

It is a relatively normal, but stormy and rainy day in town. In their flat Warrio and VARIO are watching TV, having nothing else to do.

"Meh, today's TV is rather boring..." said Warrio.

"So do I think as well. It's quite stormy outside though." said VARIO.

"Sure is. But don't worry, we're indoors now, and this weather will most likely come to pass later on." said Warrio.

Suddenly it starts thundering outside, and lightning strikes the antenna just outside the living room window. With no TV to watch due to the antenna being fried, Warrio feels it is time to go fix the antenna.

"So the antenna is apparently broken... VARIO, will you go out and fix the antenna?" Warrio asked him.

"Are you nuts?? It's storming outside, and I'll more than likely get hit by the lightning should I climb out of the window!!" said VARIO.

"VARIO, get out there and fix the antenna NOW! I have to tune in to the Condor-News!" said Warrio.

"No way, just no! I'm NOT going out there!" VARIO refused.

"Just get out there now! Nothing's gonna happen to you by simply climbing out of a window!" said Warrio and makes VARIO climb out to the window anyway.

"There. Now fix that antenna, and be quick about it!" said Warrio and goes back to the sofa again.

"Gulp... Warrio doesn't realize how dangerous this thing really is. I'll be more than likely to plummet down should anything happen now!" said VARIO to himself. He takes a look at the antenna besides him. So far nothing seems to happen.

"Phew, looks like it's been fried pretty badly! Now to remove the antenna and replace it with one of our reserves..." said VARIO and is about to touch the antenna.

As VARIO knew it would happen, he gets struck by the lightning, completely fried black, and falls down towards a very muddy puddle of water where a bunch of Wario-Noses are currently bathing.

"Yuck. I knew this would happen... ah well, might as well just head back in..." said VARIO and trudges his way to the front door of the apartment complex, completely covered in mud and Wario-Noses.

"Hm, the door's locked, and I don't have the keys with me... Warrio, anyone, open the door!!" VARIO yelled and starts banging on the door to get someone's attention. But just as he is about to slam on the door his fist passes right through it.

"What the..." said VARIO, feeling completely clueless as to why his fist just went through the door. He then tries going through the door without opening it, and it works, with all the mud and snails being left outside.

"So I can pass through things now?? How convenient, and clever! Hm, I'm gonna test this out some more." said VARIO and starts thinking of some stuff to do with his new powers.

Inside their flat, Warrio is now having headphones on his head, digging to some music from WarioWare Inc. Mega Microgames. VARIO then enters the living room and sits himself on the sofa next to Warrio.

"Ah, there you are. Wonder where you gone off to for a moment." said Warrio.

"Well, I couldn't open the door at first, but I eventually got back in." said VARIO.

"Right... say, did you fix the antenna?" asked Warrio.

"Naw, I got struck by the lightning outside." said VARIO.

"Ouch... maybe it was a bad idea of me to make you go out there after all." said Warrio apologetically.

"Aw, don't worry about it..." said VARIO. After a moment of just sitting on the sofa VARIO starts gradually disappearing into the sofa until he's no longer seen, leaving only the cap visible where VARIO once was sitting.

"My garlic, what is it that I'm seeing?! VARIO sat himself on the sofa, only to disappear and leave his cap behind??" said Warrio in disbelief and confusion. VARIO's cap then disappears as well.

"And now his cap is also gone!?! Um... maybe I should stop watching too many garlic cooking programs from now on..." said Warrio and tries to shrug it all off as a imagination.

Using his ability to pass through things, VARIO goes into Warrio's big stereo which would also be big enough for someone to hide behind, unplugs his headphones from the jack, and turns the volume all the way up. His feet then pops out of the stereo, and starts running around on the spot, making it look like the stereo has started to come to life.

"What in the garlic is going on? The stereo is moving on its own?! I must be seeing things... Graah!! Make this blasted noise stop!!!" said Warrio and dives head first into the sofa to drown out the music, not able to stand the high noise.

A moment later, Warrio's now sitting on the sofa with a couple thermometers in his mouth and a pair of pillows strapped onto his head. At the same time VARIO is now hanging on the roof to some other room above, rolling around on rollerskates.

"Hm, I know I should be finding this fun, but yet it feels like I'm sort of defying the law of physics in a way..." said VARIO, almost breaking the fourth wall. When he is just above where Warrio is sitting, VARIO's hands starts to slip through the roller skates, making him fall down.

"Oh garlic, I hadn't accounted for something like this to happen!" said VARIO and lands right on Warrio upside down, with both becoming submerged.

"Oh, hi there..." said VARIO.

"YAAH!!! Get off me, get off me!!!" said Warrio and starts to run around in blind panic.

"I am trying to get out, but you're not making it any easier by just running around!" VARIO told him.

After a bit of running around Warrio stops to rest a little. VARIO then finally gets out of Warrio.

"Phew, at last we're unstuck... sorry I falled into you Warrio!" said VARIO and disappears through a wall.

"I... I think I've seen enough now..." said Warrio and just tries to live his life like normal.

Warrio heads out of the living room, but everywhere he goes he sees VARIO messing with his insolidity on things just to amuse himself. Warrio rushes into the bathroom and barricades the door with planks.

"There. That'll keep that weirdo away..." said Warrio in relief. He then sees VARIO's arm appearing through the door pointing to a nail he didn't hammer in completely.

"Grr, alright then!" said Warrio and slams the nail into place with his hammer. He then sits down on the toilet seat.

"Gulp... I-I certainly hope that guy won't get in here!" said Warrio and keeps looking around the room. VARIO's arm then appears beside him through the wall holding a toilet roll and gives it to him.

"You need any toilet roll?" said VARIO from outside.

"Er... n-no thanks, I'll just keep being in here for a while!!" said Warrio and dives into the toilet and shuts the lid over him. From outside the toilet on the other end, VARIO just keeps laughing. However, he soon starts to grow bored of it all.

