very nice of you to say! Besides, you have no right to insult anyone that isn't of your kind!" Maya told her off.

"Aha, so? And those wings of yours. You don't really need them when you can walk on your own legs!!" the nurse said and starts to pull on her wings so hard that it hurts.

"AOOW!!!" Maya screamed in pain, almost to the point of starting to cry.

"Now, to attend to my patients..." the nurse said and is about to walk to Valeriano's bed until she's interrupted by Warrio.

"I saw what you did to Maya!! What has she done to you hunh??" Warrio scolded her.

"Back off you smelly little skunk." the nurse said and pushes Warrio away once again. Having had enough, Warrio is about to hop towards her, presumably to give her a taste of her own medicine. Wario-Ware-Man and Susie hold him back though.

"Let go of me! I'm gonna teach that nurse a lesson!!" Warrio told them to let go of him.

"No Warrio. We don't want any accidents to happen!" Wario-Ware-Man said.

"Yes. I know you can't stand seeing your friends being treated like this, but..." Susie said.

"Accident?? What that nurse is doing is pure torture!! At least let me pinch her on the nose!" Warrio said, struggling to free himself, but Wario-Ware-Man and Susie keep holding on to him.

"Alright... but just so you know it, if EVER I see you being rude towards VARIO, Maya or anyone else again, I WILL make sure to do something about it!" Warrio warned the nurse.

"Aha, and what would that be?" the nurse asked him, not being the slightest afraid.

"Well, I don't know. But it won't feel good for you!!" said Warrio. The nurse just chuckles at him.

"Well, I'll be scared it that would ever happen... which I won't be, so ha-ha! Anyway, I'm finished with my mockery for now..." said the nurse and pulls out a medicine bottle.

"It is also the time for Valeriano to take the medicine. Good thing I brought the medicine bottle with me." the nurse said.

"Oh no. I don't like the sound of this... I still wonder, why did you treat VARIO, Maya and the other guys besides me and my friends with so much disrespect??" Valeriano questioned the nurse.

"I don't take too kindly towards humans. To me they are outsiders where we live, and as such shouldn't even be in this town anyway!" said the nurse.

"Excuse me, but I'm actually sort of an elf!" VARIO pointed out.

"So what? Both humans and elves are alike! Regarding that bee, I think she's a ugly little parasite not worth living." the nurse remarked. Maya starts to feel hurt and sits down to start crying upon hearing the nurse's words.

"sobs That's the cruelest thing I've ever sobs been called!!" said Maya and keeps crying. Priscilla hugs Maya to try and comfort her.

"Like, I've never seen her cry like this before." Susie said.

"Yeah. While me and my brothers may have seen Maya shed some tears on occasion, this is the first time we've seen her actually break down like this..." Wario-Ware-Man nodded.

"Man, I never thought I would feel so much for a bee woman on two legs, but this really hit my nerve!" Piero said as he keeps watching Maya cry on Priscilla's lap. As this keeps going on the nurse turns back to Valeriano and prepares a spoon with Valeriano's medicine.

"Alright Valeriano, it is time for your medicine now." the nurse said.

"Oh no, I'm NOT gonna take it!" Valeriano said and shuts his beak tight.

"Alright you with the beige clothes, go and open Valeriano's beak for me!" the nurse demanded Warrio.

"But I..." Warrio was about to start.

"No buts. Show me what you're made of, or do you want some medicine too." the nurse mocked him.

"Er... I'll go and open his beak." Warrio said and reluctantly heads over to Valeriano's bed to pry open the latter's mouth.

"Warrio, you can't do this to me!!" Valeriano scolded him.

"Well, I don't think this is fun either, but I've been ordered to do it, so..." Warrio said and keeps trying to open his mouth.

With Valeriano's beak wide open, the nurse gives him his medicine. He definitely doesn't like the aftertaste.

"Yuck! I better hope this is it..." Valeriano said to himself in disgust, expecting another spoon to be put in his mouth.

"That's it for now." said the nurse and puts back the lid on the bottle.

"Phew... but what about VARIO? Will he be given the same medicine?" wondered Valeriano.

"Hah hah, oh no. I have something different in mind for him." the nurse said and pulls out another bottle, and pours out some purple and red-ish liquid on the spoon. The smell makes everyone in the room almost feel like throwing up.

"Aagh!! That is some of the worst smelling stuff I've ever sniffed in my whole life!!" Piero said while trying to cover his beak.

"Well, good thing that Priscilla and Maya's gone out by now. They would've nearly died if they felt this stench!" Warrio said.

"Maya was feeling so hurt and broken that Priscilla had to go out of the hospital with her. So that's why they're not here now." said Wario-Ware-Man.

"Oh no! No medicine for me here! I'll manage it just fine, thank you!" VARIO refused. Not even listening, the nurse grabs VARIO nose and pulls it up until his opens, and swiftly forces the spoon into his mouth. VARIO doesn't even get the chance to have any break until she readies another spoon with the same, foul smelling liquid and putting it in his mouth again, this time going even further down his throat.

"MMFF!?" was all VARIO could let out.

"There you go, you measly little scaredy-cat! Eat it all up!" the nurse said while laughing in a mocking manner. Calimero and friends can't believe what they are seeing right now. Warrio meanwhile, just feels like stopping the nurse.

"You better stop that!!" Warrio said and is about to get his own back at the nurse, but is held back by Wario-Ware-Man and Susie again. Warrio realizes that it is probably futile to even reason or argue with the nurse.

"Grr... alright, I give up. Still feel bad for VARIO though that he has to go through this horrible treatment by the nurse!" Warrio said.

"Let's just go outside and do something else, shall we?" said Wario-Ware-Man.

"I agree. What I've seen and heard so far, I just wanna forget all about it!" Piero said.

They all head out of the room, leaving VARIO to endure the harsh treatment the nurse is giving him. Valeriano is certainly in shock over seeing VARIO being handled by the nurse in the way she's doing it.

"The nurse is definitely not being fair to VARIO!! I'll have to help him!" Valeriano said and is about to get off the bed, but the pain in his leg makes him reconsider.

"On the other hand, the pain in my leg is too unbearable. I better lay still for the time being..." Valeriano said and just lies down to stare at the ceiling.

Later at the hospital, night has fallen over the town. Valeriano is sleeping in his bed while VARIO is staying awake watching TV, still processing what he had gone through earlier.

