

It is a normal day in town, and Priscilla is seen doing some shopping around the town. She seems to already have her hands full with bags, indicating she is done with her daily shopping routine.

"Phew, I can barely wait to just get home with all the food and such, and sit down on the sofa. These bags weighs like a ton!" said Priscilla and starts heading back home. Just then she passes by a museum.

"Hm, on the other hand, going into a museum for a moment won't hurt. I know I should be heading back home, but I'm in no real hurry." said Priscilla and goes into the museum building to have a look. While in there she spots the usual items like pictures and sculptures. She then stumbles upon something really peculiar.

"What's that strange-looking device on display over there?" said Priscilla and walks over to it to take a look at it. She is rather intrigued by it.

"This one looks pretty interesting. It looks like something that would come right from a movie. But what is that strange clock doing behind the seat of the device?" said Priscilla and keeps looking at the thing. Being even more intrigued by it, Priscilla decides to head back home as quick as she can.

Back at home in the Green Team's apartment, Calimero and friends are watching the news for anything interesting. The news on TV are less than spectacular though.

"Come on stupid host, get to the point of the report will you?" said Piero impatiently.

"Will you please be quiet Piero. We can't hear what is being said on TV." Calimero told him.

"For once I actually agree with Piero. Also, the host of today's news is none other than Mr. Critichelli..." said Valeriano.

"I agree with both of you. Mr. Critichelli often makes for a terrible news host, and I can only remember the last time he read the news..." said Susie and thinks back on a moment where Mr. Critichelli possibly messed up the entire news. This is not shown though, but only implied.

On TV, Mr. Critichelli is about to read the news, but already are things starting to go awful for him.

"Er, can someone check if this seat is properly adjusted? I can barely reach up to the desk." Mr. Critichelli and waits for someone to adjust his seat.

After having his seat fixed Critichelli now tries his best, or worst, to read the news script. At one point one in the news station crew bumps into Critichelli's seat, making him almost topple down on the floor.

"Hey, watch it!" said Critichelli and tries to resume reading the script, only to be hit on the head by the mic held by one of the men in the crew. At this point Mr. Critichelli finally loses it.

"Alright, I've had enough! You guys can barely do anything right!! Why don't one of you guys take over while I go outside for a moment to clear my head!" said Mr. Critichelli and hands over the news telling duties to someone and goes out of the room to take a moment's break.

"Hah, now that's something else for a change!" laughed Valeriano.

"Indeed! I wonder if the crew was doing these "accidents" on purpose just to get rid of him..." said Piero.

"It's possible. Then again, we don't know for sure." said Valeriano.

Just then the apartment door flings open, with Priscilla rushing in with the shopping bags in her hands.

"Hello guys, I'm back!" Priscilla called out to her friends.

"Did you get everything on the list?" asked Roshita from the living room.

"I have. But you guys won't believe what I saw on my way back home!" said Priscilla.

"What is it?" asked Calimero.

"Come out here, and I'll tell you about it!" said Priscilla.

After getting off their seats Calimero and friends head out to hear what Priscilla wants to tell them.

"Alright. So what do you want to tell us?" asked Valeriano.

"Well, during my shopping trip I decided to go to the town's museum. While in there I saw a huge device on display." said Priscilla.

"And what's so interesting about it?" asked Calimero out of curiosity.

"I don't know. But I found it so intriguing and unusual-looking that I just had to get home and tell you guys about it!" said Priscilla.

"Hm. I think it is time for a change of pace. I mean, we spend most of our days indoors when we're not having any cases or mysteries to solve. I think we should go and check out the device Priscilla just told us about." said Valeriano.

"I agree. Are you guys on the same page?" said Calimero. He sees that everyone but Piero agrees, with the latter remaining mute. He seems to be thinking by the look on his face.

"Piero, why aren't you saying anything?" asked Roshita. Piero meanwhile is under deep thought as to whether he should speak up. He remains silent for a few seconds.

"Well... I also think we should go." Piero finally broke his silence, with the words he just said being the only ones. Calimero and friends are surprised, having some resistance from Piero's side.

"You usually resist or excuse yourself as to why you can't come along. Why not now?" asked Valeriano.

"Well, I actually didn't want to go. But I thought it was best to just agree with everyone..." said Piero.

"Um, Piero. You do have the right to say whatever you want like the rest of us." said Calimero.

"My words as well. You can just ask us if you don't want to come along. But there has to be a veery good reason for it." said Valeriano. Piero takes a moment to think.

"I... think I'm starting to get a bit too overcautious of myself... I agree though. Maybe it's best we put this matter aside for the time being... anyway, will our friends next door also be coming along?" said Piero.

"We will ask them to come along with us." said Calimero.

"Ok. So, are we all on the same page?" asked Priscilla.

"You bet we are!" said Valeriano.

"Alright. Let's get going!" said Priscilla and is about to head out.

"Um, Priscilla..." said Roshita.

"Yes?" said Priscilla.

"The shopping bags are still in your hands. I think you better sort them out first." said Roshita.

"Oops. You're right Roshita. I better go into the kitchen and sort these things out." said Priscilla and walks into the kitchen to put the contents of the shopping bags in their right places.

Later at the museum, Calimero and friends, along with Wario-Ware-Man & siblings and Maya the Bee, are now looking around for the device that is said to be standing in there.

"I wonder where Priscilla saw this device. As far as I can tell, I can't see it anywhere." said Calimero.

"If what Priscilla said is right, it's got to be somewhere. Though the question is where exactly..." said Piero.

"I'm confident I saw it somewhere in here. Keep following me guys." said Priscilla.

While they keep looking around for the device VARIO sees a painting of a huge Woodster making a triumphant pose over a defeated Dumb-Crow.

"Naah, I don't think anything's gonna happen if I do this..." said VARIO and blows a raspberry at it, expecting nothing to happen.

The Woodster in the painting suddenly comes to life and pulls VARIO's tongue enough to cause a bit of a strain. After letting go of his tongue the Woodster pulls off a very scary face in front of VARIO.

"YAAARGHH!!" VARIO screamed and runs off to rejoin the group.

"Duuuh, what a scaredy loser..." said the Woodster and returns to the pose he were at earlier, now no longer moving or looking alive. Warrio then stops by the painting.

"Meeh, such a silly and weird-looking thing..." said Warrio and blows a raspberry at the picture like VARIO did earlier.

"There. How'd ya like that, Mr. Triumphant-looking log of nothingness!" Warrio mocked the picture. Compared to when VARIO tried to mock it, nothing seems to happen.

"Hmpf, and they call this thing art?!! It doesn't even look the slightest bit ALIVE to me." said Warrio and resumes looking at every single thing in the museum.

After a bit of searching the group finally finds the machine Priscilla's been speaking of. They are all intrigued by its unusual look and design.

"Hm, this machine looks to be rather advanced to be standing in a museum." said Maya.

"Agreed. There's really NO WAY a human would be able to construct something as complex like that, what with all those buttons and such on that control board." said Piero.

"One can only wonder..." said Wario-Ware-Man.

"That is exactly what made this device so interesting to me. I really wonder what the purpose of it is..." said Priscilla.

They then see Emma also standing by the machine, writing down notes on her little note block.

"Oh, hi there guys!" Emma greeted them.

"What are you doing here at the museum?" asked Calimero.

"I came here to see a strange device that appeared in the museum just a few days ago. I always wanted to study something as complex and advanced as this." said Emma.

"But why? Your nature lies within being a private detective and the leader of a band!" remarked Piero. He then starts to look around the room a little.

"Oops... er, did anyone hear me just now??" wondered Piero.

"Don't worry Piero, it's just us in this room right now." said Valeriano.

"They are indeed my usual professions. But I also have other interests besides those." said Emma.

"Have you found out what the machine is for?" asked Calimero.

"I believe it might be some sort of time machine. But right now it is only a theory since I've only just looked at it. I'm not certain about it yet." said Emma.

"By the looks of all the clocks on the panels and such, I also strongly suspect this is a time machine. But it's too early to tell right now. We better not go ANYWHERE near it." said Wario-Ware-Man, with everyone heeding his words.

"How the heck can this thing here be a time machine?? I thought those things were just an invention of fiction!" Warrio said to himself.

Piero is about to turn around to look at the machine again, but unwittingly bumps into VARIO, causing the latter to bump into the machine. The sound of a switch activating is then heard, and the machine starts to glow.

"Oops. Looks like this thing got activated somehow..." said VARIO.

"My garlic, so this machine works after all!" said Wario-Ware-Man in surprise.

"Piero, didn't Wario-Ware-Man just tell you to NOT activate that thing!?" Valeriano scolded Piero.

"I was only going to turn around to look at the machine, but apparently I didn't see VARIO behind me!" Piero defended himself.

"I understand Piero. But DO be careful next time, ok?" said VARIO.

"Gulp... I-I'm not sure what's happening right now." said Priscilla with a bit of nervousity. Before anyone can do anything a bright glow expands all over the room. After the glow disappears the group and the machine are gone.

In the realms of time, Calimero and friends are seen traveling across time along with the machine. The trip sure isn't a pleasant one for anyone in the group.

"You know, I'm not too thrilled over this experience!!" said Susie.

"I'm sharing your opinion Susie! Only difference is I'm more scared over this than anything!!" said Piero.

VARIO meanwhile is being the worst by screaming like a easily frightened Wario-Nose, while Warrio just picks his nose in boredom.

"Realize it guys! Things won't get any better by worrying and screaming over what is happening right now!" said Maya.

"I definitely agree. Though I wonder where we'll end after we're done traveling through time." said Calimero.

"So do I wonder as well. On the other hand, it'll be quite interesting to see what new things we might discover..." said Warrio.