"Yaawn. Sure has been fun going through walls and stuff, but at some point you've got to live your life..." said VARIO and heads back to the living room to start gaming, but the Wii Remote just slips through his hand no matter how many times he picks it up. He then tries to pick up the remote to the TV, but it also slips through his hand.

"Kraa-ha-ha-ha-haaa!!" Warrio's parrot started laughing after seeing these things happening.

"Hm, in a way the parrot is absolutely right... there IS a downside or two with being able to pass through things..." said VARIO to himself.

VARIO goes to the kitchen to get himself something to eat. He picks a garlic from the bowl and puts it in his mouth, but it passes right through him. He then picks up the whole bowl and hurls all the garlic down his throat, but every single garlic just falls through him and down on the floor, still whole.

"Aaw, why can't I even eat things nowr?!!" said VARIO to himself, growing a bit annoyed over not being able to eat or touch things.

On his way to the bedroom VARIO sees Warrio just standing in place, with bloodshot eyes and his mouth full of thermometers. VARIO just sighs.

"Don't worry, I'm done trying to bother you. Now if you excuse me, I'm going to the bedroom to take myself a nap..." said VARIO and heads to the bedroom. As VARIO walks away every single thermometer in Warrio's mouth starts blowing up, one by one. It is clear that Warrio's experience with VARIO this day has made the former feel less than safe in his own home.

After getting into the bedroom, VARIO tries to lie down on the bed. At first it looks like he isn't going to pass through it, but after a second he passes through the bed and falls on the floor.

"Ow! ... being able to pass through stuff sure isn't fun anymore. If only there was a way to turn myself back to normal..." said VARIO and starts to think. He then gets an idea and heads out.

Later outside the apartment building, VARIO is now standing outside in the rainy and stormy weather, now covered in mud and Wario-Noses like the first time.

"Right, just so I haven't missed any details now... I'll be standing out here, completely covered in mud and Wario-Noses, waiting for the lightning to strike me." VARIO repeated to himself for the 15th time.

"Yeah. I'm fairly confident that if this is what made me able to pass through things, then the same thing can be done to reverse the effects!" said VARIO with great confidence.

VARIO keeps standing in his spot, hoping for the lightning to strike him. Sure enough, after a bit of waiting the lightning then strikes VARIO... or so it appears at first.

"Hm? Was that all? I heard some loud thundering, but yet I didn't feel anything... might as well try and touch something." said VARIO and tries to touch a chair standing besides him. He is disappointed to find that he still can't touch things.

"So the lightning just passed right through me, without affecting me at all... bummer." said VARIO.

At just this moment VARIO sees Warrio passing by. Upon seeing VARIO he looks like is about to go crazy in any minute. VARIO starts to feel rather annoyed by his recent behaviour, along with the fact that his plan didn't work out in the way he hoped.

"Oh, shut it!" said VARIO and goes back into the apartment building, leaving Warrio in his spot.

"What was it that made him so irritated??" wondered Warrio and scratches his cap in confusion.

Later, VARIO is now in the flat of Calimero and friends telling them about his situation.

"So you're saying you can pass through things?" asked Calimero.

"Yes. It all started when Warrio asked me to go fix the antenna. I got hit by the lightning and fell into a puddle of mud and Wario-Noses. After trying to open the door to this building I found that I could just pass through it. After that I decided to play a few tricks on Warrio, and quickly got bored of it. Since then I've only wanted to return to be able to touch things without them falling through my hands all the time!" VARIO explained his story to the group.

"Neat!" said Roshita.

"So, could you demonstrate to us your new ability to pass through stuff?" asked Priscilla.

"Sure." said VARIO and walks into Calimero's bedroom door. Contrary to their expectations, he just walks right through it. None of them can quite believe what they're seeing.

"Now THAT looks rather cool!" said Piero in amazement.

"I don't know what to think... even if I were to pass through stuff, I don't think I would use it to sneak into other peoples' rooms." said Susie, feeling rather weirded out by the sight.

"Look, VARIO is now coming out of the bathroom!" said Priscilla and points to VARIO walking out of the bathroom, with the door still being shut.

"This is rather extraordinary!!" said Calimero.

"It sure is buddy!" said Valeriano.

"Well, it may look cool and all, but... I'm starting to get sick of it." said VARIO.

"But why??" asked Valeriano.

"Yeah, why?" Roshita also asked.

"Well, I can't live a normal life if every single thing I try and grab with my hands just passes right through me!!" said VARIO.

"Hm, maybe we should see this for ourselves." said Priscilla.

"Yeah." said Calimero and hands over a banana to VARIO. It just passes through his hand.

"Right, that didn't work... how about this flower pot?" said Roshita and gives it to VARIO, but it falls and breaks into pieces. Calimero and his friends starts to see the downsides of his new condition.

"So VARIO can't grab anything as long as he's able to pass through stuff." said Priscilla.

"Yeah, that seems to be some of the downsides with his new condition." said Roshita.

"Worst of all; I can't even eat or drink!!" said VARIO.

"Yeah, I could imagine all the food and such just falling through him..." said Piero.

"Piero!" the group told him.

"Come on, I wasn't even joking!" said Piero.

"He is right. Anything I put into my mouth just passes right through me. Let me demonstrate..." said VARIO and pulls up a garlic from his pocket, and quickly throws it into his mouth. Calimero and the others just watches as the garlic passes right through him, completely whole.

"Ok, I'm taking back what I just said..." said Valeriano.

"Me too. Sorry for telling you off Piero." said Roshita.

"Naw, don't mention it." said Piero.

"VARIO's newfound ability to pass through things does indeed create problems for him. I think we better help him out!" said Priscilla.

"We should! Even something like this won't be able to stop us. In some way we should be able to help VARIO." said Calimero.

"Yes. But how..." wondered Valeriano.

Meanwhile, in the flat opposite the Green Team the door opens, with Wario-Ware-Man having returned from his little trip on his Wario-Bike.