"My garlic, that nurse sure seemed intent to try and kill me! I still have this bad aftertaste on my tongue. I can even feel it down my throat! Yuck!! ... I hope I'll get better soon, because I rather wanna get out of this hospital as soon as possible!" VARIO said to himself. Feeling his body getting a bit stiff, VARIO decides to get off the bed and go for a little walk around the room.

"Well, it's a good thing that the Fatso-News channel is also available on the TV stations in this town. Only bad thing is it's just not being advertised very well..." VARIO said and keeps walking around the room for a bit. He then limps his way to the window to have a little look.

"Well. It sure seems normal in the apartments opposite to this building, a little too normal..." VARIO said with an undertone of unexcitement. He then sees the balloon woman closing the balcony doors and pulling the curtains to one of the apartments.

"Ok, so that's where the woman I saw earlier lives! Seems pretty normal so far..." VARIO said and starts to yawn, but his yawning is cut short after he spots some strange silhouetted figures at the window of another apartment in the lower center.

"What are they doin' down there?? They're looking very odd, and suspicious for sure..." VARIO asked himself.

VARIO then turns to the sound of a report airing on TV that talks about a child that have mysteriously disappeared earlier this day; a young yellow girl duck with brown hair, pointed beak, and a pink dress, named Graziella. VARIO senses a mystery going on.

"So that's the name of the girl I saw on the camera! I better wake up Valeriano." VARIO said and goes to Valeriano's bed to wake him up. It's no use though; Valeriano still seems to be sleeping through the night.

"Suppose the pain in his leg made him feel too tired to stay up. Ah well, I'll have to take things into my own hands..." VARIO said and takes Valeriano's video camera, puts it at the window.

"Alright. I'll just leave it turned on and go back to bed. Let's see if I can get at least something on tape tonight..." VARIO said and limps his way back to bed. After a few hours of watching TV VARIO gets up and goes to the camera again.

"So the tape is already full?? Right, I'll just insert a new tape..." VARIO said and inserts a new video tape.

"I'm not sure if I'm doing something right with this, but... considering I sort of helped Valeriano preserve some sort of photographic evidence of aliens in early days even if they were just silhouettes, I think I'm onto something big this time.. just maybe..." VARIO said and goes back to bed again.

The next morning, at 10 'o clock, Calimero and friends have come back to the hospital again, now watching the footage VARIO's filmed during the night on the TV.

"I'm not too pleased about VARIO having used my video camera again without asking me. What if he had broken it?!" Valeriano said, not feeling the least pleased.

"Well, I tried waking you up to ask for your permission, but you didn't wake up so I just decided to use it again... without asking of course." VARIO said.

"Come to think of it, you said you saw a report on TV about a young girl." Valeriano said.

"Yes?" VARIO said.

"Well, I was just wondering... was it the same girl you saw yesterday?" asked Valeriano.

"Yes." VARIO said.

"How did she look like??" Valeriano asked again.

"Well, from what I remember she was a yellow duck with brown hair, pink dress, and a orange, pointed beak. I believe that is the girl I saw yesterday." VARIO said.

"Hm, I remember those details... but I still can't remember her name..." Valeriano said.

"From what they said in the report, the young girl's name is Graziella, if I remember it right." VARIO said.

"So THAT was her name! I know I've met her before. It's been years since I last saw her though." Valeriano said.

While VARIO and Valeriano have been chatting away, the group have now watched through the first tape. Calimero is about to give his response.

"Um... We watched the tape, and we couldn't see anything odd going on at the other side!" Calimero said.

"Darn it..." said VARIO.

"Don't worry guys, there's still two more video tapes to go through. VARIO made sure to leave the camera on all night, so there should be something popping up on screen eventually." Valeriano said.

"Yeah, but when??" said Warrio.

"Um, guys. I think I see something down there..." Susie said and points to a pair of Dumb-Crows wearing brown robes, shades and hats inside a flat at the center talking to each other.

"Hm, they're looking quite suspicious..." said Valeriano.

"But, aren't they just police cops?" wondered Roshita.

"They don't look like it. I think we should investigate this!" Valeriano said, with VARIO nodding in agreement.

"Come to think of it... where is Priscilla and Maya?" asked VARIO.

"Maya is still feeling a bit shaken and traumatized after the nurse insulted her yesterday, so Priscilla is taking her on a little trip around the town to cheer her up." Calimero said.

"Getting back to the case, I think we should go to these guys' apartment and look for clues!" Wario-Ware-Man said.

"Yeah. They seem to have gone away now, so we should strike while we have the chance." Warrio said.

"I don't think I'll go with you guys. I can't even get out of bed. My leg still hurts, and any movement I make makes it worse." Valeriano declined.

"Yeah, maybe it's best you stay in bed." Roshita said.

"I'll go with you guys. In fact, my body barely hurts anymore!" VARIO said and is about to head out, but he feels a pain in his foot and falls down on the floor.

"Er, I don't think you're fit enough to do any sort of investigations. You better stay here with Valeriano while the rest of us go and check out the flat." Wario-Ware-Man said.

"Grr... ok then..." VARIO said.

The group head out of their room. While they're going they pass by the nurse from yesterday, only now looking rather puzzled. Susie stops and wonders why she's just standing there.

"Excuse me, but why are you just standing there?" Susie wondered.

"Oh, it's nothing. Just checking my patients list..." said the nurse and pulls up her patients list and starts going through it.

"Oh, ok then. Have a good day." Susie said and walks off to catch up with her friends. After pretending to look at her list for a moment, the nurse then heads into VARIO and Valeriano's room to check in on them.

"Alright Valeriano, how are you doing today?" the nurse asked.

"Just fine, thank you..." Valeriano said and goes back to stare at the ceiling with the picture of VARIO.

"Um... why do you keep staring at that picture above you?" the nurse asked.

"Because I don't have anything else to do. Since I can't even get out of bed the only thing I can do is just lie here..." said Valeriano.

"Oh well... anyway, do you know when I last gave you the medicine?" the nurse asked.

"Aw come on, it was at 9 'clock this morning. You haven't forgot it already?" Valeriano said.

"No. I just wanted to make sure." said the nurse and is about to head out. She then notices VARIO on his bed holding on to his bedsheet, clapping his teeth in fear over what more nasty things is in store for him.

"Don't worry, I'm done dealing with you... now, if you excuse me, I have an... um... rather important thing to attend..." said the nurse and walks out of the room with a concerned look on her face.

"What's with the nurse today??" wondered VARIO.

"I don't know. But she did seem a bit worried over something. I don't think we will know what though..." Valeriano said.

Meanwhile, Wario-Ware-Man and the group have just made their way to the apartment building just opposite of the hospital. They head in and go up the stairs to where the door to the Dumb-Crows' flat is.