A moment later, the group has now ended up in a completely different time. Th environment certainly doesn't look like home to any of them.

"Where did the museum go??" said Warrio.

"Yeah. Not only are we no longer in our hometown, there's also not a SINGLE building in sight!" said Piero.

"And there's the time machine by our side..." said Wario-Ware-Man.

"Unfortunately it's broken. It probably broke down during the trip." said Emma.

"Aw noo. Now we can never return back to our own time!" said a distraught Susie.

"Is it ok of me to think the same as Susie?" asked Piero.

"Go ahead..." said Valeriano.

Piero starts to inhale as much air into his lungs as possible, and after a second of holding his breath starts screaming in the most dramatic way possible.

"We will NEVER be able to return back hooome!!!" Piero screamed.

"So... is that how you REALLY feel, or are you just overdramatizing things?" wondered Warrio.

"Pant... yes. But I... was probably overdramatizing it a little. But there's a teeny bit in me that wants to go and explore this new world we're in." said Piero.

"Let's go have a look around. Who knows, maybe we'll stumble upon something very unusual on our way!" said Wario-Ware-Man.

"I'm staying here for the time being. I have a feeling I can somehow fix this time machine." said Emma.

"Alright, you do what you feel is best." said Wario-Ware-Man.

"Do be careful out there. You never know what dangers might lurk in a place like this." said Emma.

"Ok, we will be careful." said Calimero and starts heading off with the group.

A little while later, the group keeps exploring the new environment. They are quick to realize things are completely different compared to their own timeline.

"This place sure looks completely foreign to me. There's no defined paths or roads on the ground, and there's trees and bushes almost everywhere." said Maya.

"I agree. Though I am curious about this place we're now in." said Priscilla.

"Wonder if they've got any places to buy some garlic around here." said Warrio.

"Sigh... We're in a different time period now Warrio. There's NO way there would be any shops around here resembling the ones from our present time! As if there would be any garlic around... perhaps." said Wario-Ware-Man.

While everyone is minding their own things and taking in the new surroundings, a shadowy figure is standing on a branch on a tree, looking down at them. The view then shifts to Piero, who is still not feeling so safe in the new environment.

"Gulp... I know I shouldn't be feeling worried since my friends are with me, but... I get the feeling that somehow, we may not be the only ones around here..." said Piero to himself.

Just then a female holler is heard, and out of nowhere Piero falls down onto the ground as someone jumps at him. As this goes on the view cuts over to Calimero and friends, who are both surprised and astonished over what is going on right now.

"Susie, what are you doing?! Get off of Piero immediately!" Calimero ordered Susie. The camera then pans a little to the right, showing that Susie is still standing with the group.

"What?? I haven't done anything! I'm just as surprised as you guys are!" said Susie.

"But... if you are here, then who is that over there..." said Calimero and looks down at Piero lying on the ground again, and is even more surprised over what he is seeing.

It is then shown that Piero has been pinned down on the ground by a fairly pre-historic looking version of Susie, holding a well-made and pretty stone axe in her right hand.

"Okay my boy, I've got you now. Now, hand over the thing you just stole from me!" said the as-of-yet unnamed girl.

"Hey knock it off, I haven't stolen anything! In fact, I don't even know what it is I've taken!!!" screamed Piero.

"Don't you even try. I know you've taken my thing which is very important to me!" said the girl.

"Just leave him alone! That duck hasn't taken anything that's yours!" Calimero told the girl.

"Buzz off you weirdos. I know this duck here has stolen one of my belongings, and nobody can convince me otherwise!" said the girl.

"I think the duck you just felled may not even be the one you're looking for!" Priscilla tried to tell the girl.

"How could that possibly be? He looks just like the duck I've known since we first met." said the girl.

"Well a few things; one, this duck here is wearing a cap and shirt. Two, his name is Piero." said Priscilla.

"Piero?? I know of no duck named "Piero". The one I know is named Peter... aw schucks, looks like I made a mistake here!" said the girl and backs off to let Piero go. The real Susie then rushes over to Piero.

"Piero, are you ok??" said Susie.

"I'm fine, thank you. Though I've never been THIS close to any girl before in my life, and feeling scared stiff to boot!" said Piero, still trying to recover from what just happened to him.

"Who are you, and where are you from?" Calimero asked the girl.

"I'm Sofia, and I live in a village nearby. But WHO are you guys?" asked the girl back, now known as Sofia.

"I'm Calimero, and these guys by my side are Priscilla, Valeriano, Roshita, Susie, Piero, Wario-Ware-Man, Warrio, VARIO, and Maya the Bee." Calimero introduced themselves.

"Well, I must say that you guys certainly don't look like you're from around here, going by how you're dressing." said Sofia.

"We're certainly not from around this place. We actually come from a different time period." said Valeriano. Sofia just laughs upon hearing this.

"Hah, there's just no way there is a time different that the one we're living in!" said Sofia, not believing Calimero and friends' claim about there being a time period different to hers.

"Aha, how about we go and see a friend of ours? She can probably explain it to you better than we can!" said Valeriano and heads back to Emma and the time machine. Sofia just twitches one of her twin ponytails in confusion, but decides to follow the group anyway.

Meanwhile, Emma is still studying the time machine which still lies broken on the ground. She hasn't been able to figure a way of fixing the machine so far.

"Phew, it sure is a lot of effort in studying this thing just to figure out a way to fix it. I've spent quite a bit of time looking at it, trying to think of a way to open it. But no dice. There doesn't seem to be any way to even open the machine!" said Emma and turns around to see Calimero and friends returning with a girl at their side.

"Oh, you're back? And who's that girl besides you?" asked Emma upon seeing the Susie look-alike girl.

"This is Sofia. She ambushed us while we were off exploring, mistaking Piero for another duck named Peter." said Calimero.

"I must say, that she looks a lot like Susie in a few ways." said Emma.

"So you must be the friend Calimero and guys behind talked about, am I right?" said Sofia.

"I'm Emma, and I am indeed a friend of Calimero and guys." said Emma.

"So, what're you doing with that thing besides you?" asked Sofia.

"I'm looking into fixing something here we were looking at in a museum before we got transported into this time period."

"I'm still puzzled over the fact a time different to ours exists... and what is this "something"?" asked Sofia.

"This thing here is a time machine, which can be used to travel back or forward in time." said Emma.

"A "time machine", huh? How does it work?" asked Sofia out of curiosity.

"I'm still trying to figure out how to fix the thing. But it is too complex for me to understand." said Emma.

"So the machine's still not fixed then?" asked Warrio.

"Very much so." said Emma.

"Let's go to the village I live in. Maybe my friends can have a look at it." suggested Sofia.

"I'm not feeling so sure there. I mean, there's no way that people from ancient times might even know how stuff like this works..." Emma thought to herself. As the others are about to leave Emma decides to follow them, having come to the realization that she can't fix the time machine on her own.

"You said you have some friends living in the village. How are they like?" Calimero asked Sofia.

"They're quite nice. Peter, whose name I happened to mention earlier, is one of them." said Sofia.

"But I thought Peter was a thief?" asked Calimero out of curiosity.

"Peter is quite friendly actually. But he is a bit of a kleptomaniac sometimes. He doesn't steal for his own gain though, he just likes taking things when nobody is looking. This trait of his does cause a few problems and conflicts, but it's usually pretty minor." said Sofia.

"Well, at least I've never stolen anything in my life. And even if I did, I've since changed my ways of being!" said Piero.

"Really?" Valeriano asked him in a teeny bit of doubt. Piero then thinks over it a little.

"Oh, I actually DID try to plunder an abandoned mine a long time ago. So... I did try to steal stuff... lucky me it was just us there at the mine back then..." Piero quietly said to himself.

"Um, never mind what I just said, ok? I'm just babbling about things again." said Piero and goes back to think of other things.

"Does your village have any leader?" Priscilla asked Sofia.

"Um... not really. One of my friends has some sort of leadership qualities in him, but it doesn't extend much beyond my own group of friends. Other than that, he is a regular just like us. He can also easily get annoyed at things sometimes." said Sofia.

"Ah, I see." said Priscilla.

"I think their leader might just be yet another Wario-Nose, considering Wario-Noses often tend to rule in ancient time periods." said Warrio to himself.

"I however are doubtful about your theory. This "leader" Sofia's speaking of could pretty much look like anything." said VARIO.

He then stops and takes another look at his surroundings. VARIO gets the feeling that he and the group have probably ended up in the stone age, given how tropical yet jungle-y things are in most places, and the way Sofia is dressing and holding a quite sophisticated-looking stone axe in her hand.

"Indeed, we must have ended up in the stone age now that I'm thinking about it! One can only wonder what other things we might see later on..." said VARIO to himself. After having looked at his surroundings VARIO starts walking again.

Later, Calimero and friends have just reached the village Sofia's living in. As VARIO had guessed, they are indeed in the stone age, only looking a bit more sophisticated and advanced than what is usually depicted in most cartoons.

"Right, here we are." said Sofia.

"Wow! It really seems like a very nice place to live in!" said Priscilla.

"Yeah. I think we all can tell the people here live a life similar to ours." said Calimero.

"You know, I have always seen the stone age as a very singlesided and bleak period in our history, with cavemen bonking each other on the head with their clubs or hammers..." said Warrio.

"Warrio!!" Wario-Ware-Man told him off.

"I haven't finished... anyway, seeing this time period for myself here and now, has made me realize the stone age is so much more than what is usually known about it." said Warrio.

"Aha, and HOW has your view of the stone age changed, if at all?" asked Wario-Ware-Man.

"Well for one, this village looks much more sophisticated and developed. Secondly, the way Sofia ambushed Piero earlier was like no ordinary cave man or woman. And lastly, even the Wario-Noses seem rather inventive with how they utilize the boogers they find on the ground!" said Warrio.