"I'm back guys! How's your day been?" said Wario-Ware-Man. He then sees Warrio just sitting on the sofa, appearing to be in a bit of thought.

"Um, Warrio. Why are you sitting on the sofa like that? Where's VARIO?" asked Wario-Ware-Man.

"VARIO has somehow been able to pass through things lately, and almost drove me mad when he was fooling around with that new ability of his. I realized that he didn't really intend for it to happen, so I gone back inside to think over what made him able to pass through stuff..." said Warrio.

"Hm, I have heard of such occurences happening before. Whatever may have caused this, I think we better go find VARIO and return him back to normal. Where is he by the way?" said Wario-Ware-Man.

"He's in the Green Team's flat right now." said Warrio.

"Alright, we'll be heading over to them after I'm done putting this little Wario-Nose trophy somewhere safe." said Wario-Ware-Man while holding said trophy in his hands.

"Where'd you get that from??" asked Warrio.

"I found it on a second hand market during my little trip, tucked away deep into a corner. I just couldn't pass this thing on since its design is just absolutely fabulous!" said Wario-Ware-Man after putting the trophy on the table, which is of a Wario-Nose in the most golden and sparkling color ever seen.

A while later, Wario-Ware-Man and Warrio are now in the Green Team's flat to try figure out a way to cure VARIO from his ability to pass through things.

"So if I'm getting this right, VARIO here was just trying to fix the antenna in our flat, and after getting hit by lightning he fell down into a puddle full with mud and Wario-Noses, and from there on he gained the ability to pass through things. Is that right?" said Wario-Ware-Man.

"Yep. That's exactly what he told us." said Calimero.

"It's totally true. But this new ability also comes with the downside of not being able to hold or grab things, and I can't even eat!" said VARIO.

"Hm, that is another problem indeed... but don't you worry VARIO, we're gonna find a cure for you in no time!" said Wario-Ware-Man.

"Indeed we will!" said Valeriano while pulling out his chemistry set and dusting it off, feeling it's time for him to give it another go.

"coughs eew, so dusty... anyway, this new problem we're about to tackle gives me an opportunity to give my chemistry set another spin!" said Valeriano.

"Do you think this chemistry set could be used to brew a cure for VARIO?" wondered Wario-Ware-Man.

"Certainly! I've once used it to make a formula that grows the subject." said Valeriano.

"I can only wonder what new things might await us..." said Susie.

"There's no time to waste. Let's find a cure for VARIO, and quick!" said Calimero.

Down in the garage, the chemistry set is now laid out on the table, complete with flasks and experiment tubes and everything.

"Ok, I think we're ready to get to work. Roshita and Piero, would you go and get me the needed ingredients?" Valeriano asked them.

After Roshita and Piero return with the ingredients Valeriano starts to brew and mix with the formula flasks. The others watch in awe and wonder as Valeriano keeps toiling away at the table.

"You know, despite him mainly being a cameraman and doing skateboarding, Valeriano sure is quite a good chemist!" said Warrio.

"Thanks for the compliment, but even now my experiments could likely fail. There's no guarantee a cure can be found for VARIO. But I'll do my best." said Valeriano and keeps experimenting with things.

Valeriano eventually finishes the potion and pours some of the liquid into a glass.

"There. Let's see if this works." said Valeriano and gives the glass to Warrio takes the glass, who in turn gives it to VARIO.

"There VARIO, drink it all up." said Warrio and gives the glass to VARIO. It just slips through his hand and shatters on the floor.

"Aw no. I totally forgot about this. It's going to be much trickier than I thought to give him the cure..." said Valeriano and starts to think. He then pulls out a drinking straw and puts it into a new glass, which he then gives to Warrio.

"Ok VARIO, let's see if you can drink it now." said Warrio.

"But, I can't even eat anything." said VARIO.

"I know. But we've got to try anyway." said Warrio and tells VARIO to sip up the cure from the glass. He tries to sip it through the straw, but anything he drinks of it just falls through him and onto the floor.

"Nope. Didn't work either." said Warrio.

"Hm, what should we try next?" wondered Calimero.

Thinking of something quick, Warrio tries to splash the cure on VARIO's face with the glass. It's no use though, because the liquid simply lands right behind VARIO.

"Also didn't work..." said Calimero.

"My garlic. This sure is gonna be a tough Wario-Nose to crack..." said Warrio.

After trying numerous methods of giving VARIO the cure, Valeriano is now on the edge of giving up.

"Aagh, it's hopeless! As long as VARIO can't eat or drink anything without it passing through him, we'll never be able to cure him..." said Valeriano in defeat. Wario-Ware-Man meanwhile has been thinking REAL hard by now.

"Hm, since all methods to give VARIO the cure have failed, and VARIO not being able to drink it himself since it just passes through him, there has got to be a different way to tackle the problem..." said Wario-Ware-Man and keeps thinking for a moment. He then gets an idea.

"Aha, I think I've got it!!" said Wario-Ware-Man.

"What Wario-Ware-Man?" asked Calimero.

"Since VARIO can't eat or drink anything because it all just passes through him, maybe using a machine could work!" said Wario-Ware-Man.

"Um, I'm not feeling so sure there..." said Valeriano in a bit of doubt.

"Look, Wario-Ware-Man here isn't as stupid as he looks. He has always had a knack for making inventions, with most of them being a success. From a weather manipulating machine to a remote controller which can teleport the user into a TV show, Wario-Ware-Man sure knows his stuff!" said Warrio.

"Hm... ok, go ahead with making your invention. I'm out of ideas anyway..." said Valeriano.

"Alright, let's get to work!" said Wario-Ware-Man and immediately starts working on the machine right away, with Warrio and Piero helping him.

"I wonder if this idea will work..." wondered Priscilla.

"I don't know either. Maybe it will work, maybe it won't. Right now we can't know for sure." said Susie.

Wario-Ware-Man, Warrio, and Piero keeps working on the new machine. About half an hour later Wario-Ware-Man's invention is now done.

"Phew, at last, it is finally complete!" said Warrio.