"Hm, they may have locked the door. Would anyone here stand by the door while we form a tower so the topmost one can get inside and unlock the door?" Calimero ask.

"Oh no, I won't do it. I don't want my cap ruined by people stepping on it!" Warrio protested. Believing Piero said it, the group tell Piero off.

"What?? I haven't even said anything!" Piero said as his eyes widens.

"Hang on, I recognize that voice... Warrio, would you be the one to stand at the bottom?" Wario-Ware-Man asked him.

"I said I won't do it!" Warrio protested again.

"Warrio!!" the group told him off.

"Well, try and force me!" Warrio told them back.

Warrio doesn't get the way he wants though, and no sooner has everyone piled on top of Warrio while he holds the feet of Wario-Ware-Man. As they are doing this the woman who was selling balloons the last day are watching from the floor above.

"I can't reach the opening!" Roshita said. Warrio raises himself in response.

"Almost there!" Roshita said.

"Graah! The weight of you all is proving too much for me..." Warrio said.

"I know, but HOW do you think I feel?! It is just as heavy for me, but I'm not one to complain. We HAVE to work together!" Wario-Ware-Man told him.

Not able to support the weight anymore, Warrio leans onto the door handle to try and get some support. The door opens and they all tumble into the apartment, leaving Roshita holding on to the hatch on the top of the door.

"Guys, where did you go?? I don't want to be left dangling up here!!" Roshita yelled.

The woman who was watching the group just shakes her head and walks out of the building, figuring that something might be going on. She heads towards the hospital. She stops and looks up to one of the hospital rooms where a video camera stands. The woman starts feeling suspicious and without any words head into the hospital building.

Back in the flat of the Dumb-Crows, Calimero and everyone in the group are now looking around, turning and looking under every single thing to make sure they don't miss anything. Warrio meanwhile are having second thoughts.

"Hm, I have a feeling we won't be able to find anything in here." Warrio said in doubt.

"Come on Warrio, we won't give up yet. Sooner or later something might turn up." Wario-Ware-Man said.

In VARIO and Valeriano's room inside the hospital, VARIO is keeping an watch on the window at the center. Valeriano meanwhile has fallen asleep out of boredom, and as such won't know what might happen from here on.

"Valeriano's fallen asleep again... anyway, I'm pretty sure those "police cops" are the ones responsible for the kidnapping of Graziella. It is only a matter of Wario-Ware-Man and the others finding something pretty big." VARIO said and keeps watching the window. However, he doesn't hear the door to the room opening, and in comes the woman that was selling balloons the last day, still remaining silent.

At the same moment, the cops are now returning back in their car, and are about to go back into their flat.

"Uh-oh, those guys are coming back I see! I better signal them to get out of the flat." VARIO said and starts gesturing to the group in the flat to get out. Susie sees VARIO gesturing but misunderstands it completely.

"Don't worry VARIO, We're having EVERYTHING under control!! We'll be finding something big pretty soon!!" Susie shouted at him. VARIO just facepalms.

"My garlie, I can't believe she just misunderstood my gesture. Who knows what might happen now..." VARIO said, still unaware of the woman's presence.

While VARIO worries over how things will turn out should the group be spotted in the flat, the woman behind him is now slowly taking a few steps further, stopping to look at the video camera, and then the TV.

"Hm?" said the woman, now growing more and more suspicious.

In the building opposite, it starts to look like there might not be anything to find in the Dumb-Crows' flat.

"Guys, I now feel we might be looking in the wrong flat. Maybe it is..." Warrio said. Warrio is cut short when he and the other hear footsteps coming.

"Uh-oh. They're coming back!" Calimero said.

"Yep, we gotta hide somewhere quick!" Wario-Ware-Man said.

"Yeah, but I still feel we are..." Warrio said, but is cut short yet again after Wario-Ware-Man grabs his arm as they look around for a spot of hiding. In VARIO and Valeriano's hospital room, the former is still watching from the window, worried that the group might not be able to hide in time. Just then he feels something tapping his shoulder.

"Wha???" VARIO felt a bit startled and turns around, only to see the balloon woman standing before him.

"And what do you think you're doing?" asked the woman.

"What do you mean?" VARIO felt a bit puzzled.

"I saw this camera here when I was heading out. Could you tell what you are doing with it?" the woman asked again.

"Oh, er... I'm only trying to film some footage of the center window at the opposite building. You see, there's been a crime going on, and we're trying to find out what or who is behind the crime." VARIO explained.

"My, how terrible! Could you please tell me more about?" the woman appeared to be taken by surprise.

"Um... sure, I'll tell you all about it." VARIO said and starts explaining the story.

Over to the flat, the Dumb-Crows have now returned, and are confused as to why the door is left unlocked.

"Didn't we lock the door before we headed out?" asked one of the Dumb-Crows.

"I'm sure we did." the other Dumb-Crow responded.

"Either we forgot to lock it, or someone might have tried to break into our flat. Odd thing is that nothing seems to have been stolen." the first Dumb-Crow said.

"Yeah, very strange." said the other Dumb-Crow.

"By the way, I see a video camera pointed to our flat! Why would someone be trying to film our flat? Wonder if someone's trying to spy on us..." said the first Dumb-Crow and points to the camera standing by the hospital window.

"Might as well just be a coincidence. Maybe someone was using it earlier but forgot to shut it off?" said the other Dumb-Crow. Noticing the door of the wardrobe opening, the Dumb-Crow standing behind it shuts the door by using his foot.

"Duuh-hah!" he said after closing the wardrobe door. Inside the wardrobe Calimero and the group are seen hiding in there. Things are feeling rather cramped though.

"Why couldn't we find a better spot to hide in??" Warrio said.

"Hello, there weren't any better ones available to hide in. Besides, I don't think that hiding in the bathroom or under any beds would have even worked!" Roshita told him.

"My garlic, we sure have landed ourselves in a real garlic pickle, haven't we?" Wario-Ware-Man said.

"Excuse me Wario-Ware-Man, but why do you and your brothers always tend to substitute certain words or phrases with the word "garlic"?!" Calimero asked him.

"Sigh. It is just normal tendency for us to do that, ok? Now, we better be quiet, or they might find us." Wario-Ware-Man said.

Back in the hospital room, VARIO has finished telling the woman the story of the disappearance of a young girl, and the woman seems rather appalled by what she's heard.

"I can't believe that somebody would do something like that! What is this world coming to??" said the woman.