"Excuse me, but what exactly do you mean with the last point??" asked Wario-Ware-Man.

Warrio points to a group of Wario-Noses doing some peculiar-looking contraption that looks like a rope made out of snot. After finishing it, one of the Wario-Noses steals some garlic from someone's crops by throwing it like a lasso, snatching around 50 garlies in ONE fell swoop. Wario-Ware-Man can't believe what he's seeing right now.

"My garlic! Compared to the Wario-Noses in our time period, these are not stupid or singleminded at all, but rather intelligent and technologically advanced in nature!" said Wario-Ware-Man in amazement.

"And you are both right. The Wario-Noses are quite smart of themselves, and that is a big problem for us; They are far too smart for all the traps we put out on the crops and fields, not even my stone axe is a match for them. Despite their mastery of stealing food, they are nothing compared to someone else..." said Sofia.

"And what is that person?" asked Wario-Ware-Man.

"There is a rather mean and evil woman, who always tries to take over our village. While we always put a stop to her plans, I keep worrying over what her next move will be, which could turn out to be even worse than the last one." said Sofia.

"That's not good to hear! Who is this woman by the way?" asked Calimero.

"All will be told once we find my friends, because right now I can't even remember her name..." said Sofia.

Calimero and friends then start looking around for Sofia's friends. Compared to their own timeline, there are lots of different faces around the village. Even so, some of these faces do seem a bit familiar to them.

"I have to admit that despite some differences, there are even Dumb-Crows and Woodsters around here." said Maya.

"These guys has always been around here for as long as I can remember. We and the others get along with them pretty well, and they don't seem to mind our presence for most part." said Sofia.

They then see a 0-IQ-Dumb-Crow exiting a nearby hut to take a little walk, complete with twirly googly eyes, holding a wooden hammer in his right hand, and occasionally says things like "Duuga Duuga!" and "Buzz off!".

"What the... a 0-IQ Dumb-Crow?? But I thought that guy was just something coming from history books!" said Warrio in surprise, not expecting to see such a Dumb-Crow in his life.

"Yes. These guys have also settled into the village as of recently. They usually don't bother us much, but the Dumb-Crows seems to dislike them a lot." said Sofia.

"I think I know the reason for it though. But I don't think I should even mention it..." Wario-Ware-Man thought to himself.

"Hey guys, Sofia is back!" said someone. Calimero and the group then see three chicks coming towards them.

"Hi there guys, finally I found you!" said Sofia after seeing them.

"Who are these guys besides you?" asked one of the chicks.

"Don't worry about them. They're not gonna be a threat to us or this village." said Sofia and introduces Calimero and his friends to them.

"Right then. Nice to meet you guys. I'm Calin." said the first chick, who looks almost similar to Calimero, complete with a nearly identical egg shell on his head, only a slight bit more yellow.

"I'm... er, Angela..." said the second chick, sporting a beautiul pink short dress and ribbon band, nearly matching that of Priscilla.

"And I'm Rosie." said the third chick wearing goggles and a yellow black-dotted dress.

"Sorry for saying this Calimero, but your shell looks the same as mine!" said Calin after spotting the shell on Calimero's head.

"Yours also look like mine, only more yellow. Say, do you have a dislike for injustice?" said Calimero.

"Yes. I really don't like it when injustice are around the corner somewhere!" said Calin.

"So do I!" said Calimero.

"So, Angela... are you anywhere shy?" Priscilla asked her.

"I... can be very very shy of myself, especially when it comes to situations unfamiliar to me..." said Angela.

"I'm quite shy of myself as well, though not as much like I used to be!" said Priscilla.

"Say Roshita, are you into cleaning? I sure am." said Rosie.

"I am into cleaning as well. In fact, cleaning things around me is my passion and hobby." said Roshita.

"Wow, we both like the same things!" said Rosie.

"We sure do. And I've got a boyfriend named Valeriano which is among our group here." said Roshita.

"I see him raising his hand up, so it seems like he is your boyfriend." said Rosie.

"Yeah. He can be a bit embarrassed when it comes to describing our relationship in front of other people. Why I don't know though." said Roshita.

"Interesting. I've got a boyfriend as well!" said Rosie.

"Really?? How's he like, and where is he?" asked Roshita.

"He's being away right now, but he should be back fairly soon, I think." said Rosie.

"Having seen the counterparts of Calimero, Priscilla, and Roshita for myself, there's at least one difference with Priscilla and Angela, even if many things are similar between them." said Wario-Ware-Man.

"Actually I've noted one other difference as well, and a MAJOR one; me and Sofia are very different. She is much more brave, active, and responsible compared to me." Susie pointed out.

"Ah, of course. Thanks for pointing that out." said Wario-Ware-Man.

Just then a pair of guys are seen arriving in the village. One of them is a look-alike of Piero who's walking rather ashamedly. Compared to Piero, this guy wears a bandana instead of a cap and a yellow-brownish black-dotted loincloth, but is just as green and brown in his plumage like Piero. The green chick besides him appears to look somewhat like Valeriano, only wearing a blue version of his helmet, and holding what looks like a wooden, homemade skateboard under his arm.

"Who are those guys?" asked Priscilla.

"That duck to the right is my boyfriend Peter. He is very kind and goodhearted, but has a tendency to steal stuff. The one to the left is Giuliano, a daring and outgoing little chick who often likes to go skateboarding." said Sofia.

"Just like me! I like skateboarding too!" said Valeriano.

"I can tell the necklace around Peter's neck isn't his own." said Priscilla.

"How's your little trip been Giuliano?" Sofia asked him.

"Oh, I had a great time out there! However, I also caught Peter here on my way home, stuffing something into his pocket!" said Giuliano.

"Right. Have you found the thing that was stolen from me?" asked Sofia. In response Giuliano produces a diamond-patterned arm bracelet.

"Is this bracelet yours?" Giuliano asked Sofia.

"That is indeed mine! Admit it Peter, you stole it from me, didn't you?" said Sofia.

"Um..." is all Peter could say, refusing to answer.

"Come on Peter, I know it was you! You're not fooling me or anyone else!" said Sofia.

"Right right. It was I who stole her bracelet! I promise not to do it again!" said Peter.

"I very much doubt it. But don't worry, even if you keep stealing my stuff you're still my best little mallard around here. I just get very annoyed when anything that's mine goes missing, that is all." said Sofia.

"Sofia, who are these guys?" asked Giuliano.

"This is Emma, Calimero, Priscilla, Valeriano, Roshita, Susie, Piero, Wario-Ware-Man, Warrio, VARIO, and Maya the Bee. They're coming from a time period different to ours and needs to have a time machine fixed." said Sofia.

"A time machine huh? It sounds quite interesting! Where is it?" said Giuliano.

"I know where it is. May I lead the way?" asked Emma.

"Well, since I don't know its location, you should show us where the time machine is." said Giuliano.

"Giuliano... hm, isn't that a alternate name for Valeriano??" said Piero after thinking over it for a moment.

"What do you mean by that?" Calimero asked Piero.

"Ah, I just came to think of it after hearing the "Giuliano" name." said Piero and shrugs.

"Giuliano is indeed one of my other names, but I'd rather wanna be called Valeriano no matter what." said Valeriano.

Meanwhile, Angela has been having her eyes on Calimero for quite a while now, being rather smitten by his looks. She's thinking of trying to approach him, but isn't feeling so sure of herself.

"Aaw, Calimero just looks so adorable. I know he's got Priscilla, but I still wanna talk to him..." said Angela to herself while she keeps having her eyes on him.

"You're liking my boyfriend, I see?" asked Priscilla after taking notice.

"I do, but... I'm not sure if you would allow me to be anywhere near him..." said Angela while glancing down on the ground under her feet.

"That's fine with me Angela. I'll go and tell Calimero about it." said Priscilla and walks over to Calimero to talk with him about Angela's newfound attraction to him. Calimero then walks over to Angela, with Priscilla watching from behind.

"Hi there Angela." said Calimero.

"Oh, hi there... Cal... Calimero." Angela stammered a little in nervousity.

"So, Priscilla told me you've started liking me... for what reason exactly?" said Calimero.

"You... you look so cute to me, and... and... I just got a bit smitten after seeing you. I know you've got Priscilla, but..." said Angela, now feeling even more nervous and shy.

"Look, it's all good. Priscilla has told me you wanted to be with me for a while, and... well, I suppose I should return the favor... also, you look cute too." said Calimero.

"Oh, t-thank you!" said Angela and nervously gives Calimero a little kiss on the cheek which makes the latter blush. Behind them, Priscilla and Calin are watching on.

"Angela sure seems rather smitten by your boyfriend Priscilla." said Calin.

"Yes. Isn't that sweet." said Priscilla.

"Yeah. I couldn't help but notice that you don't seem the slightest jealous of Angela kissing him." said Calin.

"Aw I'm not feeling jealous in any way. Even if Calimero would kiss another girl on the cheek, I know that by experience, and having known him for a very long time that he always puts me first above everything else. We've also been lovebirds since early times." said Priscilla.

"That is indeed noticeable, going by that ring on your finger." said Calin after observing Priscilla's diamond ring.

"Te hee, thank you! You're also not feeling jealous then?" asked Priscilla.

"Not at all. Knowing Angela, she likes me more than anything else. But she has a tendency to get smitten by other chicks that she might meet from time to time." said Calin.

"I see. So, is Angela always this nervous about things?" asked Priscilla.

"Yes. She is probably the most shy and nervous member of the entire group, and often asks for permission to do something." said Calin.

"Poor little girl. I know how it is like... I've been there myself." said Priscilla.

"You have?" asked Calin.