"And it only took us half an hour to construct." said Wario-Ware-Man.

"You sure are a fast worker Wario-Ware-Man!" said Priscilla.

"Usually it would take me an hour or more to make an invention, but with the help of Warrio and Piero, we managed to complete it in less than an hour." said Wario-Ware-Man.

"Ah, it's nothing..." said Piero.

"So, what should we call this thing?" asked Warrio.

"Well... I'm gonna call it... the "Solidator Machine"!! This invention will be the key to end VARIO's life of insolidity!" said Wario-Ware-Man with pride.

"Um, is it safe for me to go in there??" asked VARIO out of nervousity.

"I'm sure you'll be ok VARIO. Just get in there now ok." Calimero encouraged him.

"Ok, if you say so." said VARIO and walks over to the machine. After he enters it the door suddenly shuts.

"Hey, what's going on here?? Let me out, let me out!!!" said a confused and scared VARIO, and starts banging on the door.

"Don't worry VARIO. The reason we're locking you in is to make sure the process goes smoothly." Wario-Ware-Man assured him.

"Ok, so... W-will I be let out once it's all done??" wondered VARIO.

"You will be let out after the machine has done its work. Now stop worrying, nothing bad is gonna happen. At least I hope..." said Wario-Ware-Man.

"Will there be any side effects as a result of using the machine?" Calimero asked Wario-Ware-Man.

"This is my very first time testing it, so I'm not yet sure whether any side effects would happen. Even so, I don't think anything bad is going to happen." said Wario-Ware-Man.

"Alright. Let's just hope for the best then." said Calimero.

"Warrio, go and get a glass with VARIO's cure for me, will you?" Wario-Ware-Man asked him.

"Alright." said Warrio and goes to get the glass. After Warrio gives it to him Wario-Ware-Man opens a small lid on the machine's side and pours the liquid into it, after which he closes the lid again.

"You know, despite his looks, Wario-Ware-Man seems to know a thing or two when it comes to inventing stuff!" remarked Roshita.

"Yeah. Admittedly, even I couldn't do something as advanced and complex like that thing in front of us..." said Valeriano.

Wario-Ware-Man walks to the control board and makes the necessary adjustments. After having fiddled a little with the buttons and such he feels the machine is ready for testing.

"Ok VARIO, are you ready?" Wario-Ware-Man asked him. VARIO tries his best to swallow his fear and nervousity.

"I... I'm kind of ready, I think." said VARIO.

"Alright. I'm gonna activate the machine now." said Wario-Ware-Man and presses the big button on the control board and backs away, with everyone else doing the same.

They're all watching the machine do its work, and the room with VARIO inside is now filled with red/orange-y clouds of smoke. After about minute the machine stops and the door opens. After the smoke has dissipated VARIO is shown to be fine and well just like before.

"How are you feeling VARIO?" asked Calimero.

"Em... not too bad actually. I thought it was gonna be a lot worse." said VARIO.

"Why not get out of the machine and try touching something so we can see if the cure works?" Priscilla asked him.

"Ok..." said VARIO and heads out of the machine. He tries touching one of the flasks on the table, but to his disappointment he still can't seem to touch anything.

"Aaw, no difference even now..." said VARIO.

"Indeed. Looks like the invention also didn't work..." said Susie.

"I'm not feeling defeated just yet. It might take a moment for the cure to actually take effect. Let's just wait a little and see..." said Wario-Ware-Man.

"I'm gonna try something... VARIO, try and grab this garlic off my hand here." said Warrio.

VARIO grabs the garlic in his hand, and to Warrio's surprise and relief VARIO seems to be able to hold it. It eventually drops through his hand though.

"Hm, an improvement!" said Warrio.

"It is! While the garlic eventually fell down, it is at least a sign that VARIO's solidity is starting to return again." said Calimero.

"I'm feeling so thrilled to see my cure is actually working!!" said Valeriano in excitement.

"And I see that VARIO is now heading outside to try and touch things, heh heh." said Warrio.

Outside the garage, VARIO is now walking around, trying to touch anything he can. For each and every time he touches something, his solidity returns more and more.

"Wahoo! I can touch stuff with my hands again!" said VARIO and keeps walking around touching stuff.

However, things are about to take a turn for the worse; In the distance, one of the towns most residential and renowned thieves, Suzana, is seen heading his way with a pair of stolen moneybags in her hands.

She doesn't see where she's running, and passes through VARIO as his solidity returns again. As this happens the camera now focuses on Calimero and the group, who stands just outside the garage watching in terror at the sight.

"I... I can't believe what I'm seeing right now!!" said Priscilla.

"Me neither! But they both seem to be merging together!!" said Valeriano.

With the scene now switching back to VARIO and Suzana, they are now shown to have been fused together, with Suzana stuck to VARIO's back facing away from him.

"H-hey, what in the garlic just happened??" said VARIO.

"Let me down you stupid black n white clad fatso!!" Suzana told him.

"I can't you stupid little chick!! You're stuck to my back! Now, get off of me as well!!" VARIO told him.

"Aargh! ... right, if you won't let me down, then I'll have to do this..." said Suzana and after some struggling she somehow manages to get up on her own feet again, with VARIO now no longer having his feet on the ground.

"But hey, you can't just do this to me!?! " said VARIO in confusion.

"Sorry, but I'm going back to my HQ now!" said Suzana and picks up her moneybags, and starts running off. Both VARIO and Suzana keep yelling at each other as the latter runs off with VARIO stuck to her back.

Calimero and friends gives chase, main goal being to bring VARIO and Suzana back to the garage to fix the whole mess.

"You know, I'm not feeling too thrilled over seeing a fatso and thief being stuck to each other! I sure hope we can get them unstuck again!" said Piero.

"I agree Piero. If we don't find them and get them unstuck, them running about the town is sure to cause an uproar, and who knows what else would happen!" said Valeriano. Everyone else in the group seems to agree with Piero. Surprised to not see any opposition from their sides, Piero just scratches the cap on his head.