"I know. Things tend to happen around this place all the time. From somebody trying to take over the entire world to someone else trying to ruin a fancy dinner at a restaurant, I've seen and been through quite a lot of stuff." VARIO said.

"Taking over the world huh? Well, lots of criminals tend to do that, especially a certain snobby greedy woman, whose identity I don't know..." said the woman.

"That would be none other than Sharon. She's been showing up every now and then, and always seems to escape from prison." VARIO said.

"Sharon??" the woman said.

"Yeah, that's the name we're calling her by." VARIO said.

"I see." the woman said.

"Hm... I'm going to get myself something to eat. Do keep an eye on the TV in case something interesting turns up, ok?" VARIO said.

"I will." said the woman and turns around to face the window of the center flat.

"Alright, thanks. I'll be back soon!" said VARIO and is about to head out, only to see something odd showing up on TV.

"Hunh? What happened?" VARIO said and is curious to see one of the windows now being lit in the video.

VARIO looks at the footage he filmed earlier. After a short while he spots something of big surprise; the young girl he saw on camera the other day is heading out to the balcony with a series of a bed sheets tied into a rope, and throws the other end down.

"Whaaa!?? I can't believe it!" VARIO felt completely taken back. In the video, the girl is about to climb down, but the woman he just met comes out and takes the girl back inside, closing the door to the balcony.

Before the woman closed the door, VARIO observes the woman holding a cell phone to her ear. Apparently she was talking with someone. The kidnapping of the girl had apparently been planned and organized since the start.

"Uh-oh... we've been looking in the wrong place all the time..." VARIO said and tries to wake up Valeriano, but the latter just keeps on snoring.

"Ah, it's no use. He's being a heavy sleeper right now..." VARIO said and starts to shake a little in fear. Hearing the muttering behind her, the woman turns around to see what it's all about.

"Are you alright?" the woman asked.

"Yeah yeah... just fine. I'm just having a bit of a fever right now..." VARIO said, still shaking.

"But it's not even cold today." the woman said.

"Well, maybe it's one of those dreaded Wario-Nose fevers again, caused by Wario-Noses spreading their germs as they move about?? Anyway, I'm going out for a moment. I-I don't want to infect a-anyone with this... f-fever of mine..." VARIO said and is about to sneak out.

"Let me have a look." the woman said and goes to the TV to take a look. Meanwhile, VARIO's fear has overtaken him, and he's not even able to move.

"I-I don't know why I have to feel so afraid. I mean, it is children that would normally be kidnapped... but in some way... I have a feeling... that the opposite may apply..." VARIO said and keeps clapping his teeth.

The woman rewinds the tape and watches the footage VARIO was watching earlier. The woman is apparently not amused over what she's seeing.

"Hey, that's the balcony to my secret temporary hideout!" the woman bursted, now feeling enraged to have been exposed. With her mood now having shifted, VARIO can only fear for the worse.

"Is it you who have been filming me last night??" demanded the woman.

"Y-yes..." VARIO answered with nervousity. He then swallows his fear and musters up his courage, or the little of it he has.

"But thinking of it now... why would a otherwise nice, ordinary-looking woman like you, suddenly start kidnapping children?? I just don't get it in my head!" VARIO asked her. The woman then let's out a rather mean-sounding and snobbish laugh.

"Hah hah hah... well, I'll just say that I found normal life quite boring, so I started selling balloons in order to kidnap children." the woman told him.

"Wait a minute, that voice... is it who I think you are...?" VARIO wondered.

The woman removes the spectacles from her face and takes off her yellow hair, which turns out to be a wig. VARIO can't believe what he is seeing right now.

"What the?? It is YOU! The woman I've just met, is none other than Sharon?!!" VARIO eyes widened in surprise.

"Hah hah, yes it IS me!" the woman said, now revealed to have been Sharon in disguise.

"So, you've been putting on this entire facade just to try and fool us! How did you escape from prison in the first place??" VARIO said.

"Yes, it is I who tried to derail you, and everyone else as well. As for me escaping, well let's just say that I always seems to have the luck right when I need it; My Dumb-Crow lackeys found a way to help me get out. Even these so called electric prison cell bars are no match for their equipment!" Sharon said.

"So YOU are the kidnapper of the young girl!! Was it she specifically that you wanted to kidnap, or are you planning to kidnap other children as well!" VARIO said.

"I was lying when I said that I wanted to kidnap any and all children. It was the girl specifically that I wanted to kidnap." Sharon said.

"But... but why?? and who were you talking with on the phone?" VARIO said.

"Oh, that would have been one of my lackeys. You see, the girl that I had in my hideout last night..." Sharon said.

"Yes?" VARIO asked.

"She's no longer in there." Sharon said.

"What?? So where is she now!?" VARIO said.

"She is on a private plane right now as we speak. She can barely wait for the trip to finally begin!" Sharon said.

"Aha, and WHERE to?" VARIO demanded, now just wanting her to get to the point.

"To my REAL headquarters in Spain! This is where the little girl will be brought to serve me with my deeds, and making sure that I get all the riches in the world!" Sharon said.

"Yet another one of your schemes of making yourself rich, hunh? Well, tell ya what! My friends are gonna stop you in whatever way it takes!!" VARIO said.

"Don't think it will happen, scaredy-cat. By the time I get there, they will be too late to stop me." Sharon said.

"So... what're you gonna do now? Kidnap Valeriano here, or...?" VARIO wondered.

"Naw, I'm gonna kidnap YOU next!!" Sharon said and points at him.

"ME?!!" said VARIO in shock.

"Yes. You just exposed my crime with that video tape of yours. I also want to kidnap you as revenge for what Calimero and his pals did to me after the go-kart race last time..." Sharon said.

"And what's the last point?" VARIO wondered out of curiosity.

"Lastly, I also see YOU as the most vulnerable!" Sharon said.

"The most vulnerable? What does she mean by that...??" VARIO asked himself.

He isn't able to say or do anything else, since Sharon proceeds to knock him out with her fist, after which she starts dragging him out. The noise wakes Valeriano up. The first thing he sees before his very eyes is none other than...

"SHARON?! B-but how??" Valeriano gasped in astonishment.

"So the noise finally woke you up huh? Well, don't have any time for chat, because VARIO here is following me on a little trip, ha ha ha hah!" Sharon laughed and keeps dragging VARIO out of the room.

"Calimero, Roshita, Wario-Ware-Man! Anyone!! A criminal is on the loose!!!" Valeriano started to shout.

"Drat, that guy is making a racket!" Sharon said and looks around, and spots a patient trolley nearby.