"Yeah. While I'm not as shy and nervous today, there was once a time where I could become very shy of myself. Just like today though, I had my common sense at my side, and I would always stand up for Calimero if someone treated him badly." said Priscilla.

"Oh, I see. If only Angela were at the point you are in now..." said Calin.

"Indeed." said Priscilla.

"So, should we go look for the time machine?" Wario-Ware-Man asked the group.

"Actually, before we go maybe it is best we get to know where in the village our new friends live." said Maya.

"Ah, of course. It is good that we introduce our friends to our home. Lead the way Calin!" said Giuliano.

They head off to the hut where Calin and his friends live in. On their way there they meet a rather tall adult bird, who strangely looks like Mr. Critichelli from Calimero and friends' time period.

"Hang on, what is Mr. Critichelli doing in the stone age?! Only difference is this guy is wearing only a loincloth, but that's about what I can see just by looking at him." said Warrio.

"I AM the one and ONLY Mr. Critichelli in the entire village, fatso! And what an eyesore it is to see you guys around here..." said Mr. Critichelli and points to Calin and his friends.

"Well, things won't be so much of an eyesore when YOU aren't around at least." Giuliano mocked him.

"Mr. Critichelli? What is he doing around here? The only Critichelli we know is the one from our own time." Calimero asked himself.

"That is probably his "ancestor" we're seeing now. But I'm none the less perplexed over the fact that this version of Mr. Critichelli acts in exactly the same way as his future self..." said Valeriano.

"Say, who are these guys behind your backs??" Critichelli asked Calin and his friends.

"We're Wario-Ware-Man, Warrio, VARIO, Maya the Bee, Emma, Calimero, Priscilla, Valeriano, Roshita, Susie, and Piero. Could you maybe tell us what you do from day to day?" said Wario-Ware-Man. Mr. Critichelli just snorts.

"Hrmpf. As if I'm gonna tell YOU that. Anyway, I'm off to lead a news report in the village soon, and I'd rather NOT wanna have Calin and his friends, nor even you outsiders in my way." said Critichelli.

"You bet we won't be attending your little report. I have the feeling the news probably won't be anything worth listening to anyway, heh heh..." Warrio mocked him.

"Shut it you fatso! My news will be BIGGER than anything else ever seen before!" said Critichelli rather triumphantly.

"Phah, you can do it if you want, but you won't be the news reporter of this town ANYTIME soon!" Giuliano told him. Critichelli snorts again and heads off, but then turns around to Calin and the other guys.

"Just so you know, I WILL succeed in becoming this town's leading and most trusted news reporter, in whatever way it takes!" said Critichelli and walks off.

"I wonder if this version of Mr. Critichelli will ever succeed in his goal." said Calimero.

"I don't think he will. We all know the Mr. Critichelli from our time, don't we? He rarely, if ever, succeeds in getting himself a position on the Condor News Station. The Stone age equivalent of him would be just as unlikely to become a leading news reporter." said Valeriano.

"You said you have your own Mr. Critichelli in your own time period. Is he any different to ours?" asked Giuliano.

"Apart from the clothing, he isn't anywhere different. He snorts just as much at anyone, and is just as irritating and annoying like the one around here." said Warrio.

"Like ancestor, like descendant. Or so they say..." said Wario-Ware-Man.

A moment later Calimero and friends are now inside the hut where Calin and his friends live.

"You know. While it is only a single room, it is actually rather spacious and nice in here!" said Piero.

"It sure is. They even have a nice pool at the corner here!" said Susie.

"So, you mentioned to us about this "time machine" earlier. What exactly is it?" Giuliano asked Calimero and his friends.

"The time machine is a device that can take a person from one time to another, allowing the traveller to explore different time periods." Emma explained.

"Neat!" said Giuliano.

"The machine itself is from the present timeline, which is where me and my friends come from. It was only due to an accident we got transported to your time, which indeed is quite different to ours." said Emma.

"I think we should go and see this thing for ourselves. It all sounds really interesting to us." said Calin.

"Yeah, let's go see it." said Giuliano.

"Before we go, maybe you could tell us more about this mean and cruel woman who tries to take over your village?" Priscilla asked them.

"How do you know about her??" asked Giuliano in surprise.

"I told them about her. Now, can you tell me what her name is? I've forgotten it again." said Sofia.

"Sigh... well, the name of this woman is Sharone, and she is far from being nice. Not only has she tried taking control of our village, but has succeeded in taking over other populations and bringing them down to dust. Currently we're one of the few civilisations left who tries to stand up against her." Giuliano explained.

"That's awful! What will happen to this village if she completely gets her way?" asked Maya.

"That is just what me and my friends here fear. If we're not on our guard, Sharone might one day get complete control of our village, which will spell the end for us and the people living here!" said Giuliano.

"We can't let that happen. We better get out there and teach this evil woman some manners and justice!" said Calimero.

"My camera here is ready to start filming and sights going on, and I'm not afraid to use it!" said Valeriano.

"Then let's go!" said Calin.

With it all agreed on, Calimero and friends sets off with the others to find the time machine, and to rid the village of Sharone and her attempts at influence. On their way to the time machine, everyone is talking away at things.

"So Calimero... how is your and Priscilla's friendship like? She did talk with me about it a little bit, but what's your perspective on it?" said Calin.

"We do have our ups and downs from time to time, but we get along very well. Priscilla also seems to always daydream of me and her getting married someday." said Calimero.

"I saw a ring on her finger while we were talking earlier. Does that mean you two are married?" said Calin.

"Not yet. We did stage up a wedding one day though since we are still too young to have any real marriage." said Calimero.

"Do you return her affections?" asked Calin.

"I do, but there are times when I can be rather oblivious to it. But Priscilla always seems to find a way of kissing me on either the cheek or my beak." said Calimero.

"You two are very lucky indeed..." said Calin.

"How's that?" asked Calimero.

"That you not only get along very well, but also are a pair of lovebirds. Me and Angela do get along, but I'm not as lucky when it comes to relationships. The problem is her extreme shyness and nervousity. I have nothing against it. It's just that it gets in the way of things." said Calin.

"So her shyness and nervousity makes her unable to approach you?" asked Calimero.

"Very much so. She also isn't as determined and outgoing like your girlfriend are, and she doesn't actively try and kiss me due to her extreme shyness and nervousity. Despite this, she does like me as a friend." said Calin.

"Well, that's something good at least." said Calimero.

Piero meanwhile are having a conversation with Peter regarding their respective girlfriends and such.

"Sorry if I ask you about this, but... how's your friendship with Susie like?" asked Peter.

"Aw, it's all fine. Even though I like Susie, she can sometimes become a bit too much, especially when she seeks my attention despite me not having even asked for it." said Piero.

"I see..." said Peter.

"She also has her moments of sugar rush every now and then, and it all starts once she gets her hands on a bottle of Cherry soda. After she drink the bottle, things are certainly NOT gonna end well!" said Piero.

"That's something my girlfriend would never do..." said Peter.

"Anyway, how are you and Sofia getting along?" asked Piero.

"Sofia is quite alright to be with. She can be a bit demanding sometimes, and she isn't one to just stand around when something bad is going on. She also gets extremely annoyed when ANY of her possessions goes missing." said Peter.

"Yeah, I noticed that trait of hers before we arrived in your village... anyway, WHY do you like stealing things?" said Piero.

"Um... it's a thing that's always been with me since I was a toddler. I sometimes stole some of my parents' belongings, but that was mostly stuff like fruits and such. As I grew up however, my acts of stealing grew to things beyond my own home like jewelry, diamonds, coins, necklaces, and even Giuliano's favorite skateboard!" said Peter.

"Geez, talk about having a real case of kleptomancy there... but have you ever considered if what you're doing is good or bad for the people in the village?" said Piero.

"I do think the thought sometimes, but my kleptomancy often kicks in so quickly that I tend to forget about it very easily." said Peter.

"I see." said Piero.

Later, Calimero and everyone finally arrives at the place where the time machine is... or was, since it no longer appears to be there.

"But, wasn't it here before we walked off with Sofia??" asked Calimero.

"I'm fairly sure it was here. Yeah." said Emma in confusion.

"I knew it. There is no such thing as a time machine. Let's go back to the village everyone." said Peter and is about to head back home.

"B-but it was here earlier! I saw it standing there before we went off! Please do believe us!" said Emma.

"Sorry. The evidence is not here. We don't think there is any such thing called a time machine." said Calin.

"Guys, now is not the time to just leave our new friends in the dust like this!!" said Giuliano.

"Indeed. I also witnessed the machine with my own eyes, and I can tell it WAS here earlier!" said Sofia.

"But how is it even possible? All we can see is a small, flat hollow crater in the ground." said Calin.

"B-but I saw it for myself! It was standing on its spot, and I even saw Emma fiddling with the machine." said Sofia.

"Can you guys be quiet for a moment... since the time machine was standing here earlier, I just got the feeling that before we arrived somebody else must have taken it." said VARIO.

"And HOW can you be so sure of it? I mean, even if there's been a theft we don't have anything to go on." said Warrio.

"Well it's just a theory for now, nothing definite." said VARIO.

"I think VARIO could be right. But the question is who would go to the length of stealing such a big, heavy thing..." said Sofia and glances at Peter.

"I-I'm innocent this time. I've only just arrived!" said Peter.

"Don't worry Peter, you're good. I know you were with us before we got here. I was just wondering if you've spotted anything unusual around here." said Sofia.

"Oh... well in that case, no I haven't." said Peter.

While the others are squabbling away Maya hears something in the background. She keeps listening to the noise but can't hear due to all the talking going on behind her.

"Guys, please be quiet for a moment. I think I heard someone in the background." said Maya.