"My garlic. I hadn't expected things to take such a bad turn!" said Wario-Ware-Man.

"Don't worry Wario-Ware-Man. I'm sure we'll get them back soon enough." said Warrio.

"Yes, but that won't be without them causing an entire uproar or confusion while they keep running about." said Wario-Ware-Man.

At one point it seems like Calimero and the group have lost sight of VARIO and Suzana. They stop to have a look around.

"Where have they gone now?" wondered Calimero.

"I wonder the same thing as you." said Priscilla.

"They've got to be around town somewhere..." said Valeriano.

"I see them on a bridge over there!" said Warrio and points to a bridge where Suzana and VARIO are now running across. While VARIO is struggling to get back up on his feet Suzana starts losing her balance.

"Hey you, stop doing that!" Suzana told him. She eventually loses her balance and they both fall down from the bridge. A loud thump is then heard.

"They fell down from the bridge!" said Priscilla.

"Come guys, let's get to the bridge quick to see where they fell!" said Calimero and rushes with everyone to the bridge. They stand by the edge and looks down to see VARIO and Suzana lying on the ground below, knocked out from the fall.

After some time, VARIO wakes up to find himself on a bed in a hospital room.

"W-what am I doing in here?! Weren't we on that bridge earlier?? What is this place??" VARIO said to himself. He still feels Suzana stuck to his backside, screaming at the doctors outside the room.

"Listen up idiots! I'm not some kind of patient, I'm a thief!! Just let go of me already!" Suzana kept shouting.

"Suzana, just keep quiet will you! Shouting won't make us be let go of!!" said VARIO.

"Oh... alright then fatso." said Suzana and utters under her breath. VARIO and Suzana overhears the doctors outside discussing their new patients, and they're both shocked to find out what they're going to do with them.

"They're... They're gonna perform surgery on us?!!" said VARIO in shock.

"NO way I'm gonna go through this! I'm outta here!!" said Suzana and tries to get back up on her feet to no avail.

"Suzana, you're still stuck to my backside. It won't help you any further by trying to get yourself back up!" said VARIO.

"You heard what they were talking about didn't you?!? They're gonna perform surgery on us!! It's your fault for getting ourselves into this situation!" said Suzana.

"No, it is YOUR OWN fault! If you hadn't run into me, we wouldn't have been here by now!" VARIO told her.

"Blah blah blah, it's my fault as always..." said Suzana and starts uttering under her breath again.

"Sigh... I'm starting to regret everything that's happened up until this point. From passing through objects to bothering Warrio. If I hadn't done that last thing, I wouldn't of been here with a little thief chick stuck to my back..." VARIO thought to himself.

Meanwhile, Wario-Ware-Man, Calimero and co are running as fast as they can towards the hospital. It's only a short distance away, but it's still a matter of time before it's all too late.

"Pant... I hope we can get there in time!" said Susie.

"We will Susie. The hospital is just ahead!" said Valeriano.

"I sure do hope we aren't too late already!" said Wario-Ware-Man.

Once they arrive at the hospital they barge in through the main door and rushes among the corridors, but are stopped by the lady sitting at the desk where patients or visitors book their appointments.

"Sorry for stopping you, but you can't just rush in like that." said the lady.

"We're here to visit a close friend of ours. Can you let us in?" asked Calimero.

"Have you made an appointment before hand?" asked the lady.

"No. But this is really urgent! We don't wanna waste time talking about any appointments!" said Warrio.

"I'm sorry, but I won't let you in until you tell me if you do have an appointment." said the lady, not letting Calimero and guys in despite their protests.

Thinking of something very quickly, Susie heads out of the building and pulls up her cell phone to start dialing the number to the hospital she happened to glance at the lady's desk.

"There. Good thing the phone number was easily visible from a distance. They sure aren't very thorough with keeping it hidden from the eyes of others." said Susie and keeps pressing the buttons on her phone. After having dialed the number she waits for someone to answer.

"Hi, is this the hospital I've reached? Good, my name is Susie, and me and my friends would like to book an appointment to visit one of our closest friends. Could you do that for me? ... Ok, great! Do make it quick too." said Susie. After having gotten it all sorted out she turns her phone off and pumps her fists in accomplishment.

"Yes, yes, yes! I did it!! Now, I'll just head back in and tell the lady..." said Susie and heads back into the hospital.

Back inside Calimero and friends are still arguing over the entire situation, with the lady at the desk understandably puzzled.

"You better let us in now, or we'll go in anyway!!" said Piero.

"Yeah. I don't want us to be late in visiting my brother before he's taken away for some operation!" said Warrio. The lady at the desk just scratches her head as everyone keeps arguing at her from left to right.

"Guys, stop arguing with that poor lady!!" said Susie as she comes running.

"But she won't let us in Susie, and we'll be too late unless she doesn't do something!" said Valeriano.

"I know, but let me handle this... I'm sorry about my friends here bothering you, but we have a time booked for an appointment." said Susie.

"I'm not quite sure if you're telling the truth, but I'll check..." said the lady and looks at the list of people who have booked times for visiting, and sees Calimero and friends' names on the list.

"You're right young lady, you do have a time booked! How come I didn't see it before?" said the lady.

"Don't worry about it miss. We all make mistakes." said Susie.

"Ok, since you do have a time booked, I'm letting you in. Hope you'll be having a good visit." said the lady.

"Alright, thanks!" said Priscilla.

"Thanks Susie for saving us at the last minute." said Calimero.

"Aw, it was nothing big really." said Susie while blushing a little bit.

"Now, we better hurry and get to the operation room quick!" said Calimero and starts running with the others to get to VARIO and Suzana before things are too late.

Meanwhile, VARIO and Suzana are now on the table where the surgery is going to be performed. VARIO is clapping his teeth at the sight of all the knives and surgery tools while Suzana keeps arguing with the doctors.