"I'll hide this fatso in here. Hopefully no one will notice anything." Sharon said and puts VARIO on the trolley, putting the blanket over him. She then starts taking the trolley with her.

In the flat opposite the hospital, Calimero and the group finally falls out of the wardrobe they've been hiding in. The Dumb-Crows are seen eating sandwiches for lunch at a table nearby.

"Looks like we're having visitors today." one of the Dumb-Crows said.

"Yeah. By the way, I knew all along that you guys were in there ever since we came back. But what are you doing in our flat?" asked the second Dumb-Crow.

"Oh, me and my friends here thought you were kidnappers..." Calimero explained.

"What? Oh no, we're actually police cops. We've only just returned after a little patrol around the streets." said the second Dumb-Crow.

"I knew they were cops all the time..." said Roshita.

"Oh, our mistake then. Sorry if we disturbed you. Have a good day." said Calimero and heads out with the group, leaving the cops to enjoy a moment off duty.

After they get outside, the group sees a ambulance parked just outside the hospital. A nurse (who is Sharon in disguise) are seen having just put something in the back of the ambulance.

"That definitely looks odd!" said Warrio.

"Yeah. Let's go there and see what it's all about." said Calimero and rushes with the group to the ambulance. The nurse at the ambulance has just closed the back doors until she is interrupted.

"Sorry, but why is the ambulance being out now?" Calimero asked the nurse.

"Oh, er... It's just a patient that has been brought to the wrong hospital. Have a good day kids." Sharon said and proceeds to get herself onto the front seat of the ambulance.

"I smell something fishy going on here..." said Warrio, feeling rather suspicious of the nurse.

"Guys!!!" Valeriano called out from the window to his room.

"I think he's more than right, because from how Valeriano's shouting this seems pretty serious!" Piero said after hearing Valeriano's voice.

"Guys, Sharon has busted herself out from prison again!! She has kidnapped VARIO and are now about to drive off!! You've got to stop her before it's too late!!!" Valeriano called out to the group.

"Rats, that kid sure has got some big lungs!! I better drive as quickly as possible." Sharon said, and starts to drive off with the ambulance at a very quick speed.

"Hey, stop!!" Calimero shouted at Sharon who has already gone off.

"She's gone!" Piero said.

"Don't worry Valeriano, we'll get after Sharon!! Maybe we'll even find out where Graziella could be!" Calimero assured Valeriano.

"Might as well be time to get this thing going!" Wario-Ware-Man said and pulls out his Wario-Bike.

"Good thinking Wario-Ware-Man." Warrio said. Already having gotten up on his bike, Wario-Ware-Man is now waiting for the others to hop on.

"Come on guys, hop on the bike! It'll be alot quicker!" Wario-Ware-Man said. The rest of the group hops up on his bike, after which they start driving after Sharon.

Meanwhile, Sharon thinks she's getting away easily, believing Calimero and his friends might be running on foot.

"Hah hah, there is NO chance they'll catch up with me. Maybe they're trying to catch a cab by now. Little do they realize it will be futile to try and catch up to me." Sharon said and laughed to herself.

Meanwhile, VARIO have just woken up, and at first he has no idea where is.

"Hello, where am I?? Ain't I supposed to be in bed now?? Is this a ambulance I'm in?!? What's going on here?!? Hey you, where are you taking me!?" VARIO said and started complaining to the driver. The driver then turns around.

"Sharon?? I-is that YOU?! Where in the garlic are you taking me to?!?" VARIO shouted in panic.

"Oh, you're awake now? That was rather quick! You didn't leave more time for me to have some quiet... but don't worry, we will soon get to our destination." Sharon said and let's out a mean laugh.

"Let me off at once!! If I were in top shape by now, I would have ran out myself and tell my friends about this!! Now just let me off, you mean snobby!! ..." VARIO began to shout and complain in fear.

"Ugh, can't anyone tell that guy to shut up..." Sharon said to herself and knocks VARIO out again with a swift punch of her fist.

"I on the other hand don't think it will happen anytime soon, my little scaredy-fatso." Sharon said and turns back to concentrate on driving the ambulance. Hearing a noise coming from behind, Sharon looks at the rear mirror and sees some sort of motor bike coming towards her.

"Oh no, Calimero and his buddies are after me!" Sharon said in disbelief.

Sure enough, on the bike sits Wario-Ware-Man at the front driving the bike, with Calimero and the others sitting on the seat behind.

"That Sharon thinks she can just get away that easily. She's wrong! Me and the others here will be getting you no matter what, as well rescuing VARIO and Graziella!!" Wario-Ware-Man said.

"I'm feeling a bit confused..." Warrio said.

"Over what?" asked Calimero.

"Over the fact that she's managed to escape from prison yet AGAIN! I mean, the prison security must be top notch these days. There's NO way she would be able to make it out on her own!" Warrio said.

"Well, I suppose that lady's always got some tricks up her sleeve to get what she wants..." Roshita said.

"I'm even more confused though. I mean, first Sharon tries to secretedly steal some riches for her own selfish gain, then she plans to take over the world, thirdly she tries to cheat on a go-kart race, and now she's kidnapping a little girl, including VARIO! Can't she make up her mind over what sort of crime to commit or what?!?" Piero asked in confusion.

"Good question Piero. That Sharon lady is very unpredictable with the crimes she tries to commit. I have a feeling we might stumble upon her every now and then." Calimero said.

Wario-Ware-Man and the group keeps chasing Sharon, and eventually it seems like Wario-Ware-Man is about to grab on to the handle of the back doors of the ambulance.

"Just a little pull down, and the doors will open..." Wario-Ware-Man as he is about to pull the handle down. Unfortunately Sharon notices this from the drivers seat.

"Oh NO, you don't!" Sharon said and starts driving faster which makes Wario-Ware-Man come off the bike and be left hanging on the doors. The other members try to grab him, but also ends up coming off the bike, and now they are all left dangling behind the ambulance.

"Uh-oh, no driver. Guess I'll have to take over the driving now!" Calimero said and starts to speed on to try and catch up with the ambulance.

Wario-Ware-Man and the other guys keep hanging and flapping about behind the ambulance as it keeps turning from corner to corner. Sharon knows they're still holding on to the doors though.

"Those guys sure are quite persistent. Right, let's see for how longer they can hold on!" Sharon said and turns sharply at any corner she comes across to try and shake them off, to no avail. The very sharp turns causes some sickness amongst some of the group though.

"My garlic, I'm starting to get pretty sick!!" Warrio said.

"Me too..." Piero said.