"Someone? What do you mean?" asked Calin.

"Do listen guys..." Maya told them. They all go quiet and starts to listen. It becomes clear to them there's somebody else around the place.

"I recognize that voice..." said Sofia.

"You do?" asked Priscilla.

"Yeah, and it's the voice of someone that I don't like, and are certainly NOT welcome in our village. Come on guys, follow me!" said Sofia and heads off to where the sound is being heard, with the others following her. It doesn't take them long to spot the source; a little female chick who apparently gives orders to someone else off-screen.

"So that's where the voice is coming from, and who is that girl?" said Calimero.

"Exactly. She's one of Sharone's sidekicks, and she's about as bitter as the taste of a sour ananas." said Sofia.

"Isn't that the time machine over there??" said Roshita.

"So it does exist after all! How come I just dismissed it earlier??" said Peter.

"Maybe because you didn't see it before?" said Valeriano.

"Have to admit I also came to the same conclusion as him..." said Calin.

"No time to argue over that now. Only thing that matters now, is to get our hands on the thing again." said Wario-Ware-Man.

They wait for the right moment to strike. While the girl by the time machine is at her most unaware Calimero and friends then approach her.

"Hey you there! What are you doing with our time machine??" demanded Valeriano.

"Absolutely! Show us your face now!" demanded Sofia. The girl turns to face them, and to Priscilla's surprise she looks an awful lot like someone she knows from her own time period.

"Hang on... isn't that Suzana!?" said Priscilla.

"So, if it isn't Bitterana, who's as bitter as a sour orange!" Sofia taunted the girl.

"Well well, I didn't expect company right now. And yes, my name is Bitterana. And it sure is a surprise to see you and your stupid friends turning up just as we've gotten our hands on a big, strange device." said the girl, now known as Bitterana.

"That "big strange device", is actually a time machine." said Emma.

"I agree. Now, give it back to us!" Sofia demanded.

"Ah ah, I'm not one to just hand it over to you, oh no... lackey!! Come over here and give our new playmates what for!!" Bitterana called out to her sidekick.

"Well well, didn't expect company around here. My name's Doodlelia, and I'm the second of Sharone's sidekicks." said Doodlelia.

"Doodlelia... that name makes me think of a certain teenage witch me and VARIO always had to deal with years ago." said Warrio to himself.

"Don't you think that your doodling tricks will be able to stop us this time!" Sofia taunted Doodlelia.

"You will be proven wrong, because I've been brushing up on my doodling skills lately!" said Doodlelia.

"Phah, HOW would a little bit of drawing be able to defeat us." said an unconvinced Piero.

Doodlelia just picks up a pen made of wood and ink, a piece of paper, and starts doodling away. In seconds a whole army of fake Dumb-Crows and Woodsters starts to spawn, holding clubs, hammers, and even the stone-age equivalent of bazookas in their hands.

"Gulp... I take back what I just said!!" said Piero and hides behind Susie, with VARIO hiding himself behind Maya. Maya just sighs with a slight smile on her face and glances upwards.

"Well, I guess it is pretty evident who VARIO turns to for protection. We have indeed developed some sort of closeness to each other... only for different reasons." said Maya.

"Ha-hah! You guys will have no chance against my army. They will be bringing you down in minutes!" Doodlelia taunted Calimero and the others.

"Oh yeah, we'll see about that!" said Priscilla.

"Don't be so sure of it... ok my trusted army, attaaack!!!" Doodlelia commanded her newly created army.

The fake Woodsters and Dumb-Crows proceeds to attack Calimero and friends. The latter try their best to fight them off. For some of them the following happens; Priscilla keeps bringing down one Woodster or Dumb-Crow after the other with her ribbon band and some mighty ballerina kicks, Susie just slaps them silly on the face with her hand. Wario-Ware-Man meanwhile is being chased by the Woodsters and Dumb-Crows aiming their bazookas at him.

"Well, Calimero and his friends seems to do quite well fighting them off. In my case these guys are already after me!! I can only wonder how Warrio and VARIO are doing right now!" said Wario-Ware-Man while he tries to shake off his enemies.

In the case of Warrio, he is just doing some simple and comical punching against a Dumb-Crow while holding him with his other hand.

"Hah, rather easy if I say so myself. Even if they're many, these guys tend to be rather weak..." said Warrio and keeps punching on the Dumb-Crow like a small boxing bag.

VARIO meanwhile are being beaten up by not only the foes they're dealing with, but also by his own friends since he keeps getting in the way.

"Hey, don't hit me, hit the other guys!! My garlic, I better get outta here!" said VARIO and scrambles to get himself out of the chaos. Piero meanwhile has just gotten himself to safety outside the battlefield, and sees a bruised up VARIO getting himself out of the chaos in front of them.

"Oh, so you decided to get away too??" said Piero.

"I sure did. But what are you doing here all by yourself??" said VARIO.

"I was getting rather overwhelmed by all the Woodsters and Dumb-Crows that I simply had to get away from it all. They were just too many..." said Piero.

"At least I tried to fight them, but I kept getting hit all the time which made me feel rather tired and exhausted. And beaten up to boot..." said VARIO.

"I really wonder if we'll ever get back to our own time period. I really wanna go home now!" said Piero.

"So do it. But as long as the time machine is out of our reach, we'll probably be stuck in this time period." said VARIO.

While they both are catching a break, a Woodster then sneaks up on them which takes them by surprise. After he blows his whistle they are surrounded by a ring of Woodsters and Dumb-Crows who all jump over Piero and VARIO, obscuring the entire view with white clouds, and sounds of beating are heard.

Back to Calimero and guys, they have just taken down over half of the Woodsters and Dumb-Crows army, but more of them keeps appearing out of nowhere. So many of them appear that it is impossible for Calimero and the group to take them all out by themselves, and almost everyone, including Priscilla, Susie, and Roshita, are struggling to not be caught.

"My garlic, it's almost useless to try and take out these guys. Everytime we beat them, MORE keeps appearing!" said Wario-Ware-Man.

"I'm with you Wario-Ware-Man! Even the rest of our friends are already being overwhelmed by them!" said Calimero while looking over to Priscilla, Susie and Roshita.

"Agh. Get away from me!!" said Priscilla while she tries to fight them off.

"Stop pulling me on my ponytails!!" said Susie as she feels the tails on her head being dragged and messed with.

"Don't you even try pulling off my glasses!! I can't see anything without them!!" said Roshita. Unlucky for her she then feels how the glasses come off her face.

"Oh rats, now I can't see anything!! Where am I? Where is everything?? Everything in front of me is just a blurry mess!!" said Roshita and gets down on her knees to try searching for her glasses.

Miraculously, without her glasses Roshita manages to evade the horde of Woodsters and Dumb-Crows as she crawls among them, even causing some of them to trip over and get beaten up by their own teammates.

Meanwhile, even Calin and his friends are having trouble fighting them off. Sofia realizes they're getting far too many and believes it is time to deal with the root of it all.

"It's no use trying to fight them all off. They just keep on coming no matter how many of them we take out!" said Sofia and gets herself out of the chaos by hopping across all the Woodsters and Dumb-Crows on their heads.

"I'm going to find the source of all this and fix it once and for all! Try to hold out a bit longer. I'll be right back!" Sofia shouted.

"Do be quick about it! I really want this madness to end!!" Wario-Ware-Man shouted back.

"Don't you worry, I'll be back real quick!" said Sofia and keeps hopping her way across the entire army.

At a spot away from the entire battle, Doodlelia are standing in her spot doodling away. When she is at her most unaware, she feels the pen and paper being taken off her hands.

"Hey, where'd my tools go??" said Doodlelia and looks behind her to see Sofia having just taken her most useful tools.

"I think now is the time to end your little days of doodling, mrs. Doodlelia!" said Sofia.

"Hey you. Give them back to me!" Doodlelia demanded her. Sofia just shakes her head and uses the rubber on the back of the pen against the paper.

"No, don't do that!!" said Doodlelia and tries to take back her favorite tools, but Sofia just uses her right foot to keep Doodlelia from reaching her.

"Grr. You give them back to me, NOW!!" said Doodlelia, now being even less happier.

"Sorry. You've had your fun, and now it is time to end it." said Sofia and starts erasing what Doodlelia has drawn on the paper.

Back at the place where all the war and chaos is going on, Calimero and friends are about to be outmatched by the armies of Woodsters and Dumb-Crows. The latter then suddenly disappear completely as if by magic.

"What the... where did they all go??" said Warrio in confusion.

"Phew, I thought I was gonna be a goner there for a minute..." said Wario-Ware-Man in relief.

They all wonder what happened to the armies. Sofia then returns again with a paper and pen in her hand, alongside a now tied-up Doodlelia.

"Here is the source of it all." said Sofia and points to Doodlelia.

"Grr. I swear my revenge on you guys! I'll be back next time!!" said Doodlelia.

"You deserved it, seeing how you've been treating us! My garlic, that Doodlelia is arguably worse than that teenage witch from our own timeline." said Warrio.

"Are you referring to Drawcia?" wondered Wario-Ware-Man.

"Yeah." said Warrio.

"Now, tell us where the time machine is you fiend!" Sofia told Doodlelia.

"I don't know where it is. Bitterana has already taken it, and there is NO way you and your buddies can stop her in time!" said Doodlelia.

"Hang on, where's Piero and VARIO??" said Warrio after taking notice of their absence.

"Well, while you guys were fighting with those armies earlier, I dispatched a group of Woodsters and Dumb-Crows to capture them!" said Doodlelia.

"Can you tell us where they were taken to!" Priscilla demanded her.

"I don't know. I don't have much control over where my creations run off to after they've followed my orders." Doodlelia told them.