"If you idiots don't let me go now I'll kick you in the behind, you hear it?? Grr, when I get myself on my feet again I'll show you a thing or two!!" Suzana shouted at the doctors. They're clearly not listening, and in less than a minute VARIO and Suzana are both put to sleep. Suzana is first to be knocked out, but for VARIO the sleeping gas doesn't seem to be kicking in.

"Hm, strange. I'm still awake... maybe the gas doesn't have any effect." said VARIO to himself. Just after making this remark though VARIO is suddenly knocked out by the sleeping gas.

At the same time, Calimero and friends are running as fast they can to the door where the doctors will be doing the planned surgery.

"There it is guys! This must be the room VARIO and Suzana have been taken to!" said Calimero.

"Open the door! Open it!" said Valeriano and starts banging on the door, with everyone else doing the same. It's no use though since it appears that nobody is going to open it.

"It's useless. Maybe the surgery is already underway!" said Calimero.

"Please don't say this is happening!!" said Warrio.

"I'm sure it's not Warrio! At least not yet, but it could very well be happening in any minute! I wonder if we can disturb them in some way..." said Wario-Ware-Man. After hearing his comment Susie gets an idea and starts faking herself having a badly hurt leg.

"OW, OOW! My leg huuurts so baad!!" Susie started to shriek while hopping around the room. Susie's screaming catches the doctors' attention. They abandon the surgery for a moment and rushes out of the surgery room to see what the fuss is about. Outside they see Susie standing with her right leg stretched out, screaming as if she's in pain. She is clearly overacting the whole scenario, and being overly dramatic.

"I've got to admit that Susie is apparently very good at acting, and faking a pain!" Wario-Ware-Man whispered to himself.

"My leg hurts. It huuurts!!" said Susie.

"How hurt is your leg?" asked one of the doctors.

"Ooh, my leg hurts so badly I can barely even walk!" said Susie while overdramatizing the whole thing. The doctors go away for a moment to discuss the situation.

"Ok, so now we have not only two, but three patients to attend to. What should we do?" asked one of the doctors the other.

"That is indeed the question... guess we have to split our resources to tend to both the two who are stuck to each other, and that girl with her broken leg." said the other doctor.

With the doctors gone, Calimero and friends sees their chance and sneaks into the surgery room. Susie follows them, but suddenly trips over something, hurting her leg for real.

"AOOW, my leg!!!" Susie screamed, her shrieks now being more genuine, and also says "ow" whenever she tries to move or even get up on her feet.

Just then Calimero and friends are seen rushing out with the trolley VARIO and Suzana are lying on, only to stop and see Susie sitting on the floor holding her leg.

"You can stop acting now Susie, the doctors are already gone. Now get up on your feet and follow us out of the hospital, quick!" said Valeriano.

"But I can't!" Susie tried to tell her friends, but is left to her own because Calimero and the others have to get out of the hospital as quickly as possible before the doctors come back.

"Hey, wait for me!! ... typical. When you have your leg broken for real, you're suddenly left behind by your own friends... but I can't sit around here all day. I have to catch up with them somehow." said Susie and gets up, and starts limping her way out of the hospital, hoping to catch up with her friends in one way or another.

Meanwhile, Calimero and friends have just gotten out of the hospital. The alarms haven't started, but they realize they must get back to the garage quickly.

"Ok we've got VARIO and Suzana now. But I don't think running around the streets with the trolley is a good idea." said Calimero.

"Yeah. I've thought about it too, so why don't we take my Wario-Bike here." said Wario-Ware-Man and pulls out his Wario-Bike.

"Wario-Ware-Man, HOW did that bike of yours fit inside your pocket??" said Warrio in surprise.

"Um, I don't know... but let's not mind that now. Only question is how would we be able to drag the trolley with us..." said Wario-Ware-Man. Warrio roots in Wario-Ware-Man's bike and finds a rope.

"I found this rope here. Would it be any good?" asked Warrio.

"Why don't we tie the trolley behind Wario-Ware-Man bike with the rope?" Calimero suggested.

"Hm. Since I can't think of any other way to bring the trolley with us, maybe we ought to try it." said Wario-Ware-Man and takes the rope. After having tied the trolley behind the bike, Wario-Ware-Man and the others hop up on the bike and quickly drives off. Susie then gets out of the hospital only to see Wario-Ware-Man and the others driving off.

"Sigh, there they go again..." said Susie and starts limping after them, but stops to see a bicycle parked next to the hospital building.

"I know I shouldn't do this, but... whatever, I don't think anyone will notice." said Susie and takes the bike, and starts cycling after Calimero and co.

Wario-Ware-Man and friends keep on driving, and so far the journey seems to go pretty smoothly.

"I can't see anyone coming after us just yet." said Warrio while looking behind the bike from time to time.

"Phew. No one seems to be chasing us. I think we can rest easy for now..." said Valeriano.

"I don't think so, because an ambulance seems to be coming after us now! Wario-Ware-Man, drive to the garage faster!!" said Calimero.

"I can't. The bike is already going at maximum speed. Any more pressure I apply on the pedal and the engine will more than likely burn out and we'll crash!" said Wario-Ware-Man.

"Oh... in that case, I suppose we'll just have to keep driving and hope they won't be catching us!" said Calimero.

Susie meanwhile keeps on cycling after Calimero and co. She then sees some vehicle in front of her, and is surprised to see it is an ambulance driving at high speed.

"Why is that ambulance going at such a speed?? Maybe they've found out about us taking VARIO and Suzana, and they're now chasing my friends!" said Susie and keeps on cycling after her friends to her best ability despite the pain in her leg.

The chase keeps going on around town, with the ambulance hot on the trail of Calimero and co.

"My garlic, they sure are persistent in trying to catch up with us!" said Warrio.

"Hey you over there. Return the patients back to the hospital immediately!" the passenger of the ambulance shouted.

"No way! While these guys appears to be merged, the problem isn't what you think it is!" Warrio shouted back.