"Oh no, my hairclip!!" screamed Susie as she feels her hairclip coming off, causing her pigtails to unfold and become messy.

"My, I've never seen Susie's hair like this before." Piero said as he looks at Susie. The others feel the same as Piero.

"Oh, I can't believe I've lost my most favorite hairclip! Without it my hair is gonna be a complete mess!!" Susie said.

"Don't start worrying about that now Susie! We're in a dire and risky situation now, there's no time to worry over a little hairclip!" Roshita told her.

"Where's Calimero??" Warrio wondered.

"He seems to be right behind us, on Wario-Ware-Man's motor bike!" Piero said and pointed behind him.

"My garlic, I better hope he won't ruin it!! Repairing such a thing takes DAYS!" Wario-Ware-Man said in concern.

"No need to worry. He seems to be driving it rather well from what I can see." Warrio said.

"You're right Warrio. Despite not having driven on a Wario-Bike before, Calimero seems to be doing it good. Guess I won't need to worry then..." Wario-Ware-Man said and breathed a sigh of relief.

"Yeah. Though I do wonder, if Calimero even knows how to STOP the thing..." Warrio said to himself.

Later on, Sharon has been driving the ambulance for over a hour, and is now stopping at what looks like a airplane field. The ambulance stopping makes Wario-Ware-Man and friends fly over and land in front of the ambulance, but Warrio lands on the front window.

"Aaiee!! What a ugly freak!" said Sharon and turns on the window cleaners to try and get him off, but it only results in Warrio's mustache getting stuck in the window cleaners.

"Waah!! Get me off this thing!!" said Warrio as he's being swept back and forth on the window.

"Hrm, I don't have time to deal with this! I better get VARIO in the plane and get away quickly!" Sharon said and gets out of the ambulance only to see Wario-Ware-Man and the group lying on the ground in front of her.

"Where's that little black chick with a egg shell on his head?" Sharon wondered for a brief moment.

"Well, no matter. Guess he fell behind or something!" Sharon quickly brushes the thought aside and opens the back doors, and takes the trolley with VARIO on it to a nearby airplane.

"Good thing you can trick people into lending you a airplane by simply bribing them with money! Otherwise I would've had to steal one..." said Sharon while she runs off with VARIO.

"Hey, come back here!!" Roshita yelled at Sharon.

"That plane over there must belong to Sharon!" said Wario-Ware-Man while pointing to the plane.

"Wario-Ware-Man's right! We better stop her before she gets away!" Piero said.

With no time to waste, the group gets up and runs after Sharon. Wario-Ware-Man stops by the ambulance only to see Warrio being swept back and forth on the window of the ambulance.

"Warrio, stop fooling around on the ambulance's front window and get off it immediately!" Wario-Ware-Man told him.

"I can't Wario-Ware-Man! My mustache is stuck to the window cleaners!" Warrio said.

"Sigh... alright, I'll get you off then." Wario-Ware-Man sighed and goes to the front seat and presses the button to turn off the window cleaners. After a couple seconds of fiddling with the window cleaners Wario-Ware-Man gets Warrio's mustache unstuck.

"Phew, that mustache sure had gotten itself stuck into the window cleaners very tight. How did you get it stuck to them in the first place??!" Wario-Ware-Man.

"Sharon was the one who did it!" Warrio said.

"Well, no matter. Let's just get to the airplane before it's too late!" said Wario-Ware-Man and starts running with Warrio towards the airplane. While they're running they see Calimero coming behind them on Wario-Ware-Man's bike.

"Hey guys! Where are the others?" Calimero asked.

"The other guys have rushed off to try and stop Sharon. Me and Warrio are a little behind right now." Wario-Ware-Man said.

"Do you need a lift?" asked Calimero.

"Sure thing!" said Wario-Ware-Man and hops on the bike along with Warrio, and they start driving towards the plane Sharon is heading for.

Meanwhile, Roshita, Piero and Susie have stopped for a moment to see where Wario-Ware-Man and Warrio gone off to.

"I wonder where they've gone..." Susie wondered.

"Same here. Surely they can't be slacking already..." Roshita said.

"Um, girls. I think I see them coming towards us at full speed!!" Piero said while pointing to a familiar motor bike coming at them. They react too late though and ends up being hit by the bike, and lands on the back seat of it.

"Calimero! Are you still driving the bike??" Susie asked him in surprise.

"Yes!" Calimero replied.

"That chick is apparently a much better driver than I thought." Wario-Ware-Man said.

"I'm still learning how things work, and I still haven't figured out how to make it stop." Calimero admitted.

"The key to stopping the bike is to turn the grips on the steering handle inwards. Don't try it now though, or Sharon might get away!" Warrio said.

Meanwhile, Sharon has just put VARIO in the back seat of the airplane.

"Now, you stay in there! I've got a phone call to make before we take off." Sharon said and closes the door to the airplane and pulls up her cell phone to make a call.

"Ugh... Where in the garlic am I??" VARIO said after waking up again. It doesn't take long for him to realize that he is in a airplane. As VARIO is about to sit up again he feels something behind him.

"What's that?" VARIO said and moves away a little, and sees the young girl Graziella behind him all tied and gagged.

"Hey, it's her!" said VARIO and quickly unties the girl.

"Oh, thank you!!" said Graziella and gives him a hug with tears in her eyes.

"Aw, it's nothing Graziella! Are you doing alright?" VARIO asked her.

"Yes, I'm fine. But how do you know my name?" Graziella asked.

"I saw a report about you on the TV in hospital last night." VARIO said.

"Oh, ok." Graziella said.

VARIO looks out of the side window and sees Sharon talking on the phone. The conversation seems to be taking quite a while.

"Grr, so she was planning this thing out all the time!" VARIO said once he comes to the realization.

"About what?" asked Graziella.

"That she is planning to kidnap not only you, but ME as well!" VARIO said.

"But why would she want to kidnap you?" asked Graziella.

"Beats me. Anyway, I think I've just gotten an idea!" VARIO said and moves over to the front seat.

"What are you doing??" Graziella wondered.

"I'm going to start the plane before Sharon can even get on it!" VARIO said. Before Graziella can even say anything VARIO starts the engine of the airplane.

"Huh? No, don't tell me that fatso is going to fly off with my plane!!" Sharon bursted out in frustration.

"I'm sorry, but I have to hang up! I'll call you later!" said Sharon and shuts off her phone, and starts to run after the plane.

"I can't believe I forgot to tie VARIO up before kidnapping him!! That was very shortsighted of me! Once I get on the plane I'll make sure to tie him up so he can't do anything!" Sharon said and keep running after the plane, only for it to start taking off into the air.