"Time is growing short! We must find the time machine along with Piero and VARIO, quickly!" Calimero told the others. They all leave Doodlelia behind where she is to be forever tied up.

"They may have defeated me this time. But I'm not too worried though, because I know I will eventually get myself untied. That Sofia fellow sure knows how to tie someone up, but it's not enough to keep me in place forever!" said Doodlelia and keeps trying to free her hands.

A bit later Calimero and everyone arrive back in the village only to see a pair of intruders standing with the time machine by their side. One of them, Bitterana, is already known, while the other one next to her is much taller than her.

"Hey, that's Sharone over there!" said Giuliano, recognizing the taller woman. Sharone is a tall bird woman with a orange, pointy beak, and long brown hair hanging down. She wears a short, purple loincloth dress, and wields a staff with a diamond on top. Sharone is twice the size of the average adult woman.

"So you're back again, just to cause us further trouble!!" said a furious Giuliano as he and his friends runs towards her.

"Ha hah. It's a great pleasure to be back here to have my fun with everyone in this village. It's been quite a long time... " said Sharone.

"Her voice reminds me of a certain snobby woman, and she acted similarly to the one we're seeing now... only difference is, she's bigger!" said Valeriano.

"I'm rather unsurprised however. Sharone is basically just Sharon, only with an "e" at the end of the name... Couldn't the writer have come up with a much better name for Sharon's stone age counterpart?!!" Warrio complained a little bit.

"Despite that, I want you to tell me and my friends what kind of scheme you've been cooking up this time Sharone!!" Sofia demanded her.

"Absolutely, I won't be holding back. You see, me and my two lackeys was being out on a small stroll and spotted some strange thing lying on the ground. One of my sidekicks, Bitterana, were quick to point out to me the thing looked like a time machine. I found the idea of time traveling pretty interesting, if only for my very own reasons..." said Sharone.

"And what are you going to use it for?" asked Calin.

"Well, I'm gonna let you all take a little time trip, and eventually scatter everyone in different timelines. Me and my sidekicks meanwhile, will use the machine to rewrite history to make sure I will be the sole ruler of this world, and EVERYONE will do as I tell them to without any complaints, resistance, and no free will!" said Sharone.

"That's far too risky! Rewriting history is an extremely dangerous thing to do! I seriously urge you guys to reconsider this!!" Emma demanded. Sharone just laughs Emma's warning off.

"Sorry, but there's NOTHING you guys can do to stop me! After time has been thrown into chaos, I will be ruling the world!!"said Sharone.

"Just a little thought... where is Piero and VARIO?" Susie asked her.

"Those little scaredy cats are the first passengers aboard the time machine right now. In fact, I have to admit the latter is more of a scaredy cat than the duck, he heh..." said Sharone.

Bitterana starts moving away a little to show Piero and VARIO sitting in the time machine, all gagged and tied up. Warrio is furious to see one of his brothers tied up like this, destined to be sent into who knows what kind of time period.

"I can't just stand here and watch VARIO being sent into whatever time he'll end up in! Sharone, however ridiculous your name might sound, me and my buddies here will be putting a stop to your diabolical, yet evil plan!!" Warrio told Sharone.

"Well said Warrio. With the help of Calin and his friends here, we will make sure that YOU will pay for your misdeeds!" said Calimero.

"I'm with you guys! And you better let me bestest duck and boyfriend be, you big meanie!!" said Susie.

"I think we can all agree that we are more than ready to take you on, Sharon! You won't be succeeding taking over this village, or even rewrite history!!" said Sofia.

"So you won't back down huh? I like a bunch of little guys who try to challenge me..." said Sharone and turns around to face Bitterana.

"Bitterana, where has Doodlelia gone off to?" Sharone asked her.

"I'm not quite sure, but maybe Calin and his buddies must have gotten the better of her." said Bitterana.

"Ah well. We'll be finding her later on after we're done dealing with these pests in front of us. Bitterana, do your best to bring these fools down!" said Sharone.

"As you command, mistress!" said Bitterana and hold her hands out. She then says some unclear words in a very bitter tone, and in just a few seconds sparkles starts spreading around across the village.

A big Wario-Nose then comes out of the ground. Then another comes out, and another one, and another. After half a minute an entire horde of Wario-Noses are now standing before Calin and the others.

"My garlic!! These Wario-Noses sure are VERY big, and they appear to be all but friendly-looking!" said Wario-Ware-Man.

"Gulp. I have a feeling things aren't gonna be so easy this time!" said Warrio.

"Do swallow your fear Warrio. We have no other choice. In one way or another we'll be bringing these guys down!" said Calimero.

"Alright, with the entire army now assembled, I just want to say one thing... GET THEEM!!" Bitterana shouted while pointing to Calimero and friends, and the Wario-Noses starts crawling towards them.

Calimero and the group tries to deal with them, but it's proving to be not as straightforward. Compared to those from their own time, these Wario-Noses seem to be very smart and intelligent, and are more strategic but unpredictable in their patterns.

Warrio is immediately overtaken by one of the Wario-Noses jumping on top of him, getting his upper body stuck in one of its nostrils.

"Gaah!! Get this guy off of me! Get it off!! It's munching me alive!!" said Warrio and keeps running around the area frantically as the Wario-Nose tries to munch on him. Susie meanwhile is forced to run for her life due to the Wario-Noses being too many for her to handle on her own.

"Aaah!! Get away from me you nasty-looking fiends!!" screamed Susie as she tries to run away from the Wario-Noses coming after her.

Calimero and Valeriano tries to fight along with Calin and his friends, but even then the sheer amount of Wario-Noses are too much for them since they are stronger.

"Aagh. It's useless to try and beat these guys! They're much stronger than us!!" said Calimero.

"We're not giving up Calimero! Somehow these guys could be beaten, but how we don't know yet... if they can be beaten at all!!" said Valeriano and keeps trying to fight them off. In Maya and Priscilla's case, they are struggling to even try and pry the noses off of them.

"Aah!! These guys are sure persistent!" said Priscilla.

"I know. They keep ruining my dress every now and then as they try and beat us down! Besides that, I only wonder in what way we can defeat them..." said Maya.

As for Wario-Ware-Man, he keeps being comically banged on the ground repeatedly by the Wario-Noses as they try and beat him down.

"AOW, AOOW!! Have you guys ever learned to not be so rough on your enemies like this?!! AOW, AOW, AOW!!" said Wario-Ware-Man as the Wario-Noses keeps banging him on the ground.

Sharone and Bitterana meanwhile just stands by the time machine watching the chaos unfold in front of them. Sharone is more than satisfied with the results so far.

"Hah hah hah. I thought these guys would be a challenge to take on, but as of now they seem to barely be much of a threat. I think that in no time, Calin and his buddies, along with their new friends, will be no more." said Sharone.

"It's nothing, mistress. Let's just stand back and enjoy the sight for now!" said Bitterana.

Meanwhile, Warrio keeps running around with the Wario-Nose still over his upper body, only to stop for a moment to rest.

"Phew, all that running around has made me tired..." said Warrio and puts his hands in his pockets, only to feel something in the left one.

"Hm, it feels like a garlic. I can tell it is a garlic due to the shape of the thing... oh yeah, it was this spare garlic I stuffed into the pocket of my pants in case I would feel hungry!" said Warrio. The Wario-Nose then stops attacking Warrio to feel the scent coming from the garlic. It starts sniffing rather intensely.

"H-hey, knock it off. That tickles!! ... wait now... since the Wario-Noses from our time loves garlic, so do these as well! It gives me an idea." said Warrio.

Despite not being able to see anything, Warrio takes the chance to toss the garlic. In just a second the Wario-Nose jumps off of him and starts running after the garlic.

"Phew, finally it abandoned my upper body. Finally some fresh air..." said Warrio and starts inhaling and exhaling the air around him.

The garlic Warrio tossed away then lands in Bitterana's cleavage. She takes a moment to feel what it was that landed in her cleavage.

"Huh? What was it that landed in there..." said Bitterana and keeps having her hand in her chest. However, it isn't long before the army of Wario-Noses she spawned runs towards her, having felt the smell of garlic.

"Hey idiots, what are you running to me for?? Get back there and bring those guys down!!" Bitterana ordered them. It's no use though; they have already sensed that the smell of garlic comes from Bitterana. She is forced to run for her life as the Wario-Noses keep going after her.

"Phew, thought we were going to be munched to death for a moment! I wonder what made those Wario-Noses just run off like that." said Wario-Ware-Man after getting his bearings.

"The reason for that is, I had a spare garlic in my pocket, and after tossing it the Wario-Noses lost their focus and started running after it." Warrio told him.

"But why did they start chasing Bitterana??" asked Calimero.

"Maybe the garlic landed on her, and they went after her as a result? Wario-Noses generally don't have any eyes, so they often have to smell their way to things in life..." said Warrio.

"Warrio, you saved us just in the nick of time!" said Calin.

"Yeah. I don't know how you did it, but you got rid of those Wario-Noses that were about to like, devour us!" said Sofia.

"Aw, it was nothing." said Warrio.

Calin and his friends praise Warrio's act of ridding their village of the big Wario-Noses. But there's no time for celebration just yet because they've got Sharone left to deal with, and she isn't the best pleased over the turn of events.

"Ooh, you guys always manage to get the better of us, every time!!" said an enraged Sharone.

"Well, might as well go back to where you came from and leave everything be if you're not able to even take over a village!" Warrio taunted her.

"You wish I would... but the show is not over. Both my sidekicks have failed me, but it won't stop me from putting my plans into motion! I'm gonna take you nitwits on by myself, and I'm far more capable of it than you might think!!" said Sharone.

"Oh yeah? Just try it!" said Warrio.