"But we did see them both in the same body, therefore it is a problem best solved in the surgery room!" the passenger shouted again.

"Sorry, but you're not getting them back anytime soon! Besides, the problem is BEST solved in the garage!" said Warrio.

"That's ridiculous. You guys don't know anything about working with patients!" said the ambulance passenger.

"Ah, will you just shut up!" said Warrio and pulls out a garlic from his pocket, and throws it right into the mouth of the ambulance passenger.

"Mmph!!" is all that comes from the passenger.

"Hope you like some garlic, he he..." said Warrio mockingly.

"Guys, where's Susie?" wondered Roshita.

"I'm not sure. Maybe she's taking a bit longer to catch up with us?" said Piero. The ambulance driver meanwhile, seems to have the exact same thought.

"Where's our other patient by the way?" he asked the passenger.

"I'm not quite sure. By the time we came back to the waiting room she was nowhere to be found." said the passenger, having just gotten the garlic out of his mouth.

"No matter. We won't try and find her yet. Right now our main patients is a bigger priority to return back to the hospital." said the driver.

A bit later, Susie has now stopped cycling to rest her leg for a while.

"Well. I may have lost sight of my friends, but I'm sure I'll be finding my way back home easily..." said Susie and keeps resting some more.

"You know, seeing VARIO being able to walk through walls and stuff sure looked like fun, but... the moment he and Suzana fused together, I just found the sight rather horrifying... I sure hope Wario-Ware-Man can get them unstuck somehow." said Susie. She then feels she has rested for long enough and starts cycling again.

While cycling Susie looks around, and realizes that with all the buildings and such here and there, it isn't going to be as easy to find her way back home like she first thought.

"I know I said it would be easy to find my way back home, but I seem to be wrong... I feel like I'm lost in here!!" said Susie and keeps cycling. Indeed, it seems like Susie has gotten herself lost among the streets and buildings.

Meanwhile, Calimero and friends keep on driving through the town, with the ambulance still behind them.

"Phew, those guys behind us sure are persistent in taking VARIO and Suzana back to the hospital, because they won't stop following us!" said Piero.

"I keep worrying that we won't get back to the garage in time." said Roshita.

"Don't worry Roshita. It's still a long way, and those guys behind us aren't even that close to catching us yet." said Priscilla.

"They are lagging behind. But there must be a way to shake them off our backs..." said Wario-Ware-Man.

He then sees the road ahead diverging in different directions. Wario-Ware-Man makes a quick turn to the right, then he takes the turn to the left after it. The ambulance follows them after they take the right turn, but all of a sudden they have lost sight of the motor bike.

"Where did they go?" wondered the passenger.

"I wonder the exact same thing. Let's keep driving around the town until we spot them." said the driver and resumes driving the ambulance.

Calimero and friends meanwhile, are now making their way through the town, only without any ambulance behind their backs.

"You made a smart move by driving to the left after taking the right turn Wario-Ware-Man, because the guys in the ambulance must have been confused. I can't even see them behind us anymore." said Warrio.

"Like I said to you and VARIO before, I've been driving this bike for many years, and as such I know of a number of tricks to fool my enemies." said Wario-Ware-Man.

"Wonder if we'll ever get VARIO and Suzana separated from each other." said Calimero.

"We will get them separated. If we only keep up the speed we will get to the garage in no time." said Valeriano.

"Sigh. Finally we might be able to end this madness. I sure don't wanna see two guys being stuck to each other again, ever." said Piero in relief. The others agree with him by nodding their heads.

Later, Calimero and friends have finally got back to the apartment complex. Time is growing nigh, so they all feel it is best to get things started right away.

"Alright guys. The ambulance may be nowhere near us right now, but that doesn't mean we can rest just yet. We better get a move on and separate VARIO and Suzana from each other once and for all." said Wario-Ware-Man.

Calimero and friends unties the trolley and pushes it into the garage. After getting VARIO and Suzana off the trolley they try getting them into the Solidator machine. They can't though due to them still being asleep.

At the same time the ambulance are seen driving at full speed, still intent on catching the guys who stole the patient trolley. Back in the garage Calimero and friends try waking VARIO and Suzana up, to no effect.

"Naw, it's no use. They're still asleep." said Calimero.

"If only we could wake them up again..." said Roshita.

"Hah, that's easily accomplished." said Warrio and starts chewing on a garlic. After having done that he gestures to the others to back away from him. They do so. While standing in front of VARIO and Suzana, Warrio opens his mouth, letting out a rotten stench of garlic in their faces.

"Yuck, talk about disgusting..." said Valeriano.

"Yeah. But it seems to be very effective, because VARIO and Suzana seems to have woken up by now." said Piero. Indeed, the stench from Warrio's mouth has woken up VARIO and Suzana from their slumber.

"Huh? Warrio? Where am I??" VARIO asked him.

"Don't worry. You're back in the garage now, and you and Suzana will both be separated from each other." Calimero assured him.

"Phew..." VARIO sighed in relief. Suzana meanwhile is still in complete shock, not knowing what's going on or where she is. While they push VARIO and Suzana into the machine, Roshita starts to grow irritated with Suzana.

"Oh, stop being so surprised and shocked all the time!! Your voice is irritating me!" Roshita told Suzana off.

Meanwhile, the ambulance is getting nearer to the place where Calimero and his friends live in.

"Are you sure this is the place they're living in?" the driver asked the passenger.

"I'm confident about it. According to the map, somewhere in this part of the town stands a apartment complex which is three stories high." said the passenger.

"Alright, if you say so. Let's get there quickly!" said the driver and pushes his foot down on the pedal as far as he can, and starts driving towards the apartment complex.

In the garage, VARIO and Suzana are now in the Solidator machine. Warrio is standing in a corner brushing his teeth because the others found the stench unbearable.

"Ok Wario-Ware-Man, turn on the machine quickly before the ambulance arrives!" Calimero told him.