"Wait, come back here you, you... fatty, black and white clad... OOH, fatsoo!!" Sharon yelled as the plane flies off.

Seeing a slightly less elegant-looking bulldog airplane besides her, Sharon has no other choice.

"Oh well, that will have to do." Sharon said. She takes the plane and starts to lift off, and flies after VARIO and Graziella. Seeing this turn of events, Calimero stops Wario-Ware-Man's bike.

"Why are we stopping??" asked Warrio.

"Sharon has already taken off. There's nothing we can do right now except see how the events unfold later." said Calimero.

"Agreed. But I think we should call the police once VARIO has taken care of Sharon! She blurted something out about VARIO not having been tied up, so I think she had forgotten to... well, tie his arms basically." Wario-Ware-Man said.

"How very shortsighted of her." Susie said.

"Indeed. Anyway, let's just wait here and see if they come back again." Wario-Ware-Man said.

In the air, VARIO and Graziella are now flying the plane Sharon was supposed to fly. Graziella meanwhile is confused and in wonder where exactly they are going.

"W-where are you taking me??? Weren't you supposed to rescue me??" Graziella said.

"Trust me, we're not going anywhere! I'm just trying to make sure Sharon can't find us... and to give me some time to think of a plan to stop her." VARIO said.

Unfortunately for them, they hear a plane behind them. Graziella pops her head out from the side window to take a look, and sees that Sharon is now coming after them.

"Oh no, VARIO she's coming!!" Graziella warned. Right after Graziella says this Sharon starts firing bullets at their plane. They all miss the plane though.

"Uh-oh. No time for sightseeing I guess! Right, I better turn to the right." said VARIO and steers the plane to the right.

"Oh no, you're not getting away from me!" Sharon said and turns to the right as well.

Sharon keeps chasing VARIO and Graziella through the skies, shooting at them with her bullets.

"My garlic, she sure isn't very good at aiming!" said VARIO.

"You're right there VARIO!" said Graziella and let's out a few giggles. Indeed, no sooner is Sharon out of bullets due to her imprecise aiming skills.

"Drat, I'm out of ammo!!" said Sharon, whose eyes then turn very angry and vengeful.

"Alright. If shooting bullets won't take them down, then maybe THIS will!" Sharon said and starts speeding towards the plane in front of her.

Meanwhile, it seems like VARIO and Graziella might have shaken off Sharon by now.

"Hm, looks like Mrs. Snobby is slacking a little..." said VARIO.

"Thank you for doing your best to rescue me VARIO." Graziella said.

"It's nothing. It was only by chance I would end up in the same plane as you." VARIO said.

"Wonder if we'll ever get back home..." Graziella said.

"I'm sure we will!" said VARIO with confidence. They then feel their planned being rammed by something from behind.

"My garlic, what was that??" VARIO said in shock.

"That evil lady is back again! She's trying to ram our plane!!" Graziella said.

"She's not giving up hunh? Very well, now is the time for me to put my plan into motion!" VARIO said and starts to fly back to the airplane field they first took off from.

"VARIO, why are we turning back to where we started?!" wondered Graziella.

"I've just finally had an idea on how we could overthrow Sharon!" VARIO said and keeps flying back to the field.

A moment later VARIO and Graziella are now heading back towards the airplane field. Sharon is just behind them, and it looks like she is about to do them in.

"Ha ha ha hah!! No chance you'll be getting away now!" said Sharon. Meanwhile VARIO sees a big windmill in the distance a fair bit away from the airplane field.

"Alright, now is the moment for me... hold on tight Graziella, because things will go upside down from here on!" VARIO said and makes a upwards turn. Sharon has clearly not anticipated this move from VARIO.

"Huh?? Where'd it go?!" Sharon said in confusion. After looking behind her plane Sharon turn around again only see a big windmill coming towards her.

"AAAH!!!" Sharon screamed and tries to steer away her plane, but it is too late and she ends up colliding with the windmill, causing a big explosion.

Back over to Calimero and his friends, they have just witnessed the impact at the windmill in the distance.

"Sure was a very big explosion happening over there!" Warrio said.

"Yes. Come on guys, we better check it out!" said Calimero and runs off along with the group to investigate.

When they arrive at the windmill they see it has crumbled down into a big rumble, with a now burnt and destroyed bulldog plane just beside it. Out of the plane emerges Sharon, bruised up, but certainly not dead.

"Ugh..." Sharon groaned as she gets back up on her feet.

"Ok Sharon, your time is over!" Wario-Ware-Man said.

"Yeah, now it is YOU who will be kidnapped, and brought to jail where you belong!" Calimero said.

"panting You may have thwarted my latest plans, but... you will NEVER get me locked up again!" said Sharon and is about to make her escape. Before she can do so though Warrio has already sneaked behind Sharon and hits her on the top of her head with his fist, knocking her out.

"But that's where you're wrong..." Warrio said and starts twisting his fist around the palm of his other hand.

"Ok, now we better call the police before she wakes up!" Calimero said.

"I'll handle it." said Wario-Ware-Man and pulls up his cell phone to start calling the police. Just then they see VARIO's plane landing a distance next to them, with a weirdly-shaped hole on the roof. Out of the plane comes Graziella.

"Graziella!! Are you ok?" Calimero said after the group has rushed over to check on her.

"I feel ok, thank you." Graziella said.

"Where's VARIO though? Isn't he supposed to be with you?" Susie asked.

"He was with me, but while he was turning the plane upside down to distract Sharon he fell through the roof and out of the plane, so I had to take over the plane to try and land it." Graziella explained to them.

"I see. So where could he be now?" Wario-Ware-Man said. They then spot VARIO hanging on top of another windmill.

"Hello!! Somebody get me down from here?!! I don't wanna be left hanging here all day!!!" VARIO shouted and begged for someone to come and take him down.

Later, back at the hospital Calimero and friends are now back to check in on Valeriano and VARIO. Graziella is sitting by Valeriano's bedside, having told him the tale of how VARIO rescued her from the evil lady Sharon.

"Well, I'm rather dismayed to be told that it was VARIO here who did all the work... but I still give him the credit for saving you Graziella." Valeriano said.

"Aw, it was nothing." VARIO said.

Priscilla and Maya then comes in, with the latter now appearing to be in much better spirits compared to the last day.

"Hey, guys, we're back!" said Priscilla as they enter the room.

"Oh, hi there girls!" said Calimero.

"So, how has things been going? Has the girl been rescued by now?" asked Maya.