"Watch your tongue, fatso." said Sharone and uses her staff to trap not only Calin and his friends, but even Calimero and his friends in a dark sphere of magic. Maya and Sofia manage to avoid it, with the latter jumping at Maya to save her from getting trapped.

"Are you ok Maya?" Sofia asked her.

"Yes, I'm alright. Thanks for saving me Sofia!" said Maya.

"Aargh! I can't believe I missed those two!!" said Sharone in a fit of fury, but immediately calms down.

"Anyway, it won't matter much. Ok you two, if you're that persistent on saving this village, then I challenge you to try and defeat me!" said Sharone.

"Even though our friends are trapped in that bubble, me and Sofia will still be able to stop you!" said Maya.

Sharone just laughs and uses the staff on herself to grow even bigger than she is now. In just seconds Sharone has grown to over 30 feet tall! Valeriano is more than eager to document anything happening from here on.

"I better get this on tape! This isn't something we see happening everyday on our investigations!" said Valeriano and pulls out his video camera to start filming.

"Hrm. Normally I'd be fine with you filming criminals for documentary purposes, but I'm not sure I approve of you filming a 30 ft. tall stone age woman, who also happens to be almost bare except the dress!" said Roshita in sheer disapproval.

"Sigh. We're trapped in this magic bubble, and all Roshita can do is complain about Valeriano's filming habits... anyway, I absolutely hope for the best outcome to happen; that Maya and Sofia can defeat Sharone and free us." said Calimero to himself.

"Now that's what I call a REALLY big woman! In a non-dirty way, I mean!" said Warrio in amazement.

"Ha ha ha hah! Not so tough now, are you girls! I DARE you to take me on. You won't stand a chance!" said Sharone as her laughter booms over the village.

"We're not scared of you, Sharone!! With Maya by my side, we'll be making the likelihood of your takeover of this village shrink by a HUGE margin!" Sofia told Sharone.

Sharone just lifts her left foot and proceeds to stomp on the tiny girls. Sofia grabs Maya's arm and runs off with her before Sharone can even step on them. Sharone is still in a good mood despite the miss she did.

"So you are running away after all. Well tell you what, you won't be able to run away from me. I'm gonna get you two by just walking towards you!" said Sharone and starts walking after Maya and Sofia.

Maya and Sofia keep running, evading the steps of the giant Sharone. No matter where they run though, Sharone is always behind them, gradually getting closer for each step.

"Pant... Sofia, we can't run forever. That Sharone woman is getting closer and closer!" said Maya.

"You are more than right. I think it's best we find a spot to hide at for now, and quick!" said Sofia.

They try to find themselves a hiding spot. It's proving to be rather futile though, because everywhere they run Sharone always manages to find them.

"You can run all you want, but I will be the one to get you first. Remember, I'm bigger than you, and I'll be able to reach you with just a few steps, ha ha ha..." said Sharone mockingly.

Maya and Sofia keep running, with Sharone wrecking a forest, mountain, and such as she slowly steps towards her targets. It then seems like Sofia and Maya have shaken off Sharone, because they can't see her anywhere.

"Phew... I-I think we've shaken her off now..." said Maya.

"Maybe... but I'm still not feeling so sure..." said Sofia.

They both stand still, panting and catching their breath. Then then get startled by a big foot slamming down in front of them. It now seems Sharone has already caught up to them.

"Ha hah, now I've got you cornered! Your running about to try and evade me is useless. You've got nowhere to run, and now you'll be feeling my power over everyone." said Sharone as she laughs at the tiny girls. She then raises her foot and steps on Maya, trapping her just under Sharone's toes.

"Maya!!" shouted Sofia.

"Darn, I missed that little duck girl again... even so, I'm gonna have my fun now, he he hee..." said Sharone and watches as Maya tries to free herself from under her foot. It's proving useless though, as her movements only results in Sharone adjusting her foot and grinding Maya further down into the ground with her toes.

"Ha ha hah. Your last days of living on this planet is getting closer unless you fight back. Come on, do much better than that." said Sharone and keeps having her "fun" with Maya.

"I gotta help her quick!!" said Sofia and runs over to the foot where Maya is trapped. She then gives it a real blow with her stone axe, which is enough to inflict pain on Sharone.

"OOW!!!" shouted Sharone and lifts up her foot, freeing Maya from her trap.

"Come on Maya, let's find a hiding spot real quick!" said Sofia and runs off with Maya. After a moment Sharone stops holding her foot in pain.

"Ooh, I'm soo gonna get those little brats if it's the last thing I do!!" said Sharone and starts walking after them, only being in a sourer mood compared to earlier.

"You both hear it, you puny little fleas! I WILL be getting my hands at you, at ANY cost!!" Sharone shouted at Maya and Sofia as she tries to find them again.

A moment later Sofia and Maya has now found a hiding spot behind a big boulder. Sharone meanwhile is still looking around for the girls, oblivious to the fact they've hidden themselves behind a rock.

"Phew, she won't be able to find us here." said Maya.

"She won't find us for now. But I do worry that she might eventually lose interest in us and go back to the village again..." said Sofia.

"Oh yeah, we've still got to save your village from certain doom." said Maya.

"Anyway, have you got any plan to defeat Sharone?" asked Sofia.

"I'm trying to think of one, but... I can't think of anything sensible that would work." said Maya.

"But I have already thought of one." said Sharone.

"Oh, great! What's the plan?" asked Maya.

"Well, since Sharone now can't find us, we MAY now have a chance of defeating her. One of us would need to distract her though." said Sofia.

"Ok, and which of us should be distracting her?" asked Maya.

"Hm... Maya, can you fly since you're a bee and all?" said Sofia.

"Only for a little bit, but it won't be enough to keep me airborne for seconds." said Maya.

"Well, you only have to fly for long enough to be able to cling on to Sharone's body." said Sofia.

"Why would I need to do that?" asked Maya out of curiosity.

"Well, I've found out since my last time of dealing with her, that Sharone is a bit ticklish of herself. Being ticklish is her biggest weakness, and the slightest touch on the most sensitive parts of her body can distract her quite easily." said Sofia.

"Hm, I get the idea. But does she have any protection against any form of tickling?" wondered Maya.

"Barely. She prefers wearing only her loincloth dress, and leaves her legs bare. She rarely if ever thinks of protecting herself against any kind of tickling, and she never seems to learn from her mistake." said Sofia.

"Alright. I think we're ready to set our plan in motion." said Maya and agrees to be the one to distract Sharone. With the plan set and ready, they both wait for the right moment to strike.

Sharone meanwhile, is growing rather bored looking for the girls, and feels it's time for her to return back to the village.

"Grr, it's no fun looking around for two little bugs that I now can't seem to find! I better go back to the village and set my plan in motion." said Sharon and walks back towards the village. She is unaware that Maya and Sofia are following her from behind, making sure not to be seen by her.

Back in the village, Calimero and friends are still trapped in the magic bubble. Warrio is getting mighty bored waiting for the finale while Valeriano amuses himself by making goofy faces while filming himself.

"Yaawn... WHEN are we gonna be outta here??" wondered Warrio.

"Calm down Warrio. Maya and Sofia are doing their best to stop Sharone. I'm sure they'll be setting the score with her soon." said Wario-Ware-Man.

"I'm also confident Maya and Sofia will get us out soon. Though I do wonder, if Sharone will ever return again." said Calimero. Just as he says this Sharone then comes back again.

"Ah, finally the almighty, gigantic woman has returned again from her little walk..." said Warrio sarcastically.

"Be quiet, fatso. You, along with everyone else will soon be freed from your little prison, but not in the way you expect, ha ha hah!" said Sharone.

"What made you return you again, and what have you done to Maya and Sofia?" asked Calimero.

"I grew bored of chasing those tiny little pests and decided to return here to set my big plan in motion." said Sharone.

"Realize it Sharone, you will have NO chance of succeeding with this plan of yours!!" Roshita told her.

"My words exactly! I'm confident Maya and Sofia will be stopping you just in time!" said Priscilla.

"Yawn, call me convinced. They probably ran away, and they won't be coming to save you guys!" said Sharone.

"Sorry if I say this again Sharone, but... I still don't think your name is very original. To me it just sounds like a rip-off of "Sharon"!" said Warrio.

"Be quiet you little blabbermouth, and NEVER insult my name again!!" Sharone told him.

"Right, sorry..." said Warrio.

"Now, to get back to my plan of throwing time into complete chaos." said Sharone.

"But that's where your little plan ends!!" said a female. Sharone looks down to see Sofia back in the village again.

"Ah, surprised to see you here again! So you have come back to play with me, haven't you?" Sharone asked her.

"I am indeed back, but it is YOU who is going to be the playground!!" said Sofia.

"Me, the playground??" said Sharone to herself, feeling a bit confused. She quickly brushes off Sofia's comment and is about to lower her foot down on Sofia. Sofia then starts to blow a whistle.

"What's she doing??" wondered Sharone.

Beneath Sharone, Maya the Bee looks up at her, ready to begin her little flight upwards.

"Right, Sofia's has given me her command. Now I just need to get up there." said Maya and with all the strength she starts using her wings to fly. Maya tries to locate Sharone's most sensitive spot, but is unsure where exactly it would be.

"What part of her body would be the most sensitive... aw, I don't think it matters. Anywhere could work!" said Maya. After flying for a bit she eventually grabs on to Sharone's upper left leg.

"Oh? What's that??" said Sharone as she feels something on her leg.

"Right, time to give this woman the tickle of her life!" said Maya and starts tickling Sharone. Sharone suddenly feels some intensive tickling on her leg and starts laughing uncontrollably.

"Ha ha ha hah, stop it, stop it!!" said Sharone and keeps stepping on her spot as the tickling won't come to a stop, causing the ground to shake as she keeps stepping with her feet. Sofia now sees her chance and runs over to the staff Sharone just dropped on the ground.