"The Solidator needs to warm up a little first before the process can begin. I'm thinking of making adjustments to it later to reduce the amount of warm up time." said Wario-Ware-Man and adjusts the controls on the machine while the machine warms itself up.

"There. I've adjusted the controls so the reverse happens; instead of making the subject solid, it makes him or her able to pass through things." said Wario-Ware-Man.

"So you did consider the possibility of turning objects not solid after all!" said Warrio.

"Yep. Otherwise the idea for this machine wouldn't have even come about. It's a good practice to think of multiple possibilities while making your invention." said Wario-Ware-Man.

"Has the machine warmed up yet?" asked Valeriano.

"I think it has. Now, I'll just turn on the machine and watch it do its work." said Wario-Ware-Man and turns on the machine, after which the Solidator begins the process of turning both VARIO and Suzana non solid. Inside the machine they both finally separate from each other.

"Wahoo, I'm free again!!" said VARIO.

"Are you absolutely sure about it now?" said Suzana while trying to feel if VARIO is still stuck behind her.

"Ok, they've both got separated. Now I'll turn the process back to normal." said Wario-Ware-Man and adjusts the controls again so the machine will turn VARIO and Suzana solid again.

"Ok you two, try and stay away from each other because I'm about to turn the machine back on." said Wario-Ware-Man. They do so without objection and Wario-Ware-Man starts the solidification process.

"I really wonder if everything is going to be fixed now..." said Calimero.

"No need to worry. I'm more than confident it will all work out this time!" said Wario-Ware-Man.

The solidator machine then finishes its task, and the door of it opens. VARIO and Suzana stumbles out of the machine, completely confused as to what has been going on. The entire process seems to have gone according to plan, because both VARIO and Suzana are now separated from each other.

"Yay, it worked!!" Calimero and the others shouted in relief and excitement.

"How are you feeling VARIO?" Warrio asked him.

"A little strange. But other than that I feel just like normal." said VARIO.

Suzana meanwhile, has just gotten her bearings again, and accidentally shoves her hand inside VARIO who is now starting to become solid again.

"Suzana, get your hand out of him quickly or you'll be stuck again!!" Wario-Ware-Man warns her. Feeling how her hand starts to merge into VARIO, Suzana panics and quickly removes her hand. Weirded out by the whole experience, and not quite knowing how to make sense of it all, Suzana just panics and runs out of the garage.

Outside the garage, the ambulance has just arrived, and the two guys driving it has just gotten out. They see the garage door being open.

"Hm, I suspect this is where those guys have taken our patients." said the passenger.

"I agree. Let's go in there." said the driver. Before they can even take their first step Suzana suddenly bolts out of the garage in complete panic and hysteria.

"AAAAH!!!" Suzana screamed and starts running her way back to wherever she came from.

"But, isn't that one of our patients? And wasn't she stuck to that other guy before??" wondered the ambulance driver. Just then Calimero and friends come out of the garage.

"Ok you guys. We saw one of the guys running out of the garage. Where have you hidden the other patient!" the driver demanded them.

Without hesitation, Calimero and friends move out of the way a little, and out of the garage comes VARIO along with his brothers Wario-Ware-Man and Warrio.

"What exactly is going on here??" asked the driver.

"You see, it all started in the morning when VARIO here somehow turned transparent, losing his solidity with things." said Calimero.

"Yep. And to fix this little problem, Wario-Ware-Man came up with the idea of inventing a machine to turn him solid again. But a accident happened that caused VARIO and Suzana to fuse together." said Warrio.

"But don't worry, we have since sorted it all out, and both VARIO and Suzana are now free to move around on their own independently." said Wario-Ware-Man.

The ambulance guys are clearly confused, unable to believe what they have just heard. They decide to get in the ambulance again and drives back to the hospital, now brushing off the whole experience of the two persons they saw being stuck to each other as a rather bizarre imagination.

"Hm, wonder what's wrong with them. Did they see a ghost or something?" wondered Warrio.

"Where did Suzana go?" wondered VARIO.

"She ran off. She probably didn't want to become stuck to you again, but I also think it's because she found the whole experience terrifying in a way, he he he..." said Warrio.

"I haven't seen Susie in a long while. Where is she??" asked Priscilla.

They then see Susie coming on a bicycle, trampling on the pedals very slowly while saying "ow" every now and then.

"Susie, where have you been this whole time?" asked Valeriano while Susie stops her bicycle.

"I hurt my leg in the hospital earlier. I tried to tell you guys about it, but you just left me sitting on the floor so I had to try and catch up with you." said Susie.

"Right, sorry about it. We didn't know you had actually hurt your leg." said Valeriano.

"That's ok guys. Anyway, have VARIO and Suzana been separated from each other?" Susie asked them.

"The job has already been done, and the ambulance guys have now gone back to the hospital again." said Valeriano.

"That's great to hear!" said Susie in relief, but starts sitting down on the road, having just felt a major pain in her leg.

"Ow!! I-I think my leg is having opinions about me right now..." said Susie.

"You better get into our flat and rest your leg Susie. All that cycling around must have done your leg very bad." said Calimero.

"Yeah. You better lie down on the sofa for about a day or two before you can even think of walking again." said Priscilla who with the help of Roshita and Piero, helps Susie into the Green Team's flat, with the other chicks following them.

"Phew, finally this entire nightmare is over. I can't wait to just get into our flat and put my teeth into a big, juicy garlic!" said VARIO.

"Are you still angry at me for having acted like crazy in front of you?" Warrio asked VARIO.

"Naw, I forgive you. I was just feeling so irritated over that entire insolidity problem that I simply had to vent out my frustration in some way." said VARIO.

"Well, things have been rather hectic today. I sure hope that nothing like this EVER happens again... even so, I do wonder a little about my new Solidator machine. What uses could we have for it in the future? Who knows... anyway, might be best not to think about it right now." said Wario-Ware-Man and heads inside the building with Warrio and VARIO. Indeed, what other uses could Wario-Ware-Man or his siblings have for this new invention? That's something for the future to tell more about though...

The End...