"Yes, Graziella's been rescued, and we all owe it to VARIO here!" said Susie and points to VARIO.

"Indeed, you have shown both yourself and the rest of us here that when the situation craves for it, you CAN put your fear of stuff aside and do things yourself." Wario-Ware-Man congratulated him.

"Well... yeah, I... at times when there's no one else around, and it becomes apparent to me that I'm the only one available, then it all falls down to me to sort things out, I suppose." VARIO said.

"By the way, Maya. How are you doing today?" Roshita asked her.

"Oh, just fine. Priscilla's been looking after me while I had my breakdown, and I can't thank her enough for being there for me." said Maya. Priscilla then gives her a hug.

"Aw, you know I'll always be there for you should you ever falter. We've been real best friends as of late, and I just couldn't stand seeing your spirit being torn down last day." Priscilla said.

"Hm, I wonder where the nurse is. Isn't it time for me to take that dreadful medicine by now?" Valeriano said. The nurse doesn't seem to turn up. They keep waiting for a while.

"That's odd. My nurse always checks on me regularly..." Valeriano began to wonder. Just then a different nurse comes in, and a much nicer and considerate one at that.

"Excuse us, but do you know where Valeriano's nurse is?" Calimero asked the nurse.

"I am his new nurse." said the nurse.

"My new nurse??" wondered Valeriano.

"Yes. My name is Annie, and I'll be the one to look after Valeriano from now on." the nurse said, now referred to as Annie from here on.

"Why is that?" Priscilla wondered.

"The previous nurse have left the hospital following complaints about recent mistreatment of patients and visitors." Annie explained.

"It was HERE where it all happened; her unusually strong language, the forcing of medicine down VARIO's throat, dragging Wario-Ware-Man in the mustache, pushing Warrio away, and even dragging Maya's wings and insulting her!!" Piero bursted out in his attempt to convince Annie. The others in the group try to calm him down.

"Calm down Piero! We saw what happened, and it may very well have been resolved!" Calimero told him.

"Phew... ah, ok then. Guess I don't have to work myself up over it..." Piero said and calms down.

"It has all already been resolved. I remember when I saw her outside your room earlier today, that the previous nurse seemed a bit confused, or lost in her thoughts. I then learned that the nurse have been going through a very bad situation in her life." Annie said.

"So what was it? Can you tell us more about it?" Asked Calimero.

"Unfortunately I never got to hear about it because the nurse had already left the hospital long before I could even see her again." Annie said.

"So what do you think made the nurse leave her job at the hospital?" asked Warrio.

"Well, the only thing I know is that after the accustations were made against her, the nurse fell into a deep hole of self-reflection, and after realizing the things she did, the nurse decided to quit. That's only what I've been told though." Annie said.

"My former nurse is gone?? Wahoo!!" Valeriano bursted out, but realizes he just was being a bit rude in front the new nurse by feeling this way, and tries to hide his excitement.

"It's ok Valeriano, no need for you to hide your excitement. To be honest, even I didn't really like being around or even near her. I'm certain she meant well, but her character and way of doing things made me feel a bit... well, uncomfortable." Annie said. The group understands her.

"We understand. Good luck with your job Annie!" Calimero said.

"Thank you! This is actually my first day being a nurse, so... yes, this IS my new job really." Annie said.

"Oh, is that so?" Priscilla said.

"Yeah. I used to be at the reception desk earlier, but now I've transferred to being a nurse, and I couldn't be any more happy about it!" Annie said.

"Well, in that case... good luck with your new job Annie!!" Susie said.

"Thanks. Anyway, I think it is now time for Valeriano's medicine..." Annie said.

"Aw no! And here I thought things were going to take a turn for the better!!" Valeriano said, now regretting laughing off the previous nurse.

"Tee hee, was only joking!" Annie said. The rest of the group then starts laughing at her joke.

"Phew..." Valeriano breathed a sigh of relief.

"I actually brought a tray here, specially for you." Annie said and puts the tray on his lap, consisting of sandwiches and a glass of juice.

"Wow! Thanks!" said Valeriano.

"I even brought you magazines and litteratures, in case you would like to read something." Annie said and puts the magazines and litteratures on his bed.

"WOW! I'm liking this new nurse already!!" said Valeriano and starts to tug in on one of the sandwiches. Graziella then gives him a kiss on the cheek.

"Remember Valeriano, that I will always love you no matter what comes our way. I hope you'll keep it in mind." said Graziella.

"Oh, I will Graziella. Ever since I saw you, I just couldn't stop thinking about you." Valeriano said.

"Te hee, thanks." said Graziella and gives Valeriano another kiss. Meanwhile, Susie has noted how Roshita just stands in her place, not seemingly minding seeing Valeriano being kissed by Graziella.

"Roshita, I'm sorry for asking, but... shouldn't you be feeling any sorts of jealousy now?" asked Susie.

"A little bit maybe, but... I just think that Valeriano deserves this now. I also am not feeling as much jealousy towards her like I used to." Roshita told her.

"But hey, why ain't I getting anything?? I was the one who did all the effort around here!!" VARIO said. After saying this Maya comes to his bed and gives him a vase of flowers and some honey cookies she baked a few days earlier.

"Aw, I certainly haven't forgotten about you!" said Maya.

"Well... thanks." said VARIO and takes a bite on one of the cookies.

"But I still feel I should be getting more than this..." VARIO said. Graziella then comes over and gives him a kiss on the cheek.

"Thanks again for saving me! I will NEVER forget this day." said Graziella and goes back to Valeriano. As the story is about to end, Wario-Ware-Man and Warrio are seen discussing a bit about the day that has just been.

"Well, things sure did end well, didn't it?" Wario-Ware-Man said.

"Yeah. Who would've thought Sharon would be the one responsible for kidnapping the girl." Warrio said.

"Yep. Life is full of mysteries, that's for sure." Wario-Ware-Man said.

"So, with this thing having been sorted out now... what else do you think might await us?" Warrio said.

"Hm... I'm not quite sure. Maybe we'll investigate another site or crime, or something else might happen. Right now it's a bit hard to tell..." Wario-Ware-Man said.

"Ok, I was just wondering." said Warrio and goes back to watching Graziella and Valeriano playing about with each other.

"Well, like I just said; the disappearance of the little girl has now been solved, and Sharon has been put behind bars again. Only thing I wonder, is what new things could be awaiting us..." Wario-Ware-Man said and keeps thinking over it all while everyone else is doing their own thing. He somehow feels, that their adventures may not be over just yet...

The End...