"Wow, her staff is rather big! No matter, I better locate the jewel on its tip and destroy it." said Sofia and tries to look for the jewel where the magic would be cast from. She then finds it and hits it with her axe, causing the jewel to break.

The magic bubble keeping Calimero and friends trapped now vanishes, freeing them all from their temporary prison.

"Huh, what's going on??" said Sharone and stops stepping on the spot after feeling something strange in her body. She then feels herself shrinking down.

"What's happening? Why are things getting bigger?? Aagh, that little Sofia fellow must have destroyed the jewel on my staff!! Curse her, and curse you all!!" said Sharone in disbelief. But it isn't long before she shrinks back to normal size... or so it would seem, because she starts shrinking down into nothingness.

"Hey guys, Sharone just disappeared! I wonder where she went..." wondered Valeriano.

"I wonder the same thing." said Calimero.

"I'm seeing her on the ground!" said Sofia.

They all head over to the spot where Sharone was standing miles high earlier, only to see her sitting down, now miniscule. Warriio can barely contain himself and starts laughing over her latest predicament.

"Bwaa ha ha ha! She looks like a silly version of a certain cartoon mouse!" Warriio mocked Sharone.

"Just knock it off you fat big... fatso! I'll be swearing my revenge on you guys next time. That also includes Calimero and his pathetic little friends!!" Sharone told them.

"You won't be seeing your revenge any time soon!" said Sofia and picks Sharone up with her fingers.

"You know, at her current size Sharone does look quite small. In fact, she's a little too small to be useful for anything." said Sofia and considers disposing of Sharone.

"Sofia, can I have her as a pet??" asked Angela.

"Sigh. Alright Angela, you can have her." said Sofia and reluctantly gives the tiny Sharone to Angela.

"Wow, it is amazing to be able to hold something so small!..." said Angela in amazement and wonder.

"You know, I could see some use for this little thing for my experiments. Could I have her later?" Rosie asked Angela.

"You may have her, but for now I just want to play with her." said Angela and starts playing with the tiny Sharone as if she is a toy. Warrio meanwhile have since untied VARIO and Piero.

"Are you ok VARIO??" Warrio asked him.

"I'm fine. Just a bit tired and shaken by the whole experience..." said VARIO while shaking a little bit.

"You know, since Sharone and her sidekicks got their hands on the time machine before we did, they must have figured out how to fix it somehow." said Piero.

"They might have fixed it in some way. Unfortunately, it got destroyed again due to the explosion of magic after I broke Sharone's staff." said Sofia.

"Aw noo, now we'll never be able to return back to our own time..." said a distraught Piero.

"Yeah. I've just been wanting to get back home by now." said VARIO.

"Don't worry guys. You invited us to have a look at the time machine and asking us to fix it, and we'll be keeping to our promise." said Giuliano. Piero and VARIO then suddenly jump up and down in sheer joy upon hearing this.

"Well Calimero. I get why VARIO and Piero are so excited over the news. And like them, we probably want to return back home as well." said Wario-Ware-Man.

"So do I Wario-Ware-Man. But it will be a while before we can get back to our own time since Calin and his friends will do their best to fix the machine with what they've got. Let's just spend our time together with them for the time being." said Calimero.

Later in the evening, the time machine has now been fixed, and Calimero and friends are ready to say their good byes to Calin and friends.

"Well guys, it's not an easy thing to do, but this is where we'll be taking our leave for home now." said Wario-Ware-Man.

"Yeah. It's been a sheer pleasure getting to know and work alongside you guys!" said Emma.

"So do we think as well. Without your involvement I don't think we would've been able to stop Sharone's latest plan." said Sofia.

"I wonder what became of those big Wario-noses we dealt with earlier." said Warrio.

"I don't think it's really that important to know what happened to those creatures. Maybe they're still chasing Bitterana by now, heh heh..." said Wario-Ware-Man.

Angela gives Calimero a kiss on the cheek as her way of thanking him for getting to know him better. Roshita is surprised to see Priscilla not reacting to this sort of interaction in any way.

"Priscilla, Angela just kissed your boyfriend! Aren't you even the slightest bit of mad??" a surprised Roshita asked her.

"I'm not jealous at all. I know Angela is my ancestor, and she has my permission to kiss and interact with Calimero in any way she likes." said Priscilla.

"If I'm honest, I'm still far too shy and nervous to ask Calin out on any dates, but I'll be working more on it from here on. Priscilla has taught me some valuable info that I'll be putting to use, should I try and approach my boyfriend in the future." said Angela.

"Good to know I could teach you some useful stuff." said Priscilla.

"You are a chick of purest heart and honesty, Priscilla. That's for sure!" said Roshita.

"Te hee, I know..." said Priscilla while blushing a little.

After goodbyes have been said, Calimero and his friends board the time machine, with Emma being at the drivers seat.

"Are you sure you know how to activate it, Emma?" asked Calimero.

"Well... this is my first time using this thing, so I'm not feeling so sure. I just hope that we'll get back to our own time." said Emma with a bit of uncertainty.

After adjusting the controls on the control board, Emma pulls the lever, and in a moment the machine starts to emit a bright glow, with sparkles coming out of it. Calin and his friends can't believe what they are seeing right now. The machine then disappears from sight, with Calimero and his friends being completely gone.

"Wow!! I never thought that the machine actually worked!" said Calin.

"I'm with you buddy. So there does exist different time periods after all. I hope to see more sights like this in the future!" said Giuliano.

"I'm starting to miss Calimero already. He was just so cute!" said Angela while wiping off some tears from her eyes.

"Don't worry Angela. I'm sure you'll see more of him in the future. I certainly want to see Roshita again as well." said Rosie.

"And I certainly hope to see Calimero and his friends again in the future. I would like to have their cooperation again should any more threats happen to our village..." said Sofia to herself as she keeps staring into the skies.

Inside the portal of time and space, Calimero and friends are now being sent back to their own timeline. They're nearly at the end of it, but it is still a bit left for them to travel right now.

"It's been a great journey." said Calimero.

"Yeah. Who would've thought that we'd meet ancestors of ours, and even help them defeat a cruel and evil woman!" said Priscilla.

"Emma, how long is it till we are in our own time?" asked Wario-Ware-Man.

"Hopefully in about a minute or so." said Emma.

"Good to know, because VARIO and Piero are starting to get a bit desperate..." said Wario-Ware-Man.

"Yeah, I can totally see that..." said Warrio while looking at Piero and VARIO sitting next to him, who looks like they're about to break down in despair in any moment.

A moment later, the time machine appears back in the museum, with Calimero and everyone still in the machine.

"Hm, is this the time period we're living in?" Wario-Ware-Man asked himself.

"By the looks of it, I can definitely say we're now back in the museum we were in earlier." said Emma.

"Yipee! We're back home, we're back home!!!" said Piero excitedly.

"My garlic, finally we're back where we are supposed to be!!" said VARIO with excitement and relief. Both Piero and VARIO jump off the machine and starts kissing the floor.

"Hah, I can tell they've both missed home!" said Warrio.

"You know, despite the ups and downs that happened, the adventure we just had today was more than exciting!" said Priscilla.

"I think the same as you. I would like to meet my ancestor again some time." said Roshita.

"I had the biggest time of my life in the stone age, and I also got to film and document many extraordinary sights!" said Valeriano with proudness.

"That reminds me. Valeriano, do you still have the footage of that Sharone fellow when she made herself bigger?" Roshita asked him.

"Yes. Why do you ask?" asked Valeriano back.

"Well, you better get rid of it now, or you'll be seeing some very big scolding from your girlfriend here!!" Roshita demanded him.

"Roshita!! The footage I filmed wasn't for my own amusement or to ogle at other girls, but to document interesting and fascinating sights and events from past time periods!" Valeriano told her off.

"I agree with Valeriano for once. Roshita, you better stop with your jealousy and suspicions for a moment! Let him have a moment of triumph for once!" Calimero told her. Not knowing what else to say, Roshita just crosses her arms and pouts in irritation.

"I found the whole journey very interesting. I'd definitely wanna try and go back in time again someday!" said Emma.

"Well, the whole journey sure was pretty interesting, and I would like to do that as well, but... that time won't be now. Not in a very long time at least..." said VARIO.

"What?? You guys would like to go back in time again?!! If you wanna do that, then DON'T count me in on following with you guys next time! Also, traveling back and forth in time is a very dangerous thing to do. It's much safer to remain in your OWN timeline!" said Piero.

"But Piero..." said Priscilla.

"No, just NO! You may have had your fun, but I certainly didn't!!" said Piero and is about to walk away, only to bump into a large dinosaur skeleton on display. He looks up and gets scared stiff upon seeing it.

"Gaah!? Have I just travelled back in time, or... Waah!!!" Piero screamed and runs away in panic with the others following him. In his rush Piero falls down on the small set of stairs leading up to the room they were in, landing on his belly.

"Piero, are you alright!?" asked Calimero.

"Ow... well, I'm alright, but... guess I'm still a bit shocked by the whole experience. Suppose it'll take me some time before I forget about it all..." said Piero while still lying down on the floor.

"Well, suppose someone among us needs to cool down a bit, heh heh..." said Warrio.

"But... Piero, didn't you find any bits of the experience fun or exciting??" asked Maya.

"Well... meeting Peter was probably the only thing I found to be good... other than that though, I... I guess I just need to lie down when we get home, and forget what I've seen... and I'm still adamant on me not going back in time again, because... I don't wanna see yet another version of Susie mistaking me for someone else..." said Piero. Calimero and friends just starts laughing after Piero says his last words.

The End...